

Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children Chapter 893

Chapter 893 "You need to give me some time to adapt to this..." Adina lowered her gaze aggrievedly. "...So I can willingly sleep with you..." Tears welled up at the corner of her eyes as she looked extremely aggrieved and pitiful.

This instantly melted Earl's heart.

Even though he knew that Adina must be up to something, he could not help but compromise.

He pursed his lips and said, "Take your time, then."

He slowly touched her hair and his fingers massaged her scalp gently.

He recalled what he had gone through during the period he was locked up.

He had been living in the shadows, but when he was locked up, without knowing if it was day or not, he realized something. It turned out that even living in the dark all the time was better than going through the motions like a living dead. He continued to massage the back of Adina's head and said gently, "Does it feel good?"

She closed her eyes and nodded. She started to loosen up and did not resist.

Earl took off his shoes. He leaned into her as he gradually lowered his guard.

At that moment, Adina slipped her hand into her pillowcase and took out a shiny dagger. She pressed it against Earl's throat. The ambiguous atmosphere instantly dissipated.

His expression quickly turned cold. He pressed the tip of his tongue against the roof of his mouth, revealing a smirk. 'I keep trying to please her, but she keeps trying to kill me.' He felt a tingling sensation on his neck. Blood dripped down immediately, staining the snow white sheets red.

She did not bother to get dressed. She sneered, "Are you surprised?" Earl grinned. "I should've known. A woman like you wouldn't give in so easily."

He picked up the earring and was about to press it.

Adina said coldly, "Even if you issue an order, I still have time to resist. Do you want me to take you down the grave with me?"

Earl's hands stiffened. "This woman is really ruthless. I'm not even surprised that she can do something like this.' Adina raised her hand and snatched the gold pendant.

Before she could speak, Earl smiled. "Do you like that pendant? I have about hundreds more." He leaned against the head of the bed lazily. He did not look like someone who was being threatened by a dagger. He chuckled, "I have hundreds of subordinates too. They all have a controller each. After I die, they will make the rest of your life a living hell."

Adina's hand started to quiver. 'If I kill this man, will I be able to kill the remaining hundred of them?'

Her hand quivered so much that she exerted force on the sharp blade. It slit across Earl's neck.

Red fresh warm blood gushed out and splashed on Adina's face. Earl covered his neck with her hands and frowned angrily. "You almost got my jugular. Are you really going for it?"

"If I wanted to kill you, I would've done that without any hesitation!" Adina clenched the dagger and said through her gritted teeth, "Go, now!" Earl looked at her hatefully. "Adina Daugherty, you will pay for this. Just wait and see!" He opened the glass door and jumped down, without making much noise in the dark night. Adina slumped on the bed, feeling exhausted. She only came back to her senses when the cold wind blew in from the open door.

Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children Chapter 894

Chapter 894 Adina slowly stood up, walked over to the balcony's glass door, and closed it. She walked to the bathroom and turned on the light. When she looked at herself in the mirror she saw that her face and her snow-white camisole were stained with blood. Her eyes were bloodshot, and her hair was messy. She looked like someone who had just crawled out from hell.

'How did I become like this...?!

She lowered her head and washed her face with the cold tap water. Only then did her head clear up.

She returned to her bed to change the sheets and duvet cover. Then, she pulled out the gold earring and studied it carefully. 'This earring is exactly the same as before, and the command program on the inside is not too different...'

She leaned against the head of the bed, unable to fall asleep. 'Earl is a devil. For sure, this will not be his last time here.'

'I've hurt him too. I'm sure he'll come up with a worse form of revenge.'

She got out of bed and walked to the bedroom next door. It was already two in the morning yet a small night light downstairs was lit. Beneath the dim light, it was hard to tell what she was feeling through her eyes. She walked back and forth in front of Duke's room. After a long time, she finally grabbed the doorknob and pushed it open.

Duke sat up on his bed almost instantly.

He had excellent acuity that no one could compare to. Just as he was about to grab the weapon under his pillow, he saw Adina come in.

"Addy, why are you here?"

He stood up and went over to hug her.

He was shocked. "Why are you so cold?"

She shook her head and stayed in his warm embrace.

She was drenched in cold sweat because of how terrified she was. On top of that, she washed her face with cold water. Even after warming herself up, the chill in her body still had not gone away.

