

When Life Takes a Turn – Chapter 0064

Faye was breathing faintly down Zayn's neck.

She appeared very seductive in her current condition. Had it not been for Zayn's timely arrival, she would have been violated by the b*st*rd Ethan for real.

At the thought of this, Zayn felt lingering fear in his heart.

The place was crowded, so he hastily used his coat to shield Faye's face and said to a nearby staff member, "Prepare a room for me at once. Also, send in some ice cubes and towels."

Soon after, he arrived at a room that had just been vacated. Zayn placed Faye on the bed, took the ice cubes and towels, then ordered everyone else to leave them alone.

Faye was struggling even more intensely now. Flushed and glassy-eyed, she hung onto Zayn like an octopus. She was completely unlike herself. She was still conscious though. Zayn felt his heart being wrenched in pain when he saw the evident agony and shame in her eyes

However, her lucidness only lasted for a moment before it vanished. The effect of the drug was so strong that it did not take long before Faye's movements became even more frantic such that she could not be stopped even after Zayn patted her twice.

There was nothing he could do except to place her on the bed. Then, he wet a towel with ice water rapidly and wrung it out. The next time Faye leaned toward him, he wiped her face, hands, and legs with the cold towel to subside her impulsive urges by lowering her body temperature.

The method was rather effective. Faye shuddered from the cold and complained about the cold while clarity gradually returned to her eyes.

Things turned very awkward at once. Faye remembered how she had acted ludicrously to the chairman earlier... Oh, god, what had she done?!

Instantly, her face blushed scarlet once again, turning a deeper red than when she had been drugged earlier while her heart beat loud and fast.

Zayn was rather embarrassed as well. It was true that Faye had behaved rather ludicrously earlier. Had it not been for him exercising his self-control, they would have engaged in something inappropriate.

“Cough, cough.” Zayn said in a husky voice, “The effect of the drug in your body has yet to subside completely, so I’d suggest you get yourself checked in the hospital. I can send someone to take you there.”

Faye was so embarrassed that she wanted to bury herself in shame upon hearing that. It was so humiliating that she had actually allowed the chairman to see her in such... Such an obscene condition!

She felt like dying even more now. She hid her entire body in the blanket and covered her face with her palms, no longer daring to look at the chairman anymore.

The atmosphere continued to be frozen in silence.

Zayn stood up and said, “I still have some matters to attend to. I’m leaving.”

“Hold on!” Faye could not bear to part with him upon noticing that he was leaving, so she hastily called out to stop him.

“Is there anything else?” Zayn’s voice sounded aloof and cold.

As Faye bit her lower lip, she clutched the blanket to cover her body but only revealed half of her face. She said fearfully, “Thank you, sir.”

“Hmm.” Zayn nodded ever so slightly but did not speak so that he could continue to maintain his cold, arrogant air.

