

Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children Chapter 981-985

Chapter 981

"Mom, when the banquet ends, I'll get Brady to send you back to the mansion." Mrs. Willis then said, "Mom, you can go inside and rest first. I'll ask them to make you some tea in the Esilian teapot and deliver it here." Adeena frowned in the room and twirled her glass of red wine.

That person had intentionally lured Mdm. Willis over to stumble upon her "adulterous affair" with Hudson. That person either wanted to ruin her reputation or force Hudson to marry her.

Who was responsible for this set-up?

Click!

Just then, someone gently pushed the room door open.

"Hey, Adeena. What are you here?" Mrs. Willis asked in surprise. "Are you here alone?"

Adeena looked up and chuckled. "Otherwise, who else could there be?" "I'm just curious why you're here alone." Mrs. Willis stared at her for a while. "There are so many guests in the front yard. Why are you here?" Adeena stood up and picked a glass of wine. "I found a bottle of good wine in this room. It tastes pretty good. Would you like to try it, Aunt Hailey?" She then handed the wine glass to Mrs. Willis.

Meanwhile, she kept staring at Mrs. Willis' face.

She had no grudge against Mrs. Willis, so she did not understand why Mrs. Willis would use her own son to set her up.

"I drank a lot of wine in the front yard just now. I can't take any more." Mrs. Willis frowned. "Adeena, if you have nothing to do, just go to the backyard and see if the tea's ready. Your grandma wants to drink some tea." Mrs. Willis' expression was so natural that she did not even ask where Hudson was. Adeena's expression darkened, and she looked at Jada who was standing one step behind her. Jada held her hands anxiously and looked down slightly, appearing guilty. Adeena handed the wine glass over to her instead. "Mom, would you like to have a taste of this wine?"

"I..."

Jada raised her head, and her eyes were full of guilt as well as anxiety. When Adeena saw her expression, would she still not understand? Mrs. Willis did not set her up, but her foster mother, Jada, did! However, did Jada not try to match her with Jack? Why would she suddenly set this trap? "Adeena..."

Just as Jada spoke, the bathroom door suddenly burst open.

Hudson rushed out without his shirt. He was drenched in water, and his face was red.

“Hudson, what’s wrong with you?” Mdr. Willis was shocked. Mrs. Willis quickly went forward. “Hudson, why were you in the bathroom? Why is your body so warm? Are you having a fever?”

“It’s nothing. I just accidentally fell asleep in the bathtub.” Hudson had soaked himself in cold water for twenty minutes, so the desire in his body was gone. He massaged his head as he said, “Mom, can you get me another outfit? Grandma, I’ll lie down in your room for a while. Please don’t disturb me.”

He leaned back on the couch with narrowed eyes and rested.

Jada turned pale.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Willis hurried off to get some clothes. Mdm. Willis was worried about her grandson’s condition too, so none of them noticed Jada.

“Mom, let’s go outside and talk.”

Following that, Adeena walked out of the room.

Jada closed her eyes and silently sighed. She had no choice but to walk out.

“Adeena, I didn’t want to frame you.” Jada looked down. “I know you don’t belong here, and I also know that you’ll leave Cloud City one day, but I’m reluctant to let you go. If I had a son, I would’ve let you marry my son so that you could be my daughter-in-law. But I don’t have one, so I had to...”

Adeena chuckled softly but sarcastically. “Did you arrange a ridiculous marriage without considering what I want just to keep me here?”

“Adeena, I’m sorry.” Jada grabbed her hand. “When I first saw you, I really adored you. I’ve always wanted a daughter like you.”

Chapter 982

Scenes from the past three years filled Adeena’s mind. Jada really pampered her own daughter, but she also treated Adeena, the foster daughter, very well.

Adeena would have everything that Ruth had. Her room was as big as Ruth’s room, and the layout, decorations, and everything else were the same.

Jada treated her so nicely that she wondered if she was worthy of Jada’s sincere treatment. Jada’s motherly love was also the reason why she was willing to remain in the Willis family. At least, she had no plans to leave at the moment.