She put her hands around his neck and tiptoed to kiss Duke.

He subconsciously wanted to avoid her.

Adina held his face and said with a hoarse voice. "Duke, I want..."

With that, Duke's guard was instantly let down.

He hugged her waist tightly and kissed her deeply. The two of them were breathless from the kiss. They slumped onto the big, soft bed together. He hugged Adina and said softly, "Addy, we shouldn't continue. You might..." "No, it's okay.... Adina mumbled as she continued to kiss him. Only intimate feelings would help to alleviate her terror. She no longer cared about the consequences.

The two had been living in different rooms under the same roof for more than half a month. Their love and desire for each other grew out of control after they showed the slightest hints of it to one another.

Her body and mind were controlled by the chip, but her voice still belonged to herself." Hubby, I can do it..." Duke hugged her tightly as he continued to observe the emotions in Adina's gaze. 'Addy is obviously being restrained. She's trying so hard to fight the voice in her head. 'I don't want to continue torturing her...' Duke wanted to let go, but Adina wrapped herself around him.

Chapter 895 Adina's body and mind were split into two; one clamored her to push Duke away, and the other wrapped around him desperately.

Soon, the night was over. The next morning, Adina was exhausted from the moment she woke up. Duke hugged her and whispered, "What do you want to eat? I'll make it for you." She stayed in his embrace and said in a hoarse voice, "Did I do anything abnormal last night?" Duke kissed her on the lips. "Addy, you're amazing. You bypassed the biochip program. I'm so proud of you." "Oh, really?" She smiled. "From now on, let's sleep together."

Duke pursed her lips. 'Even though Addy won the battle last night, she must've been in extreme pain. I don't want her to go through that the second time.'

'Sure, but I don't think we should do it again...' He hesitated and then said, "Be good. Don't seduce me again, okay?" Adina hugged him back happily. 'As long as I'm spending the night with Duke, Earl won't sneak around anymore. That's all I want.'

After breakfast, Adina got dressed and went downstairs. "I haven't gone out of the house for half a month. I need to visit the project site."

'Daniel is always reporting that everything is going well. I have to go there myself to know what's really going on with the project.'

Duke nodded. "I'll accompany you there."

He took his key and drove the car out. He then opened the door at the passenger seat's side.

When Adina got into the car, he leaned in and helped her put on her seatbelt. The car arrived at the Resort Project safely. It was not very far from their mansion. It only took less than ten minutes to reach their destination.

Half a month ago, it was covered with snow and ice. The construction site was suspended. Now, more than half of the infrastructure on Sea City had been built up, looking spectacular.

Adina and Duke walked into the temporary office. "Where's the senior manager?" Anyone in Sea City would recognize the most beautiful girl in the city. The receptionist greeted Adina politely. "Mr. Tissot and Mr. Wilson are having a meeting." Adina had a feeling that something was not right. She asked calmly, "Where's Daniel?" "Mr. Jones went out to get some things done. He is still not back yet." Adina went to the waiting area and sat down. "I'll wait for them."

Duke poured her a glass of warm water and sat next to her.

As soon as they sat down, the people who were in the meeting came out.

Several wealthy men came out first, and followed by Graham and Matthew, who were talking with each other. "We can't stop this project. It'll be a great loss. We have all the necessary permits, and the government has the approval documents..." "There is no room for negotiation about this." The paunchy man said coldly, "You guys have discharged construction waste water into Sea City. This has seriously affected the surrounding environment. The suspension of work for half a month is a great way to the Jones Corporation's reputation." Graham wiped the cold sweat on his forehead.

'Typically, projects would be in great trouble if they were to pause their work for half a month, not to mention that this project is still in the assessment period. If they were to pause their work for half a month, everyone would give up on this project. Then, there will be no one to take over it...'

At this moment, Daniel barged in. He was holding a thick stack of documents as he said coldly, "The water quality of Sea City within one kilometer near the project has been tested, and it meets the requirements of the Environmental Protection Association. The suspension of work on our project on these grounds is simply untenable."

The paunchy man took the stack of documents and tore them into half. He said in a really low voice, "Let me be frank, your project is actually in the way of someone else's project. I've been ordered to stop your construction for half a month no matter what I do..."
