

Work Hard 781

Chapter 781: I'll Be More Gentle Next Time

"Zihao, I'm scared," Chen Xingyan had never experienced this before, so she didn't know how to react.

Logically, she wanted to retaliate, but her body didn't lie.

"Relax, leave everything to me, OK?"

Perhaps it was because she had long desired for An Zihao's body, or perhaps it was because An Zihao's voice was extremely seductive, Chen Xingyan found herself relaxing. Soon, the couple were immersed in a fiery passion.

The desire in the air continued to surge, but An Zihao did not stop after scratching the surface like he normally did. He continued to move down her body, each move more intense than the last.

And, in the end, he even surpassed his limitations...

"I hope you don't regret this."

They had already reached this point. Could she still turn back? The couple's souls had long been connected, so their bodies were mere vessels at this stage. Even though her first time was so painful that she felt like she was being torn apart, Chen Xingyan felt a sense of belonging.

She now belonged to this man...

He was her first and most loved man.

After making love, Chen Xingyan was in so much pain that she couldn't move. She simply lay on top of An Zihao's chest, basking in the pleasure of the moment's intimacy, "I never thought that doing this would be so painful."

"I'm sorry. I'll be more gentle next time," An Zihao comforted as he stroked Chen Xingyan's back. "Have a nap. I'll bathe you later."

"OK." Chen Xingyan was tired, so after closing her eyes for a little while, she ended up falling asleep. At this time, An Zihao carried her in his arms, placed her in the bathtub and gently bathed her. However, halfway, An Zihao felt himself lose control. This time, Chen Xingyan's experience was a lot more pleasurable. After having a bath, she had become a lot more energetic.

But, by the time she returned to bed, she was completely exhausted. Yet, at this time, An Zihao wrapped his arms around her. Chen Xingyan quickly hid in fear, "Do you want to do it again?"

"Sleep, be good," An Zihao was simply covering her with the blanket. After giving Chen Xingyan a kiss, he ended up falling asleep.

An Zihao had already forgotten how many years it had been since he slept so soundly. He simply knew that this was all because of Chen Xingyan. It turned out, he loved this young woman so deeply. That night, Chen Xingyan felt extremely lucky. Not only had Mo Ting acknowledged her, she had finally become An Zihao's woman. She was now truly a woman.

But, the effects of the car accident were still present...

The next morning, Chen Xingyan arrived at a studio to film a commercial according to a contract she had signed. But, the advertiser's had already replaced her and said, "We'd rather compensate for breaching the contract than to use a murderer's daughter. If we use you, who would buy our product?"

"Your father's incident hasn't been resolved, yet you are in a rush to film a commercial. Don't you think that this is a little unreasonable?"

"You should go home. We don't have the courage to use you."

Chen Xingyan had never expected to experience a problem like this, nor did she expect it to be this serious.

After returning home, she was too afraid to tell An Zihao about it because the matter didn't simply affect her self-esteem.

Although Chen Xingyan was Mo Ting's sister, Mo Ting had never acknowledged it in front of everyone. So, she didn't expect him to do it now when there was such a huge scandal.

Any normal person would avoid implication, wouldn't they?

Soon, Chen Xingyan returned to her normal routine and no longer cared about Chen Tianhao's matters. But, the family members that had rejected Chen Xingyan when she tried to offer compensation, suddenly came looking for her now that she no longer cared. In fact, they even created hype in the newspapers.

On top of that, they somehow got a hold of Chen Xingyan's phone number and directly called her.

"Miss Chen, my husband is still lying in hospital. Are you going to ignore him? Didn't you previously say that you'd pay for the hospital bills?"

Chen Xingyan looked at her phone helplessly. At this time, An Zihao grabbed the phone from her hand and replied, "When she previously offered it to you, you didn't want it."

"We...Of course we need it. My husband's surgery still requires a large sum of money."

"I think it's more suitable for you to speak to Chen Tianhao. Chen Xingyan and Chen Tianhao aren't related. The court had already confirmed Bai Lihua and Chen Tianhao's divorce over 10 years ago. So, I'm sorry, but Chen Xingyan and her mother will not be held liable for this matter."

The woman seemed angered by An Zihao's response as she erupted into a string of swear words. But, An Zihao had already been on the battlefield for many years and had gotten used to situations like this, so he simply held onto the phone, walked into the study room and reasoned with the woman until she apologized.

"From now on, if someone tries to call you again, tell them to speak to the police."

"I understand," Chen Xingyan replied.

Seeing Chen Xingyan with her head lowered, An Zihao could tell that Chen Xingyan wasn't in her best condition. So, he stretched out his arm and hugged her, "It will only be temporary."

"Yes, I know," Chen Xingyan nodded.

No matter how bad the the public made her out to be, she had to trust in Mo Ting and Tangning. They were definitely going to resolve the matter beautifully in the end.

The victims' family members continued to contact Chen Xingyan, but Chen Xingyan simply called the police each time. The police had already investigated the Chen Family and discovered that Chen Xingyan's father had indeed gone missing when she was 6-years-old and only reappeared recently. As soon as he reappeared, the first thing he did was ask his daughter for money and deliberately tricked her with his son's medical records.

The police also discovered that Chen Xingyan had personally approached the family members asking for forgiveness, but was hurt in the process.

"Chen Tianhao may be Chen Xingyan's father, but he has never fulfilled his duties as one. Reasonably speaking, we can't expect Chen Xingyan to compensate for what her father has done. Especially since she's already contacted the families to give her apology."

"What about my husband's hospital fees then?"

"You can look for a lawyer and get Chen Tianhao to pay for it."

When Chen Xingyan contacted her to compensate, she didn't want it and even hit her. Although her anger was understandable, didn't she consider that Chen Xingyan was innocent too?

Initially, after the police heard that Chen Xingyan was a celebrity and her father drove under the influence of drugs and alcohol, they immediately jumped to conclusions and assumed that both father and daughter were indecent people. But, the truth soon revealed that Chen Xingyan was at no fault. So, why did she need to shoulder responsibility for what her father had done?

The victims' family members were helpless after they realized that the police were of no help; they assumed that Chen Xingyan and her mother had paid them out. So, they decided to contact the media, hoping that public opinion would help them reach their financial goal.

"Chen Xingyan was simply putting on an act when she contacted us. Afterwards, we couldn't contact her again."

"After her father has committed such a huge crime, does she think that hiding will help? We demand that Chen Xingyan step out and give a proper explanation!"

"If Chen Xingyan doesn't give us an explanation and present her standpoint, we will not let her live in peace!"

Chapter 782: A Powerful Entrance !

Translator: Yunyi Editor: Yunyi

“Chen Xingyan has already returned to work, though. According to my friend, she was about to film a commercial, but discovered she had been replaced.”

“With the size of the current situation, Chen Xingyan’s certainly brave.”

“If I was her, I would be too afraid to show my face in public. It’s too frightening.”

“From what I see, I don’t think this incident will be easy to settle. Just wait for it. When Chen Xingyan can’t handle the pressures anymore, she will definitely step out and give an apology.”

These were discussions that Chen Xingyan heard while in the bathroom before an audition. It was a conversation between a couple of women in the industry.

At that time, Chen Xingyan was inside a cubicle. However, she did not hide. Instead, she pretended not to see the two women as she walked right past them and touched up her makeup at the sink.

The women were a little embarrassed about being caught. After noticing the calmness on Chen Xingyan’s face, they realized she wasn’t easy to deal with, so they quickly avoided her by leaving the bathroom.

The film that Chen Xingyan was auditioning for was recommended by Tangning.

Although, a lot of people present gossiped about her, Chen Xingyan was no longer the same as before. If they wanted to talk, they were free to talk as much as they wanted; it was no big deal. After all, it wasn’t like she’d lose a piece of herself.

“Look, it’s Chen Xingyan. She actually had the guts to come to an audition.”

“One of you should give the victims’ family members a phone call and notify them that Chen Xingyan is here. It could be considered as doing a good deed.”

“Yes, she should be taught a lesson.”

In the end, someone secretly contacted the media and the media quickly contacted the victims’ family members...

Chen Xingyan had actually prepared herself for something like this to happen. Even so, when one of the family members actually stormed into the audition hall, she still felt extremely uncomfortable.

