

Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children Chapter 1069

Chapter 1069

"Amber truly wants to sign you, and she secured the female supporting role in Everett's new film only because of her personal connections. Don't look down on this role. She is the male lead's dream girl in the film, and there are direct acting scenes with Everett. Many actresses are competing for it.

"You've filmed a commercial before, but because of your family's interference, the commercial was banned before it could spread properly. Besides, you've left the industry for three years, so your acting skills are rusty. You really need a reliable and attentive person to lead you. So, I hope you can consider the offer."

"Hmm..." Ninian hummed. "I'll think about it."

"Okay, there's no hurry either." Nerola blinked and said, "Amber also said that you can sign the contract after you take the role."

Ninian chuckled. "What kind of consideration is this?" If she accepted this role, she would pretty much be working with Amber. Did it make any difference whether she signed the contract earlier or later for someone who cared about promises like her?

But Amber was being sincere, so Ninian did not resist it.

Nerola grinned and opened the document in front of Ninian. "Here, take a look at Everett's new film. This is detailed inside information."

When Ninian heard that, she was immediately in good spirits. She leaned forward, and their heads moved together.

Everett's new film was a high-budget flick by a film company. It was about a generation of young people holding up the nation's backbone during wartime.

It was a proper film, and it was also a tribute that was highly valued by the Ministry of Media and Communication. When the news first came out, Everett's fans were already very excited, and they spread it all over the world.

Until now, the film only revealed news about Everett being the male lead. People still did not know anything about the other cast members.

Therefore, aside from the candidate for the female lead who received attention, the male lead's deceased dream girl also attracted a lot of press.

“His dream girl dies young.” Ninian clicked her tongue. How unfortunate. How can they arrange such a miserable backstory for my Everett?”

((

“You’re not sad about playing a female supporting role that dies young, but you’re sorry for your Everett’s’ hardship?”” Nerola rolled her eyes.

Ninian grinned. She was very happy because Nerola said, Your Everett.”

CC

After she briefly glanced through the document, she stroked her small and delicate chin. “I’ll take the role,” she said firmly.

“Are you taking it? Really?” Nerola was slightly surprised. “You have to think about it carefully. If you take this, you’ll be signing a contract with Amber,” she reminded.

“I’ll just sign it. Your agency’s quite reputable in the industry, and Amber’s the best in the company too. Since she’s so sincere, it’ll be quite good to be your colleague.” Ninian held her face as she leaned toward the table and said with a smile. She was lazy and cunning like a little fox. “But I have a condition too.”

Nerola immediately sat up straight. “Please say it!”

“I’ll only sign a temporary contract, like those yearly ones,” Ninian said. “You know about my family. I’m sure I won’t stay long in the entertainment industry. But if I want to continue to act, I’ll renew my contract with your company. What do you

What do you think?”

“I’ll have to ask Amber about that for her opinion.” As Nerola spoke, she held her phone and started sending messages.

Ninian did not disturb her. Instead, she read the information in the document. When she looked at Everett’s photo, her gaze was full of love.

She had seen him in person today.

He was still so handsome.

However, it was a shame that he did not seem to see her. She wondered if he would recognize her when he met her.

She was really looking forward to meeting him again.

Soon, Nerola raised her head, and her bright expression revealed excitement as well as surprise.

“Ninian! Amber agrees! We’ll be colleagues soon!”

When Ninian heard that she flashed her a soft and innocent smile.

That was awesome! She was not only going to become Nerola’s colleague, but she would also play the role alongside Everett.