But the incident today... “You didn’t like Jack, so I had to arrange another marriage for you. Hudson is a little absurd, but he’s not a bad person.” Jada’s voice trembled, but she still forced herself to say, “If you marry Hudson, I’ll be here to protect you. He won’t dare let you down.” Adeena chuckled. “Mom, have you asked Grandma and Aunt Hailey about this? Have you asked Hudson for his opinion?” When she saw Jada's silence, she resumed. "You set this up without getting anyone's permission. Did you ever think of the consequences if Aunt Hailey gets angry? To her, I'm just a foster daughter with a low status. How will I be good enough for her son? Your actions will divide the Willis family and make it easier for us to fall apart. Many families are watching us. As soon as the Willis family falls apart, they'll pounce on us."

"Adeena, it's not that serious."

Jada moved her lips.

Kendry permitted it. As long as Kendry and Clarence agreed, the marriage would be successful. Hailey had no right to oppose it. "Besides, you're excellent and capable, Adeena. How can you not be good enough for Hudson? Don't look down on yourself." Adeena lost her interest in listening to Jada. Jada's overbearing love was creepy, and the trap today was even creepier.

She did not want to look into the reason.

"Mom, I'll move out tomorrow," Adeena said indifferently. "Of course, you're still my mother, and Dad is still my father. That won't change just because I move out."

Jada was stunned. At that moment, Brady walked in from the banquet hall in a hurry. He looked worried. "Aunt Jada, where's Uncle Kendry? Where's Grandma?"

Jada stopped talking and asked, "Brady, why are you in a rush? What happened?"

A

"The police officers are here. They're taking my dad away for investigation!" Brady was so anxious that his head was covered in sweat. He immediately rushed into the resting lounge and looked for Mdm. Willis. "Grandma, something serious has happened!"

Mdm. Willis quickly walked out. "Slow down. What is it?"

"Something went wrong with the wind power project that the Willis family took one year ago. Dad was put forward to take responsibility for it. Now, the police want to take him away for investigation." Brady tried his best to keep calm and say, "Mr. Thompson came to arrest Dad. Grandma, you know him."

There was already a scene in the banquet hall.

Many wealthy and noble people had been invited to Mdm. Willis' eightieth birthday party. Although the party was nearing its end, many rich ladies had yet to leave.

Chapter 983

The police officers suddenly broke in and restricted Clarence's hands with cuffs, shocking everyone. Clarence was the head of the Willis family, so he held a high status in Cloud City. Mr. Thompson politely said, "Mr. Willis, we just want to invite you for a cup of tea and have you cooperate with our investigation. Once we're done, we'll let you go, of course."

"Mr. Thompson, we can talk nicely." Mdm. Willis quickly walked over. "If there's anything you'd like to investigate, the Willis family will try its best to cooperate. You don't have to take him back to the police station for a chat, do you?"

Going to the police station would ruin his reputation.

If the reputation of the Willis family head was ruined, the Willis family's status in Cloud City would also become lower.

Mr. Thompson lowered his voice. "Mdm. Willis, I'd like to do you a favor as well, but... the one who's suffered a loss is a bigwig from Sea City. My superior told me that I have to investigate this incident thoroughly. But don't worry. If the problem isn't serious, Mr. Willis will be back very soon."

Mr. Thompson waved, and two young police officers had their grip on Clarence while they walked out.

Clarence stopped walking for a moment and calmly said, "This project is a collaboration between the Finnian, Strickland, and Lamb families. Mom, go ahead and contact them first."

After he spoke, the officers brought him into the police car.

Mdm. Willis was shaken. "Hasn't this project been going well? Why is there suddenly a problem? What happened?" She instantly grabbed Mrs. Finnian's hand. "Finnian Corporation is this project's biggest shareholder. Why is Finnian Corporation allowed to stay out of this?"

Mrs. Finnian instantly moved out of her grasp. "Mr. Willis is just cooperating with the investigation. Mdm. Willis, it's better not to panic. Besides, the banquet is ending, so we'll take our leave first."