The emotions she felt were too complex: it was a mixture of guilt and an unwillingness to be wronged. It was indescribable.

“My husband is still lying in the hospital, unsure of whether he will survive, yet you are shameless enough to attend an audition and expect to appear in a film? Did you think that a b*tch like you are worthy?”

Plenty of people stood around to observe the scene with no intention of stopping the woman from attacking Chen Xingyan.

Someone was causing trouble, so this was going to be a good show.

However, while everyone expected Chen Xingyan to be put in a difficult position, she ended up remaining extremely calm.

“Madam, if your husband’s life is an uncertainty, you should be talking to the doctor or the perpetrator. Why are you talking to me?”

“Stop playing tricks! Your father is Chen Tianhao. Are you trying to avoid responsibility now that he’s done something wrong?”

“I’m sorry, but my father went missing when I was 6-years-old...I can’t possibly hold responsibility for a father that has never done anything for me. If you were in my position, would you be able to do it?”

“But, you can’t change the fact that you are related by blood,” the woman clung to Chen Xingyan, seemingly waiting for her to give the response that she wanted to hear: money.

“There are plenty of people that are blood-related to my father. I’m not the only one. You’re simply clinging to me because I’m a celebrity and you think I make a lot of money,” Chen Xingyan said in a cold voice. “I previously contacted you with a solution. But, how did you react at that time? You slapped me and told me to get lost...”

“I’m sorry but I still have other matters to attend to. If you don’t have anything else, I’m going to leave first.” After speaking, Chen Xingyan turned to leave, but the woman stopped her.

“Don’t you dare leave. You better sort everything out with me today.”

In the end, the biggest question was whether Chen Xingyan should shoulder the responsibility.

There were plenty of people present that wanted to make a joke out of Chen Xingyan, including the bloodsucking reporters.

Chen Xingyan was surrounded by people. Even when Little Seven used all her strength, she couldn’t tear Chen Xingyan away from the crowd.

However, at this time, An Zihao and Lu Che appeared with some bodyguards and a lawyer. The first thing they did was complain about the security, “What a bunch of trash! How could you just let anyone in and leave the matter for Hai Rui to handle.”

Everyone looked at Lu Che and An Zihao, including the reporters who quickly cleared a path to allow An Zihao to reach Chen Xingyan.

However, Lu Che and An Zihao were in no rush. Instead, they brought the lawyer to the woman and said to her, “From now on, if you have any matters related to Chen Xingyan, please find a lawyer.”

“Initially, due to sympathy, Hai Rui had originally planned to give you compensation based on moral grounds. But, after all the trouble you’ve caused, Hai Rui has decided to withdraw this decision.”

“So, I only have bad news for you: you won’t be receiving a cent.”

“Hai Rui has arrived!”

“Oh God! Hai Rui’s people are actually here. We have nowhere to hide. Let’s stop watching and disperse.”

Someone tried to escape while the scene was in a mess. But, Lu Che did not give them the chance to leave.

“Who leaked information about the Second Miss’ whereabouts? Hai Rui will find the culprit as soon as possible. Our Second Miss has never treated herself as a part of Hai Rui, but don’t you dare forget that President Mo hates it when people bully his family members!”

“Hai Rui will soon release a statement regarding Chen Tianhao’s matter. As for our Second Miss, she is of no concern to any of you...”

“If anyone else wants to cause trouble for our Second Miss, President Mo will be responding with a letter from his lawyers. Our lawyers have never lost a court battle and are always ready for a challenge.”

After speaking, Lu Che and An Zihao were about to escort Chen Xingyan out, when the family member yelled, “You are protecting a criminal.”

“This madam, let me make things clear for you. The criminal is being apprehended. For the sake of justice, Hai Rui has even told their friends in the legal field not to defend Chen Tianhao because we believe that Chen Tianhao deserves to be punished. Is that not enough?”

“Let me put it this way for you, our Second Miss has not had a father from a very young age. If you were in her position and was thrown into the same situation, would any of you shoulder the responsibility for your father? If you can’t do it, then don’t judge others with different standards. It will only make you seem fake.”

“So, Madam, in what way do you think we are protecting a criminal?”

The woman had nothing to say, but wasn’t willing to admit defeat.

She simply stared helplessly at the trio as they left.

As for Chen Xingyan, this was the first time she had been acknowledged as the Second Miss of the Mo Family in public and as Mo Ting’s sister. Mo Ting’s methods had always been powerful and effective, so Chen Xingyan realized that there was definitely a reason why everyone was convinced by Mo Ting.

“Second Miss, this is what we will call you from now on. Don’t look down on yourself ever again. If you come across people like that woman again, treat them ruthlessly. Only if they manage to stay standing to the end will I admit defeat. Because, that would mean that they can’t be reasoned with.”

Chapter 783: Even If Someone Was Upset By It, Sorry, They Had To Endure It !

Now, with a strong power like Hai Rui protecting her, Chen Xingyan slowly gained confidence. She now understood that Chen Tianhao was the one that did something wrong and not her, so there was no reason for her to feel guilty.

After Hai Rui protected Chen Xingyan in front of everyone, gossip within the industry decreased. Even if someone wanted to be nosy, they no longer dared to discuss this topic in the open.

To suit her new identity, Chen Xingyan ended up making a few changes to herself. She learned to toughen up because she realized that having a strong background helped her protect the people around her.

A little while later, Hai Rui ended up releasing a statement to clarify the entire incident. They explained that Chen Xingyan had lost her father when she was 6-years-old, but upon reappearing, her father ended up asking her for money. No, to be exact, he came back to swindle her for her money!

Chen Tianhao did actually have a son and he was indeed seriously ill. So, after An Zihao and Hai Rui worked together to reveal all the evidence, people began to sympathize with Chen Xingyan.

Meanwhile, people within the industry couldn't help but imagine themselves in her situation. If not for Hai Rui, Chen Xingyan would have been destroyed because of her jerk of a father. Being an artist certainly wasn't as glamorous as it appeared to the outside world. There were many instances when an artist's own family became their biggest enemy on their pathway to stardom.

So, plenty of her peers couldn't help but show their support, "To be honest, if someone is to blame for this incident, Chen Xingyan can't possibly be blamed."

"It's definitely not a glamorous thing to have a murderer as a father, but having a Big Boss as her older brother must make her life a lot more complete."

"With protection from Hai Rui, Chen Xingyan will definitely pull through this hurdle. I think everyone should move away from this topic now."

In the end, Hai Rui did provide moral compensation for the victims' family members. However, this did not include the family that forced Chen Xingyan to kneel and demanded for money.

Hai Rui wanted to warn everyone not to play any tricks in front of the King of Entertainment, because Mo Ting did not pay his lawyers for nothing.

Most important of all was Mo Ting's standpoint.

A reporter stopped Mo Ting in his track and asked him to share his views. In response, he simply replied, "I think my views are apparent in the actions that Hai Rui has taken. Although Chen Xingyan's surname is Chen, she is still a part of the Mo Family. I hope you all remember this and never forget it."

As soon as Mo Ting spoke, his words meant more than a thousand words put together.

Even if someone was upset by it. Sorry, they simply had to endure it.

A brother like this was cool and powerful and his words made Chen Xingyan's path a lot smoother.

...

"There are quite a lot of awards ceremonies in the new year and a lot of organizers have sent you invites. Are there any that you want to attend in particular?" An Zihao and Chen Xingyan had just relocated and moved into an estate near Hyatt Regency. Although it didn't compare to the symbolic estate for the rich and powerful, it was still owned by the Hyatt brand, so it was safer than most estates.

"I want to see Chen Tianhao," Chen Xingyan suddenly said to An Zihao with a slight plea.

An Zihao understood that Chen Xingyan still had things that were bugging her. Where had Chen Tianhao been all these years and why did he leave? These were some of the questions that she wanted answers to.

So, after a few moments of silence, An Zihao ended up nodding his head, "I will make arrangements for you."

"Thank you, Zihao."

It wasn't easy, but Chen Xingyan managed to separate herself from the problems that Chen Tianhao had caused thanks to assistance from Hai Rui. So the media no longer dared to drag her back into the mix. Instead, they placed their focus elsewhere. But, of course, Chen Tianhao's incident still attracted a lot of attention in Beijing.

After all, it was a huge accident and Chen Tianhao couldn't possibly escape the death sentence.

On the night that Chen Xingyan was to visit the prison, she had a job to attend to. Initially, she felt wronged and angered, but after seeing Chen Tianhao, all these feelings disappeared.

Separated by a layer of glass, Chen Xingyan simply sat there without picking up the phone. However, Chen Tianhao trembled as he pleaded, "Xingyan, save me."

At that moment, Chen Xingyan felt that no matter what secret he had, it no longer mattered.

"My brother has helped to settle the people that you injured. As for your seriously ill son, he is also getting medical help. But, he will be sent to the orphanage after his treatment is done. As for you, you deserve to die, don't you think?"

"I'm your father, how could you be so heartless?"

"Just wait for your death, Chen Tianhao. Originally, I wanted to ask you why you abandoned my mother and I, but after seeing your face, I feel thankful that you left us. Because, by doing that, you have set us free."

"Xingyan, listen to me, don't leave..."

However, Chen Xingyan did not feel like she had anything else to say to the man.

So, she slammed down the phone.

People often said that family should always be forgiven, because after they die, they are left with nothing.

But, Chen Xingyan still chose to not forgive him.

Chen Tianhao looked at Chen Xingyan in despair. She was his only hope. He thought she wouldn't be able to watch him being sentenced to death by firing squad, but...

...Chen Xingyan actually stood up and left...

“My daughter...Xingyan...you can’t just leave me like this.”

“Xingyan...”

“I was wrong. I was really wrong. I shouldn’t have taken drugs and drunk alcohol. Xingyan, save me.”

...

On the way home, An Zihao held onto Chen Xingyan’s hand, afraid that she’d be cold, “Are you still upset?”

“It’s definitely upsetting to think that he is about to die. But...he deserves it,” Chen Xingyan replied seriously. She then took a deep breath and regained her composure, “What’s done is done. I need to get back in the right mindset. I don’t want an incident like this to continue to hurt my mother and I.”

“You are now the beloved princess of Hai Rui,” An Zihao nudged Chen Xingyan’s head, “Don’t act childish anymore. Focus on acting well and walk your own path.”

To her surprise, Chen Xingyan ended up going home with a small award that year. Although, it wasn’t a big award, what actor didn’t start from something small and work their way up?

Of course, Tangning was an exception.

Seeing Chen Xingyan happy, An Zihao also began to feel happy. She was happy even though she never thought much about big awards.

“In the future, I will win lots and lots of awards.”

“Since we’re on this topic, The Fei Tian Awards has begun its voting for the ‘Viewers’ favorite drama award’. If you have time, you should gather your fans and tell them to vote for Tangning’s drama: ‘The Forensic Concubine’.

“Ning Jie doesn’t need my fans.” Chen Xingyan was observant. Even though the Best Actress Award was still an uncertainty, Tangning wasn’t going to give up on ‘The Most Popular Award’.

Even though it didn’t hold much weight in her heart.

‘Survivor’ was about to begin filming and Tangning placed all her focus on this film. However, during this time, Guo Guo began to get sick more often...

Chapter 784: She Has Sacrificed Enough For Me

Bai Lihua examined Guo Guo’s body. Due to his weak immune system, he was a lot more fragile than Tang Tang. They didn’t know it now, but this difference would become even more apparent as the two boys grew older. And, because of this difference, the two boys were destined to walk very different paths.

Before the Fei Tian Awards was to be held, Tangning officially started filming ‘Survivor’. Previously, when Guo Guo was sick, it wasn’t that serious; it was just a normal fever and flu. But, one afternoon, Bai Lihua began to feel that something wasn't right. So, she immediately gave Mo Ting a phone call while he was working.

"We need to send Guo Guo straight to the hospital. Something doesn't seem right."

Mo Ting immediately dropped everything and hurried home. He also instructed Lu Che to contact the most authoritative specialist.

After arriving at the hospital, Guo Guo immediately had a full body check up. In the end, the results confirmed that Guo Guo's lungs did not develop properly and needed long term treatment. On top of that, he needed to be protected. Problems with the lungs were serious. If they weren't careful, he could even die at a young age!

"Mr. Mo, feel free to contact our paediatric specialist, Doctor Tan. She specializes in the treatment of children. Unfortunately, she is currently overseas and will return in a few days."

Mo Ting looked sadly at Guo Guo who had just fallen asleep after much difficulty.

Bai Lihua answered a few of the head nurse's questions before she asked Mo Ting, "Should we tell Xiao Ning?"

"I will personally tell her after 'Survivor' finishes filming," Mo Ting replied. He knew that if he was to tell Tangning right now, she would give up everything and return home to take care of Guo Guo.

"Good," Bai Lihua nodded. "Wait until Guo Guo stabilizes a little and we get an update on his condition."

This time, Guo Guo ended up having a fever for 2 days. This was when the highly-qualified Doctor Tan finally returned to China. After hearing about Guo Guo's condition, she immediately rushed to the hospital without even unpacking her clothes.

She was very young at just 28-years-old, but, she often appeared on the front cover of medical magazines and had won many awards.

She liked children, so she majored in paediatrics during her studies in the US. After returning to China, she placed her focus on the research of rare childhood disorders.

"Guo Guo's condition isn't as serious as it looks, but he needs to come for regular checkups at the hospital."

"We understand, Doctor Tan," Bai Lihua replied.

"Where's the child's mother?" Tan Suling turned and asked Bai Lihua.

"Xiao Ning doesn't know about this yet..."

Although Tan Suling didn't pay attention to entertainment news, she was still aware of Tangning's gossip, so she nodded her head, "I know that your entire family is in the public eye. But, I suggest that the mother can bring the child here next time."

"OK," Bai Lihua nodded.

Afterwards, Mo Ting carried Guo Guo out of the hospital. Of course, not many people knew about this.

"I must say that half-cast girls are pretty." Although Bai Lihua knew it wasn't the right time to mention this, but she couldn't help but sigh after seeing Tan Suling's face. "She's even a doctor. Not bad. If I had another son, I would make him pursue her."

Mo Ting did not reply as he held onto the sleeping Guo Guo. It was unclear what the head of the family was currently thinking about.

Bai Lihua roughly guessed what he was thinking and said, "I know what you're thinking. You're worried that Xiao Ning will be worried and you're afraid that she'd give up on living her own life because of Guo Guo."

"I'm not just worried. I know she will definitely do that."

"But, you shouldn't keep it a secret from Xiao Ning for too long. She is Guo Guo's mother. How could a mother be kept in the dark about her own child? Plus, Xiao Ning is a very observant person. As soon as she returns home, she will definitely realize that there is something odd about Guo Guo."

"After she finishes filming, I will definitely tell her," Mo Ting insisted. "She's already sacrificed enough for me."

However, a mother and her child had a natural connection. So, that night, Tangning made a phone call home to check on her babies and specifically asked if Guo Guo had another fever.

Mo Ting replied honestly that he was a little unwell, but was currently recovering.

After hearing that, Tangning fell silent for quite some time. As soon as the next morning came around, she asked for leave and returned home. Only after she saw her baby was active and full of energy, did she relax a little.

Mo Ting approached her from behind and gave her a hug. Placing his chin on her shoulder, he asked, "Why did you suddenly come home?"

"I had a dream that Guo Guo had a fever so I had to check on him to feel rest assured," Tangning replied gently. "Plus, I don't have that many scenes at the moment. Later, when we move the set to the mountains, it won't be easy for me to see you guys even if I wanted to."

"Silly."

Mo Ting was well aware of how much Tangning loved the babies.

"Ting, take videos of the babies every day and send them to me, in case I miss them."

"I could always bring the two kids to monitor you at work!"

"Are you crazy? The conditions are tough on set. I don't want you and the kids to suffer. Plus, everyone on set will laugh at me," Tangning giggled. "Don't worry. Filming shouldn't take too long. As soon as I have time, I will return home."

Mo Ting did not say a word, he simply hugged Tangning tighter.

Only God knew how much he had wanted to see her.

Because, as a father, he had his fears.

And Tangning seemed to have sensed this, so she returned home and appeared in front of him at the time when he missed her the most.

“Focus on your filming. The Fei Tian Awards is coming up, but Hai Rui will arrange everything. You don’t need to worry.”