Once Mrs. Finnian left, other guests also left.

The spacious banquet hall instantly became quiet.

Kendry held his phone and walked in. "I asked around earlier. The project's issue happened at 2:00 am.

"The other three families work together to push the blame on the Willis family. Over the night, they fabricated evidence, which directly implicated Willis Corporation." His expression was cold and profound. "The wind power project's wastewater discharge had already been approved by the government, but in the middle of last night, someone found the water polluted. Plus, all the fishes and shrimps were dead, so all of them blamed it on this project." Jada frowned and said, "The site chosen for the sewage discharge is a deserted area of the sea. Even if it was truly polluted, the case would not be filed so quickly, right?"

“At 1:00 am, a big man from Sea City acquired that deserted sea area,” Kendry said. “It’s also the reason why the police dare not neglect this case. They just rushed over to arrest Clarence within twelve hours after the incident.”

“What should we do now?” Hailey was extremely worried. “Mom, you have to help Clarence. If he’s jailed, the Willis family is doomed!”

“Look at yourself. Do you look like the woman of the house?” Mdm. Willis said. “The bigwig from Sea City must have caused this. As long as we’re able to meet the bigwig and explain things clearly, we can still salvage the situation.”

“Even if the water is really polluted, the four families should bear responsibility together. Why have they put all the blame on us?” Brady winced his teeth and said, “Grandma, I’ll contact my friends and see who can reach that bigwig from Sea City.”

The Willis family was extremely worried, and every member made calls to look for help.

Adeena pursed her lips.

Something was happening in the Willis family. If she moved out at this time, she would appear really ungrateful.

Luckily, Brady managed to contact a friend. That friend happened to be receiving the bigwig from Sea City, so Brady and Kendry immediately rushed over.

Chapter 984 Mdm.

Willis’ Both birthday party came to an abrupt end. The members of the Willis family returned to the mansion and waited anxiously. It was only at 9:00 pm that a fatigued Kendry and Brady came back. “Countless families in Cloud City wanted to meet the bigwig, so they were queuing up outside the hotel.” Brady looked disappointed. “Everyone was chased out at 8:00 pm. Even the mayor couldn’t meet the bigwig.” Hailey was in disbelief. “Who is this bigwig? Why would the government officials want to please him?”

“Someone from Winters Corporation in Sea City,” Kendry softly said. “Have you heard of Winters Corporation?”

Mdm. Willis nodded. “It’s a large multinational corporation that controls Sea City. Everyone has heard of the name Winters Corporation. But Winters Corporation only invests in overseas and top-tier cities. Why would they come to such a small place like Cloud City?”

“They’ve acquired the desolate sea area that we use to discharge the waste for our power generation project.” Brady sighed. “Winters Corporation wants to establish their power in Cloud City, so they’re dealing with the Willis family first. Now, everyone in Cloud City is afraid that they’ll be next.”

“What should we do now?” Hailey was extremely worried. “Clarence is still locked up in the police station. He’s not feeling well. If he’s jailed overnight, he’ll definitely fall sick again.” Kendry raised his head and said, “I’ve asked the staff there. I heard that three hours ago, hackers attacked the internet system that Winters Corporation just established in Cloud City, and important company information has possibly been leaked. Everyone in the company is focused on the hacker, so they don't have time to care about the Willis family."

Hudson's eyes lit up. "Uncle Kendry, are you saying that we can get my dad out of jail when the members of Winters Corporation aren't paying attention." "What are you thinking?" Brady glared at him. "Uncle Kendry is implying that we can find a hacker for Winters Corporation so that we can connect with them."

"Can't Winters Corporation find the hacker?" Jada frowned. "They have power and authority, so they can recruit any kind of hacker. They don't need us to send someone over."

"This is the only way for us to approach the CEO of Winters Corporation," Brady said in a low voice. "I'll call my friends right now and see if they know any hacking experts." "Oh, yeah!" Hudson slowly turned around. "Have you forgotten that Adeena works in network technology? She should know..."

Adeena, who had been sitting in the corner without being noticed, quietly stood up.