Last year, Tangning just managed to go home with the Best Newcomer Award. And this year, she was vying for the Best Actress Award.

With so many good films and performances under her belt, Mo Ting believed that the award was already in Tangning’s hands.

“Daddy Ting, you seem a little weird today.”

Mo Ting did not say a word as he directly pressed his lips against hers.

Although Tangning appeared to trust Mo Ting’s words when he said that nothing was wrong, she still called Lu Che when she returned to the set to see if she could get any information out of him. But, of course, Mo Ting knew how to keep a secret. So, even Lu Che had no idea about Guo Guo’s medical condition.

Soon, Tangning moved to the new set in the mountains. During this time, the Fei Tian Awards also announced their nomination list for the year.

As expected, Tangning was amongst the list for Best Actress. But, at this time, Guo Guo fell sick again.

“Tangning’s not here again?” Tan Suling noticed that Mo Ting had come to the hospital on his own again, so she began to develop a bad impression towards Tangning. “No matter how important her film is, it can’t be more important than her own child.”

After hearing this, Mo Ting furrowed his brows.

On this occasion, he simply accepted it as a doctor’s concern for her patient. But, if she dared to say anything about Tangning again, he would not remain silent.

“His fever has worsened and his immune system has weakened even more. You can’t take him outdoors from now on and make sure not to let him stay in the wind for too long.” Tan Suling did not receive a response from Mo Ting, so she changed the topic.

But, after Mo Ting left, she began chatting to her assistant, “It’s rare to see a man in the entertainment industry that cares so much about his family and child. It’s too bad that Tangning is not a good mother. She spends all day trying to impress the viewers, yet she won’t spend an ounce of energy on caring for her own child.”

Chapter 785: Does Mom And Dad Not Like Daughters ?

“I know, right? Her child is currently sick, yet she’s still focused on filming. Won’t her child hate her in the future?”

In the eyes of a doctor, nothing mattered more than a life. Whether someone ruled the world or was a mere beggar on the streets, they could not avoid taking medicine, getting injections and going to the hospital.

So, even if Tangning had an extremely important reason, they still felt that she was disrespecting her identity as a mother by not being by her child's side when it was so sick.

Tan Suling did not say a word. Instead, she pulled out her phone and did a search on Tangning's name. The outside world was covered in news about Tangning's possibility of winning the Fei Tian Best Actress Award.

"Well, look at this. She's about to win an award."

After seeing the news, Tan Suling put away her phone and smirked before she returned to treating her patients.

She had already heard about the relationship between Mo Ting and Tangning in the past. They seemed to be doing well. But, why did the father turn up alone when their child was sick?

Also, why didn't Mo Ting mention a word about Tangning this entire time? Could they possibly be putting on an act in front of everyone?

Tan Suling was familiar with marriages of convenience. Each party got what they wanted, so it wasn't anything to be surprised about. But, the child was the most pitiful. It seemed, a man like Mo Ting simply wanted to find a suitable person to give birth to his child. He couldn't possibly just have one woman.

But, in reality, after Tangning moved to the set in the mountains, Mo Ting took the kids to visit her, simply because he thought she'd miss them.

That day, Tangning had just finished filming and not a single patch on her body was clean. As she watched Mo Ting approach from the distance carrying the two kids, she revealed a slight smile.

The extras on set immediately pointed out, "Tangning, from the moment that you joined the cast, I've never seen you smile like this. Only President Mo gets to enjoy this special treatment!"

"Ning Jie, President Mo is carrying your baby, but who does the other baby belong to? Why is he carrying two?"

"Hmmm, I think the other one is mine as well...because I gave birth to twins," Tangning smiled.

The little extras covered their mouths before they gave her a thumbs up, "You're amazing! You never revealed this to the public."

"I hope you can keep it a secret for me..."

After speaking, Tangning didn't even change her clothes before she walked towards the father and sons.

No one on set had ever expected that the intimidating Mo Ting would end up appearing on set with his babies. The scene in front of them was hard to imagine.

It was originally against the rules of convention, but when they witnessed it in person, it somehow looked so natural and warm.

“Why did you suddenly come?”

“Go have a bath and get changed. We will wait for you in your room,” Mo Ting responded.

“OK,” Tangning nodded. Soon, the couple disappeared from everyone’s sight with the two babies. However, the scene that the crew had just witnessed, filled them with admiration.

“President Mo and Ning Jie are so loving. Did you guys see the warmth and love in President Mo’s eyes as he looked at Ning Jie? Can they be any more perfect?”

“Everyone saw it. I’m so envious of Ning Jie...She even has such an adorable pair of babies. She is practically a winner in life.”

Because of the status that Tangning had slowly established, as soon as she stepped onto the set of ‘Survivor’, everyone took really good care of her. Everyone subconsciously treated her with respect, like a ‘Big Sister’ of the industry. But, of course, this was also because Tangning was deserving of the love and respect.

After entering her room, Tangning quickly washed herself down. Without even worrying about covering the scratches and injuries she received, she quickly rushed over to Mo Ting and her babies.

Mo Ting had already spotted the blood on her waist. Seeing that she ignored it, he put down the babies and pulled Tangning into his embrace, “Did you get hurt?”

“This film is quite dangerous,” Tangning replied honestly. “I already tried my best to protect myself. What happened today was an accident.”

Mo Ting did not respond. He simply gestured for her to fetch the medicine chest and began to help her sterilize the wound, “No matter how small the injury is, you need to treat it. Otherwise, it will leave a scar.”

Tangning looked at the two rascals that were crawling around randomly on the bed and couldn’t help but pull them into her embrace; kissing one and hugging the other. As for her injury, she simply left it in Mo Ting’s hands...

“We will be moving into the jungle tomorrow. I may not be able to return home for two months...”

“I’ve already arranged for you to get a day off for the Fei Tian Awards.” After treating Tangning’s wound, he covered it with her shirt. “You don’t need to worry about the babies.”

“I will come pick you up on the day that you complete filming. I have something I want to tell you,” Mo Ting did not plan to keep Tangning in the dark for much longer.

“OK...” Tangning nodded. “Don’t worry, I will take good care of myself...”

After the couple reunited for a little while, Mo Ting left with the two babies. Of course, Lu Che was waiting in the car. Otherwise, Mo Ting alone wouldn't have been able to bring the two rascals all the way out to such a distant location.

That night, Tangning moved to the new location with the rest of the cast and crew. However, on the way there, her mind was completely filled with images of Mo Ting and her two sons. In fact, she couldn't even focus on the script in front of her.

"Ning Jie, you're amazing! It's not easy for an actress to do what you have done. Trust me, 'Survivor' will definitely help you to become the Best Actress," an accompanying actress comforted. "But, even though actors receive the best resources, I must say that we also sacrifice a lot. For example, we have to keep our personal lives a secret and sacrifice time with our families..."

"Endure it for a little longer. Two months will pass quickly..."

During the time that Tangning was relocating, Long Jie delivered some good news. She had given birth to a little girl and it had inherited its mother's looks: chubby, round and, not to mention, cute!

Tangning was happy for Long Jie. After all, she had wanted a baby for a long time. Now that her wish had come true, she was definitely bouncing off the walls in joy.

However, Lu Che's parent only flew over to take one glance at Long Jie and the baby before they rushed back home. That night, Long Jie noticed that Lu Che's eyes were red.

Lu Che did not say a word, but Long Jie could tell that something wasn't right because she understood Lu Che.

"Does mom and dad not like daughters?" this was the only thought that came to Long Jie's mind as she asked him carefully.

"Don't overthink it. I'm happy with whatever you give birth to," Lu Che replied as he held their precious little daughter in his arms.

"I guessed right, didn't I?"

Long Jie never imagined, even though her mother-in-law had never applied pressure to her, the hatred on her face was obvious.

"You're focusing on the unnecessary again. The person you are spending a lifetime with is me. I already told you before you fell pregnant that you don't need to worry about pleasing them."

Actually, Long Jie didn't understand why she cared so much either.

Perhaps it was because of her lack of self confidence.

Chapter 786: I Simply Felt Bad For The Child

Every year's Fei Tian Awards was extremely competitive. But, this year, no one could compete with Tangning's acting and ticket sales.