She was not qualified to speak up when members of the Willis family were in a discussion. It was only when Mdm. Willis looked at her that she said, "My company was attacked by a hacker before, and I dealt with him. I only realized that I had some talent for it after I defeated him. Perhaps I can try."

"You?" Ruth gave her a contemptuous look. "You may have established a company, but that doesn't mean you can solve a huge problem for Winters Corporation. Oh, I almost forgot that you lost your memories. You haven't heard of Winters Corporation, have you? Let's put it this way. Ten Willis Corporations would not even be on par with Winters Corporation. Can you understand if I explain it like that?" Adeena was speechless. It should be said that even a hundred Willis Corporation would not be as good as Winters Corporation.

However, she was just a foster daughter, so she should not say that out loud. "Grandma, Dad, if you're willing to trust me, I can give it a try. If you're not, I won't get involved," she responded indifferently. Mdm. Willis looked at her and calmly said, "Brady, continue contacting your friends and ask them to recommend a few more hackers. Kendry, bring Adeena there tomorrow." It was a two-folded plan. If Adeena failed, there would still be another alternative. "I'm going too," Ruth quickly said. "If Adeena says something inappropriate that offends the bigwig, I can smooth things out for her."

Adeena found herself at a loss for words.

Smooth things out for her? How could she be so confident? "Pfft!" Hudson could not help but laugh out loud. "Ruth Willis, it'd be great enough if you don't cause trouble. Smooth things out for Adeena? Don't you feel any shame when you say that?"

Chapter 985

"Shut up!" Ruth glared at him. "You're the biggest troublemaker in the family, yet you dare to criticize me?" "Enough!" Mdm. Willis said unhappily. "Is this the time for you to argue? Keep your mouths shut and go back to rest!"

Everyone stayed at the Willis family's mansion that night.

Early the next morning, Kendry took Adeena and Ruth to the hotel.

Many reporters surrounded Imperial Five Star Hotel's entrance. All of them held cameras and microphones as they waited desperately. Aside from the reporters, the heads of some big families in Cloud City were also waiting there. Adeena immediately saw the Finnian family, the Lamb family, and the Strickland family. They were all investors in the project. However, when something went wrong with the project, the Willis family had to bear full responsibility.

When the former collaboration partners met at the hotel's entrance, they did not even look at each other.

"When will Mr. Winters come out?" the reporters who had waited all night could not help but ask the hotel staff.

"Mr. Winters still has a lot of meetings. He won't be meeting anyone or leaving the hotel for the time being. Please leave first."

As soon as the staff said that, everyone on the site looked disappointed. Kendry pursed his lips and said, "I'll go and talk to the staff."

f

)

He walked up to the staff who had spoken and said in a low voice, "I heard that there's something wrong with the network system that Winters Corporation recently established in Cloud City. I've brought a hacking genius over. Can we go in and have a try?"

The staff pursed his lips. "All the big families here have basically brought hackers with them. If everyone wants to give it a try, it'll waste a lot of Winters Corporation's time. Please leave now. We don't need you here!"

Right after the staff spoke, he turned around to leave. Just as he did that, he saw Jake, the CEO's special assistant, come down. He quickly went forward and flatteringly said, "Mr. Wilson, these people have surrounded the place and refused to leave. Should we call the police?"

Jade glanced at him coldly. "We're not important people of the country. Why should we call the police? Don't ruin the reputation of Winters Corporation."

He responded as he walked to the door.

The moment he stepped out, the reporters surrounded him.

"Mr. Wilson, may I ask about the project that Winters Corporation is going to invest in over in Cloud City? How big is it?" "Since Winters Corporation is interested in Cloud City, will the company continue to thoroughly develop the resources here?" "I heard that the CEO of Willis Corporation has been jailed because of a small conflict with Winters Corporation. Is it true?" Jake did not intend to answer these questions. He had just received an instruction to come out and look around

He glanced at the crowd before he was abruptly taken aback. That glance was enough for him to understand why the busy Mr. Winters would rush all the way to such a small place like Cloud City.