Whether it was 'The Lost Relative', 'The Forensic Concubine' or 'Survivor' which was currently being filmed, one thing was clear, whenever Tangning appeared in a production, it was guaranteed to be a masterpiece.

Amongst these, 'The Forensic Concubine' was more surprising than the rest because Mo Ting was the male lead. It allowed everyone to see a different side to Mo Ting; a Mo Ting that was capable of anything.

In fact, with Mo Ting's motivation, Tangning's Qing Lan became more realistic and full of emotion. As a result, 'The Forensic Concubine' broke all records for television dramas and was still ranked as the number one performing drama at the moment.

This was no doubt a successful year for Tangning. She performed well in the box office, became a mother, returned to work looking more youthful than before and even filmed a television drama with her husband.

"There's no doubt that Tangning will win Best Actress this year, right?"

"I don't think there's any alternative. If she doesn't win, then this world is surely unfair."

All of a sudden, people within the industry made a clear distinction between Tangning and other actresses. They had to be fair. Everyone had witnessed Tangning's acting and her impressive skills were an undeniable truth.

But, the day before the Fei Tian Awards, Guo Guo was once again sent to the hospital because of a fever.

This time, Tan Suling directly asked Mo Ting, "Why didn't you notify Tangning? Although he's only had a fever, it doesn't mean that he doesn't want his mother by his side."

"Doctor, you are overstepping your boundaries!" Mo Ting replied straightforwardly.

Tan Suling calmed down a little before she started to work on lowering Guo Guo's body temperature.

"Even if it's a marriage of convenience, she shouldn't just disregard her child after giving birth to it. Does she not care about her son at all?"

"My wife is not disregarding her child. I simply didn't tell her about this. If Doctor Tan continues to involve personal emotions into this, I have the freedom to change doctors," Mo Ting warned. "You have no right placing judgment on another's family."

Tan Suling nodded her head. After she helped Guo Guo stabilize his temperature, she said to Mo Ting, "I simply felt bad for the child."

"You are in no position to feel bad," Mo Ting said before he carried Guo Guo out of the hospital. As he reached the front door, he said to Bai Lihua, "Mom, get ready to change hospitals."

At this moment, the thing that Mo Ting regretted the most was not having his own medical team.

After finding out that Guo Guo's body was relatively weak, Mo Ting looked everywhere for an authoritative doctor in paediatrics. He simply wanted to reduce his son's suffering.

But, it couldn't be denied that Tan Suling was amongst the best of the best in the industry even though she was a bit too sensitive.

Even so, he didn't want to see a doctor that was bias towards his wife again.

For Mo Ting, there were only two kinds of people in this world: Tangning and everyone else.

"Xiao Ting, it's time you tell Xiao Ning about this," Bai Lihua's heart ached as she watched Guo Guo suffer. "You need to know that no matter how careful a father is, a mother's care is still necessary."

"I know what to do," Mo Ting replied.

The Fei Tian Awards were on the horizon and Tangning was about to return home, but 'Survivor' was only two-thirds completed.

When it came to the Fei Tian Awards, the public paid close attention to it every year. After all, these awards were the most prestigious in Beijing and every winning film and actor was truly admired.

For this year's Fei Tian Awards, Tangning was once again a favorite. So, discussions were more intense than before. Even at the hospital, doctors and nurses watched a couple episodes of 'The Forensic Concubine' during their breaks for some entertainment.

Seeing this, Tan Suling frowned, "Don't let me discover you watching something so ridiculous during work hours again."

The nurses were a little helpless. Tan Suling had never been against them watching it before...

Why was she suddenly so angry?

Tan Suling knew what the nurses were curious about, so she explained, "I don't care how successful of an actress she is. In my eyes she is a complete failure who doesn't take care of her own child. She shouldn't even have the right to have children."

"Errr..."

The nurses smiled awkwardly. They felt that Tan Suling was overstepping her boundaries.

"Guo Guo has been seriously ill three times, but she hasn't appeared even once. Have you guys ever seen a mother like this?"

"Doctor Tan, I'm afraid that's none of your business."

Tan Suling glared at the nurses before turning around and leaving.

In reality, even Tan Suling felt that her reaction was a little over the top. Why was she so angry about Tangning's irresponsibility?

Perhaps, she felt that Tangning did not deserve the love of others. Since she was such a hopeless mother, she must be simply putting on an act in private.

“But, Doctor Tan can’t be telling the truth, right? Was Mo Ting and Tangning’s child ill three times? And did Tangning not show up even once?”

“The two of them wouldn’t be in a marriage of convenience, right? The type where they each do their own thing?”

“Stop making random guesses. The two of them have a great relationship. That can’t be possible.”

“Then, can you explain why Doctor Tan is so upset?”

The three nurses began discussing the matter in the nurse’s station, without noticing that they were talking about the secret that Mo Ting did not want others to know about.

Of course, this was all because of Tan Suling.

She may have been professional, but as a person, she had a very low EQ because she considered herself as heroic and just.

Of course, it was simply a discussion amongst a few nurses at the moment. The incident had not gone out of hand. But, just because it hadn’t today, didn’t mean it wouldn’t tomorrow...

...

Night hit.

Mo Ting thought to himself in the study room for quite some time. In the end, he lifted his phone and called a familiar number.

“Ning...”

Tangning was in the middle of filming a night scene. Even so, she did not ignore Mo Ting’s call, “What’s wrong? Why are you still awake so late at night?”

“Guo Guo’s not doing well,” Mo Ting said straightforwardly. “He’s been having fevers frequently and his immune system has continued to weaken.”

After hearing this, Tangning’s mind went blank, “Is it serious? Is he still having a fever?”

“After a few episodes, he is more stable. You don’t need to worry,” Mo Ting knew that Tangning was considering rushing home immediately. So, he quickly comforted her, “After playing with Tang Tang for a while, he fell asleep. You don’t need to hurry home. You can come back in two days as originally planned.”

Chapter 787: Who Do You Think You Are ?

Tangning couldn’t possibly wait two days, so she immediately asked for leave. After hearing about her situation, the director agreed to her request, but as she left, he shared his opinion, “Tangning, it’s normal for children to be sick. Plus, he has President Mo to take care of him anyway. On the other hand, you are the female lead of this film. Every day that filming is delayed, the production suffers a huge loss. I can agree to your request this time, but this will be the only time.”

Tangning understood the director’s difficulties, so she nodded her head apologetically, “I’ll be responsible for all the consequences.”

“Fine, go ahead then. After all, the Fei Tian Awards is coming up, so I’ll just pretend I let you take your leave early.” As long as Tangning was willing to take responsibility, the director was willing to do this favor for her. After all, she did indeed have an understandable reason.

Tangning rushed home overnight. The first thing she did as soon as she walked through the door was check that Guo Guo was OK. Seeing that he was sleeping peacefully in his crib, she let out a sigh of relief.

Mo Ting heard some noises, so he came out of the bedroom. As soon as he saw Tangning standing beside the crib covered in sweat, he immediately grabbed a towel and wrapped her up in it, “I told you not to worry. What if you catch the cold by rushing home like this?”

“It’s not that easy to not worry,” Tangning covered her face with the towel. At this time, she realized her hands were icy cold.

“Go have a hot bath,” Mo Ting carried her into the bathroom and began to fill the bath with warm water. After she stepped into the bathtub, he stepped outside and gave the director of ‘Survivor’ a phone call.

“After the Fei Tian Awards, she will return to work as scheduled. I’ll compensate for any losses during this time,” Mo Ting said to the man.

“As long as Hai Rui is willing to do that, two days leave for Tangning is nothing. Don’t worry.” The director knew how to weigh the pros and cons. Tangning was away for two days, but it didn’t mean that they’d run out of scenes to film for the supporting actors. Even though he knew this, he still needed to act like he was put in a difficult position. Otherwise, Tangning would assume that the rules did not exist.

Soon, Tangning finished her bath and stepped out into the bedroom. Seeing that Mo Ting wasn’t around, she assumed he was in the study room. Tangning remained silent for a few minutes. She knew that she shouldn’t become more of a burden for Mo Ting at this time, so she walked over to the bed, lay down and relaxed...

It didn’t take long before Mo Ting returned to the bedroom. Knowing that Tangning wasn’t truly asleep, he lay down and hugged her from behind. He then said quietly, “I’ve already booked a more detailed checkup for Guo Guo tomorrow. You don’t need to worry.”

“The medical team I’ve assembled is already on the plane. They will be in Beijing very soon.”

“Exactly how weak is Guo Guo’s immune system?” Tangning flipped her body and asked as she hooked her arms around Mo Ting’s neck.

“The doctor previously determined that he’d get sick often because his immunity fluctuates unpredictably.”

After hearing this, Tangning remained silent for a while. Obviously, she did not feel good about this news, but she accepted that it was reality. After a few moments, she calmed down and said, "Hurry and get some rest. Guo Guo is already sick. You can't tire yourself out as well."

Mo Ting knew that Tangning had a strong heart. Even though she was worried, she would not be flustered.

So, the next morning, Tangning and Mo Ting brought Guo Guo to the hospital. Although it was the same hospital where Tan Suling worked, it was still the best children's hospital in Beijing.

Soon, Guo Guo was once again taken in for an examination. Apart from having a weak immune system, he was also diagnosed with a lung infection.

As per Mo Ting's request, the doctor testing him this time, was not Tan Suling.

Even so, one of the nurse's suggested, "Mr. Mo, Doctor Tan is indeed our best doctor. Plenty of people come to look for her everyday. So, I think it's still best for you to speak to Doctor Tan about treating Guo Guo."

After hearing this, Tangning looked at Mo Ting curiously, "Why don't you want to see Doctor Tan?"

Mo Ting remained silent and did not say a word.

Seeing this, the nurse explained, "Doctor Tan is quite a character and is passionate about her work. She doesn't like it when parents mistreat their children. So, she developed a bias towards you after not seeing you the past few times that Guo Guo came to the hospital..."

"Is that it?" Tangning did not care as she immediately instructed the nurse to call Doctor Tan. "Ting..."

"I know..." Mo Ting knew what Tangning wanted to say. But, if worse came to worst, he was going to pretend that Tan Suling was invisible.

Soon, Tan Suling arrived at the emergency ward. This time, she finally got to see Tangning.

At first, she did not say a thing. Only after she saw Guo Guo's results did she say, "Your child is seriously ill. As his mother, you weren't by his side, so you are partly to blame. You need to know that you are now a mother. Since you decided to have a baby, you should take responsibility for it. Is acting and becoming famous really that important to you?"

Tangning did not argue back, she simply accepted Tan Suling's blame and said patiently, "Doctor Tan, can you please treat Guo Guo..."

"With an irresponsible mother like you, he can't be saved."

Tangning did not try to explain, nor did she say anything else. Seeing that Mo Ting was about release his anger, Tangning immediately held him back and comforted him for a few seconds.

"I think, at a time like this, Doctor Tan should put aside all personal emotions. After all, my son is waiting for you to save him."

"So, you finally acknowledge your son?"

After hearing this, Tangning no longer pleaded for her help. Instead, she gave Xia Yuling a phone call, because at this time, Tang Yichen came to mind, "Mom, Guo Guo is sick. Help me contact Sister Two. I will arrange for Guo Guo to be transferred to her hospital."

Xia Yuling had no idea how sick Guo Guo was. As soon as she heard what Tangning said, she immediately gave Tang Yichen a phone call.

"Are you crazy? Guo Guo is in a dangerous state, yet you want to transfer him to another hospital?" Tan Suling immediately criticized Tangning's decision. "You're indeed not a suitable mother."

This time, no one could stop Mo Ting as he waved at the nurse in the room, "Go call your hospital chief."

The nurse received a fright, especially after seeing the dark expression in Mo Ting's face. So, she immediately turned around and ran off towards the hospital chief's office.

"Even if you call the hospital chief, you can't change the fact that Tangning is a bad mother."

"You're meddling too much with other's business!" Mo Ting said. "If you like to cast your subjective judgment on others so much, you should stop being a doctor and go get your brain checked first."

"Mr. Mo, please watch what you're saying!"

Mo Ting did not say a word, nor could he be bothered to respond to her. To be honest, the couple had never met a doctor that was so meddlesome.

Soon, Tang Yichen arrived at the hospital. Although Tangning barely contacted her, they were still sisters. So, Tang Yichen grabbed Guo Guo's results out of Tan Suling's hands and ran her eyes across it. She then said calmly, "You can transfer Guo Guo to my hospital. Brother-in-law, I'll leave it to you to organize."

After Mo Ting heard this, he immediately turned around and left.

At this time, Tan Suling questioned Tang Yichen, "Who do you think you are?"

Chapter 788: You Certainly Live Up To Your Reputation As A Complete Moron!

"I've long heard of the infamous Doctor Tan... After seeing you today, you certainly live up to your reputation as a complete moron!" Tang Yichen said as she squinted her eyes to look at Tan Suling in detail. "You are indeed professional, but your EQ is non-existent. Before you treat another child, I suggest you go home and learn how to improve your EQ."

Tang Yichen had previously read the medical research papers that Tan Suling had written and understood that she was a perfectionist. However, she had an idealized view of the world and wasn't considerate of others' difficulties. She expected everything was a given.

She felt that children were the most important things in a person's life, so parents were expected to stay by their sides and take care of them 24/7. She also felt that children were the most precious things on earth, so adults should treat these hopeful souls unconditionally.

"What right do you have to teach me what to do?" Tan Suling analysed Tang Yichen from head to toe as she spoke with doubt and arrogance.

“Based on the fact that I am currently the associate professor of paediatrics and you are just a specialist.” After speaking, Tang Yichen presented her ID as proof.

From a professional viewpoint, Tan Suling was indeed capable; this was something that Tang Yichen had to admit. But, Tan Suling lived with too much bias. As a result, she had quite a reputation, but her status and capability were not on the same level.

After seeing Tang Yichen’s identity, Tan Suling shut up unhappily.

Afterwards, the family left the hospital together. During their transfer, Tang Yichen said to the couple, “The two of you haven’t paid enough attention to the medical field. That’s why you were so flustered when Guo Guo got sick. Why didn’t you contact me earlier? Although the hospital that Tan Suling works at is the best children’s hospital in Beijing, even if the child gets cured, the parents would end up getting sick from anger.”

“I’ve already assembled the best medical team...”

“Guo Guo doesn’t need that just yet. Let’s first take him to the military hospital. My mentor can definitely cure Guo Guo. Of course, a medical team is still necessary afterwards, but don’t forget to do regular checkups,” Tang Yichen was completely in professional mode. Even though the man in front of her was Mo Ting, she couldn’t help but voice her opinion.

Actually, if someone was to ask about the relationship between Tangning and Tang Yichen, Tangning felt that her relationship with Tang Yichen was the most distant amongst everyone in the Tang Family.

Previously, when Tang Xuan was still in the family, Tang Yichen didn’t have a good relationship with her either and had always been considered as a neutral party. Either way, she always felt that the Tang Family had too many secrets, so she preferred to spend most of her time at medical school.

As a result, Tangning had no idea that Tang Yichen had accomplished so much within her own field.

“Are you surprised?” Tang Yichen asked after noticing the shock on Tangning’s face.

“Uh huh.”

“I also only recently started watching your television drama: ‘The Forensic Concubine’,” Tang Yichen expressed that she had been taking notice of Tangning. “But, of course, it was during a time when I was extremely bored.”

“In the past, when you were sick, you never turned to me. From now on, you should contact me more often!”

“I didn’t know...” Tangning replied helplessly.

Soon, the family arrived at the military hospital. Tang Yichen was currently a military doctor at the hospital. So, she carried Guo Guo straight into the surgery. Every now and then, a man’s voice could be heard coming from behind the door, “Do you need my assistance with such a simple matter? Tang Yichen, I’ve wasted my efforts on teaching you...”

“So what if he’s your nephew. You should treat him yourself.”

Soon, a tall and built man stepped out of the surgery. As soon as Tangning saw him, she was a little taken aback.

It was rare to see such a handsome face in the hospital. It was a shame he wasn't a celebrity.

He was obviously Tang Yichen's mentor. Originally, everyone assumed that he would be a middle-aged man. But, who would have thought that he was merely in his early 30's.

Dressed in a white cloak, it was obvious that this man was trying to suppress his emotions. At the same time, his cool expression and look of disdain made Tangning let out a laugh.

Compared to Bei Chendong, this man looked even more like he was related to Mo Ting.

"What are you laughing at?" Mo Ting asked as he furrowed his eyebrows.

"It's nothing. It's just that I suddenly realized why Tang Yichen doesn't like to return home. With such a handsome mentor, if I was in her position, I wouldn't want to go home either," Tangning replied.

"You like his type?"

"I'm just joking, Mr. Mo," Tangning immediately comforted her jealous husband. Either way, based on her womanly instincts, the conversation between Tang Yichen and the man obviously showed that their relationship was very close. Even if they were mentor and student, they definitely felt deeply about each other.

So, she didn't believe for a minute that the man would disregard Guo Guo and not treat him.

As expected, a moment later, Tang Yichen asked Mo Ting and Tangning into the surgery. At this time, the man said to the couple with a cool expression, "There's no need to be in a panic. Leave the child here for a couple of days and go do what you need to do..."

"Lu Guangli!" Tang Yichen tugged on his sleeve awkwardly.

Tang Yichen was meant to be closer to Tangning, but judging by the current situation, Tangning seemed to have understood something.

"You should call me mentor..." Lu Guangli instructed professionally.

Tang Yichen glared at him as he turned and looked at Tangning and Mo Ting.

With no choice, Tang Yichen simply said to the couple, "Don't worry, I will take good care of Guo Guo while he is here. You can both go home for now."

Seeing no sign of movement from the couple, Tang Yichen reassured, "It is honestly a small matter."

"In that case, I'll come back in the afternoon to take care of Guo Guo..."

"There's no need," Lu Guangli directly replied. "After the child has fully recovered, I'll call you to pick him up. Family members will simply get in the way and will be a disturbance to the nurse's care." After speaking, Lu Guangli once again left the surgery.

"He's like that, but he is very capable," Tang Yichen explained on behalf of Lu Guangli. "Although he's a bit mean with his words, his abilities are better than the entire medical team that you have assembled."

“When did he start being your mentor?” Tangning couldn’t help but be curious.

“Errr...since university.”

“You started uni when you were 19. That must mean that you’ve known each other for 8-9 years.”

Tang Yichen did not respond, but Tangning already knew what was going on, so she didn’t ask any further. “We can’t possibly leave Guo Guo here all on his own without worrying about him. But, if Doctor Lu insists, then we will first go home and wait for your update. If anything happens, contact me immediately.”

“Don’t worry. It’s President Mo’s first time at being a father, so he doesn’t have much experience. Children aren’t that easy to take care of. You’ve already done all that you can, so you don’t need to take it to heart.”

Tangning nodded before returning home with Mo Ting. However, as soon as they left the hospital, Mo Ting instructed Lu Che to do a background check on Lu Guangli.

As soon as Lu Che retrieved the information, his eyes opened wide in shock...

After all, Lu Guangli had already done so many great things within the medical field at such a young age. He was indeed surprising.

However, no one imagined that the argument that took place between Tangning and Tan Suling at the hospital, would result in the release of a huge piece of entertainment news...

Chapter 789: It’s My Fault For Not Handling The PR Properly

[Exposed! Tangning’s child admitted to hospital three times, but Tangning doesn’t appear even once!]

[Rumor has it, Tangning has no love for her child and her relationship with Mo Ting is based on mutual benefit]

[Best marriage of convenience acting: Tangning’s acting ability applied to her lies]

“According to the Entertainment Weekly’s latest discovery, it has been revealed that Tangning has no love for her son. While she was filming her latest film, it has been reported that her child was admitted to the hospital three times. But, Tangning wasn’t present even once. It seems, she has no concern for her child’s health and it has been rumored that her relationship with Mo Ting has always been a marriage of convenience.”

“After being made aware of this situation, we sent our reporters to investigate this matter at the hospital that Tangning’s child was admitted to. In the end, it was confirmed by the medical staff that Tangning’s son had indeed been sick multiple times, but Mo Ting was the only one they had ever seen. It seems, the rumors of a marriage of convenience may not have no basis.”

“On top of that, we also interviewed the doctor that previously treated Tangning’s child. For the truth, please continue to watch the following video...”

“It is the hospital’s mission to maintain confidentiality for its patients, so I have no right to reveal anything about the child’s illness. But, during the multiple times that the child was admitted to the hospital, I had indeed not seen his mother even once, only the father,” Tan Suling said calmly in the video that was playing.

“As for whether Tangning loves her child, I’m afraid only she knows.”

If her first few sentences didn’t really suggest anything, her last sentence definitely did.

It obviously had a hidden meaning.

By saying what she did, Tan Suling was deliberately making people misunderstand the situation.

“It’s not convenient for me to discuss any other matters. Thank you.”

After the video was released, most people felt that it wasn’t something that Tangning would do; it didn’t suit her character.

But...the doctor at the hospital had personally confirmed it: while her child was sick, not only did Tangning not care for it, she didn’t even appear at the hospital once. Was the image that she previously created, a complete facade?

Of course, this ignited the hatred of ‘mother fans’. In their hearts, no matter what the situation was, Tangning was already a mother. They could disregard that she couldn’t provide care for her child, but she should at least visit it once while it was sick, right?

However, she didn’t!

“She deserves being criticized. Recently, when her child was seriously ill, she forcefully transferred it to another hospital, simply because our paediatrics specialist, Doctor Tan, had a few opinions about her. As a result, she completely ignored the well-being of her child and transferred him away.”

“Although Doctor Tan’s words may have been a little harsh, it was for the sake of the child. She simply dislikes irresponsible parents. If they don’t want to take care of it, they shouldn’t have given birth to it in the first place.”

“Celebrities these days are nothing like the ones in the past. For the sake of their own interests, they would sacrifice anything.”

In the end, the public simply had horrible words to say about Tangning.

Seeing this, Mo Ting erupted in anger for the first time in his office. He had never paid attention to the medical field. Who would have thought that the industry was just as messed up and incapable of differentiating right from wrong.

Seeing Mo Ting in silence, Tangning understood that he was angry. So, she gently held onto his hand to comfort him.

“It’s my fault for not handling the PR properly and not protecting your reputation. Most importantly, I should have notified you about our son’s condition earlier.”

“How many storms have I come out of alive? Did you think I’d be afraid of a small bit of slandering?” Tangning shook her head with a smile.

Mo Ting placed his hand on Tangning’s head and pulled it onto his shoulder.

“Don’t worry, I will help you get justice.”

The PR this time was difficult to manage. Doctors were a special group of people and the words that came out of their mouths always had a sense of authority. Plus, their responsibility was to save lives and simply say things as they saw it. After all, it wasn’t like they had any resources to compete with Tangning for, so they had no reason to deliberately defame her.

With the added fact that modern society was filled with pressures and the majority of people developed paranoia, it was understandable that they would naturally assume the worst.

Soon, the director of ‘Survivor’ gave Mo Ting a phone call, “President Mo, Tangning’s situation is getting out of hand. Please hurry and resolve it before it affects the film’s reputation and progress.”

“Don’t worry,” Mo Ting replied with two simple words.

Meanwhile, Tangning remained as calm as ever. Apart from making a few phone calls to Tang Yichen to check on Guo Guo’s condition, she did not take the current scandal to heart; after being defamed so many times, she had already gotten used to it.

But, Mo Ting knew that if Hai Rui was to speak up at this time, it would simply feel like they were making excuses. So, he instead thought of Tang Yichen.

After seeing the news, Tang Yichen expressed her disgust towards Tan Suling. Even if Mo Ting didn’t ask her, she would have stepped out and vouched for Tangning anyway. “Guo Guo is currently being treated at the military hospital because his weak immune system has triggered a fever. He is not in a serious condition as per the rumors and is not in a life or death situation,” Tang Yichen released a copy of Guo Guo’s examination results.

“Also, I would like to clarify the reason why Tangning decided to transfer her son to another hospital. Firstly, Guo Guo had a fever and a slight lung infection, so Tangning asked a particular Doctor Tan for help. However, due to her own personal emotions, this particular doctor lectured Tangning. At first, Tangning did not respond. But, the doctor was completely immoral and ended up saying that she wouldn’t treat the child because it had a mother like Tangning. Since she wouldn’t treat the child, Tangning had no choice but to find another capable doctor. As a result, she contacted me. Was she wrong for doing that?”

“Secondly, in regards to the rumor that Tangning did not show up at the hospital while her son was ill, I would like to ask if anyone has considered that there may be a reason for this? For example, it could be possible that Tangning did not know about this matter from the start. Everyone knows that my brother-in-law is famous for doting his wife. To prevent Tangning from being worried, it was completely possible for him to take on this entire problem without telling her. Most importantly, I would like to say one thing: a certain doctor at a certain hospital should take note of their own image before they go around lecturing others.”

“As a doctor that demands parents to care for their children 24 hours a day, has she not considered that she will be held liable for these words? For those that are already parents, how many of you are capable of prioritizing your children at all times of the day. Isn’t 24 hours too tiring?”

“After what I’ve said today, you are free to believe what you want. But, those that spread rumors about my nephew being seriously ill should disperse and get some good karma for themselves.”

Regardless of the truth, it was certain that Guo Guo was not seriously ill.

As for Tang Yichen’s words, they reminded all the parent’s in the nation that not every doctor knew how to be responsible. In particular, those parents that had previously been tormented by Tan Suling were well aware of this.

“I never thought that this doctor was still around. Although her medical skills are not bad, there’s definitely something wrong with her. Previously, when my mother took my child to see her, she requested my mother to watch over him through the entire night without sleeping. Even though my mother is already old, she told my mother that she can’t allow the child to feel like no one cares about it. Is she mentally ill?”

“This doctor is very difficult to deal with. I definitely think that Tangning has been framed.”

Chapter 790: Let Mo Ting Take The Blame ?

“The Fei Tian Awards are about to commence. From the looks of it, someone is deliberately slandering Tangning.”

“I don’t care about anything else, but they’ve gone too far with their slandering. This has always been Tangning’s family business. Their child was sick, so the couple were in a panic, yet the doctor stabbed them in the back at this time. How heartbreaking.”

“I’m going to keep paying attention to this news. Perhaps there’s a chance of turning the tables.”

These days, whenever news appeared in the entertainment industry, the public would have to pay close attention to it for a few days before they’d find out the truth. Because, right and wrong wasn’t something that could be easily distinguished with the human eye.

However, Tang Yichen’s words did indeed anger Tan Suling.

It was only right for a mother to take care of her child.

So what if a doctor criticized a mother a little? Was her heart made of glass? Couldn’t she handle it?

“When a child’s immune system weakens, it is unpredictable. In some cases, it could even lead to premature death. How is that not a serious illness? Especially since he fell sick multiple times?”

“When I request parents to take care of their children, I don’t expect them to provide round-the-clock care. But, when a child is admitted to hospital, they are obviously sick. If a parent can’t show a bit of love at this time, when are they planning to show it?”

“Plus, it is the truth that Tangning doesn’t care about her son. I didn’t lie. Why should I be the one to take note of my image?”

“I am an upstanding citizen. It must be because ‘someone’ is Tangning’s sister, so she’s bound to speak up for her family.”

“F*cken b*tch, is she mentally ill?” even Long Jie, who had just become a mother, couldn’t help but swear after seeing Tan Suling’s interview. “Is this doctor’s brain made of bean curd?”

“Who knows. All I know is, this battle has already spread from the entertainment industry, across the entire medical field,” Lu Che replied as he sat beside Long Jie and cut some fruit.

“Will it affect Tangning’s chances at the Fei Tian Awards?”

“What kind of effect would it have?”

Understanding the situation, Long Jie relaxed and nodded her head, “As long as there is no effect, then everything is good.”

But, now that the situation had gotten to this point, if Mo Ting didn’t teach Tan Suling a lesson, she would have no idea who she had provoked.

In reality, the hospital chief of Tan Suling’s hospital had wanted to get rid of her for a long time. However, as time went by, he found it harder to find a reason to dismiss her.

Normally, when a person’s character was confirmed as problematic and they made people around them uncomfortable, they were bound to become a target in everyone’s eyes. Plenty of people would discuss how bad they were behind their backs and point out all their negative traits.

So, while the iron was hot, the hospital chief decided to speak to Tan Suling, “Suling, to be honest, you are a capable person. After servicing our hospital for so long, your professionalism is apparent and you are one of our best doctors. However...you’ve offended Hai Rui this time. Our hospital can’t handle this drama, so we’ve decided to ask you to leave.”

The hospital chief was actually being very polite...

If it was someone else, they would have already erupted in anger.

Tan Suling felt her pride had been hurt and assumed that Hai Rui was behind all this, so she replied, “You will definitely regret this.”

“I am a righteous doctor who saves the dying and treats the injured. I have already treated a countless number of people. Yet, you are treating me this way because of some dirty underhanded deal you made. You sure disappoint me.”

However, Tan Suling didn’t only say this to the hospital chief. She also repeated it to the media.

“Everything has happened too abruptly. I was dismissed by the hospital because I offended Hai Rui and the hospital didn’t want to attract trouble.”

Some people immediately laughed at her for being too straightforward and speaking recklessly. But, there were also some people that stuck up for her unfair treatment.

“It’s not the first time that Hai Rui has done whatever they wanted. Being dismissed is already a small punishment. This doctor is so pitiful.”

“Who told her to offend Mo Ting? She sure deserves sympathy.”

“No, Hai Rui can’t keep using methods like this to solve their problems...”

But, in reality, Hai Rui was completely unaware of all this...

“From the looks of it, this Tan Suling is so disliked that even the hospital chief can’t stand her. The news was only released not long ago, yet he couldn’t wait to get rid of her. If he wants Hai Rui to shoulder the blame, he has sure dealt a good hand of cards. It seems, all roads lead to Hai Rui and all blame should be directed towards us.”

These were Fang Yu’s words.

But, if they wanted Mo Ting to take the blame...they had picked the wrong person.

“Go speak to the doctor’s at the hospital. I’m sure we will find some clues,” Mo Ting instructed. If they didn’t do something, this matter would simply conclude as suppression from Hai Rui.

“Don’t worry, I’ll have something for you very soon.” Collecting information wasn’t something that only Lu Che could do. Fang Yu was also good at it.

Although the matter stemmed from Guo Guo being sick, negativity like this also affected Hai Rui’s reputation.

Soon, Fang Yu received news from his source that evidence had been secured. It was proof that there was something wrong with Tan Suling’s personality and that the hospital had long struggled to tolerate it.

If they wanted to bully someone, how dare they bully Hai Rui?

Afterwards, Fang Yu reported this matter to Tangning over the phone and Tangning replied, “Deal with it the way that it should be dealt.”

After being slandered so many times, Tangning had long become indifferent towards it. But, that didn’t mean she was willing to forgive Tan Suling.

Her casual attitude meant that Mo Ting could do whatever he wanted. But, if Mo Ting made a move...both Tan Suling and the hospital were going to suffer pitifully.

“Make an appointment with the hospital chief. I will personally meet with him.”

‘Personally’. As soon as Fang Yu heard this word, he knew a good show was on its way.

So, without wasting a second, Fang Yu pretended to be an heir of a rich family and asked to see the hospital chief at a hotel regarding one of his sick relatives.

But, in reality, not only was Mo Ting waiting for the hospital chief, he was also accompanied by the most authoritative reporter in Beijing.

Offending Mo Ting never ended well. The most this hospital chief could hope for was to not end up too pitiful.

The Fei Tian Awards was on the horizon. Fang Yu understood that Mo Ting wanted to resolve this matter before the awards ceremony because he wanted everyone to view Tangning as the most perfect woman.

So, the next morning, Mo Ting went to see the hospital chief.

The hospital chief had no idea what was awaiting him. He thought a rich family wanted to meet with him to discuss the condition of a family member. But, as soon as he opened the door to the private room in the hotel, he was stunned. Because, apart from the media, there was also Mo Ting...

"I must have stumbled into the wrong room," the hospital chief turned around to leave. He honestly thought he had entered the wrong room. But, Mo Ting quickly stopped him.

"Chief Lin, you are in the right room," Mo Ting's voice was deep and powerful, shocking everyone in the room.

Meanwhile, Chief Lin's face did not look so good...
