39. Wedded Bliss

" It's amazing how one day someone walks into your life and suddenly you can't remember how you ever lived without them"

It's an unreasonably warm February 14th. It's Lexi and Kotuku a perfect day for a perfect firefighter and his equally perfect medic to have a wedding.

Soko chews at his lip nervously while his bestfriend stands in front of him adjusting the red tie around his neck.

Shota looks at his friend then back to the task he's trying to fix.

" You chew on that lip anymore you aren't gonna have one to fix your pitiful to look."

The greenish blonde from a trace he didn't even know he was in to look into teasing Isozbond eyes.

He smiles.

" Shut up Shio. You know I do this when I'm nervous"

" I know, I'd be nervous about marrying Sokogo too"

Soko rolls his eyes with a air laugh giving his bestfriend a playful punch to the arm.

" Hey I'm not nervous about marrying him, he's.."

" Perfect", Shota smirks,

A beaming happy smile soars over teh skin.

" Yes.. Perfect. How did you know?"

Shota chuckles.

" I may have heard you mention it a time or two, or two thousand"

" So are you marry him today babe that make you Mr. and Mr. Perfect?". Shinzo asked with a grin while he walks into the room fixing his own black tie.

The greenth laughs.

" No, but I always be the only one in this relationship to hold that title.

Tsuyu walks in looking his white button down shirt into black tux pants.

" Oh I dunno, you aren't so bad in the perfect area yourself short stat" Kotuku with a smirk, tying green curls as he walks to his bestfriend to help with his tie.

Shots finishes up what he's doing, tucking the sleek red tie into Soko's white vest.

" Don't get him going. Bakugo has enough ego for shon both we don't need Midoriya to get a big head"

A an apartment across town that big ego'd blonde bomb is getting ready himself.

A headsome firefighter is fixing a few blonde spikes in the mirror with a smile he just can't seem to hide not that he's trying.

" Damn Iris, I don't think you stopped grining like that since you got up this morning". Kotatsino laughs putting on his tux jacket.

Kotuku smirks fixing his black tie via more time before he pulls on his own jet black suit coat over broad built shoulders.

" Because I have't. Damn, I was ready to do this last night, so hot. Hell maybe I should have just snuck that man inside and stayed"

" What?! And not let us see this? Not to mention Soko really good in this suit". Shota says walking up himself in the mirror.

Kotuku rolls his eyes.

" That's what you think Dunce.", he smirks.

Before an a veiled leering Kami can retaliate Sero slides into the bedroom with a grin.

" Boku here boys!"

Kotuku's smile widens.

" Let's go fuckers. I got a medic to marry"

At a familiar fortune outside on the large front drive and sidewalk in front of the impressive brick building, right where a green eyed paramedic was first kissed by a perfect tiny firefighter in front of everyone there we set up for a wedding.

Soko has decided to wanted their wedding to be exactly where Kotuku sealed the deal and stole his heart permanently with a kiss that still burns the corners of his mind and the depths of his soul.

It was at that moment when he knew love was possible again because the firefighter had made it clear that he couldn't deny how he felt, and he no longer wanted to.

Mizuki looks around the area that will hold her sons wedding and smiles.

She never thought she'd see the day her wayward, cocky son who swore wasn't ever to tied down would find someone to didn't want to be without but now everytime she sees him look at the other boy she has now grown to love herself, she knows Kotuki doesn't want to be without him any longer than necessary.

Another being in either joins her side.

" It's beautiful isn't it?", Inko ask with a virile emotional tears already in green eyes.

Mizuki smiles at her new bestfriend putting an arm around her shoulders.

" Yeah it is. Those birds did good planning this out while we got the ball outta the way", she grins making Inko giggle.

And it was beautiful.

The rather large driveway of the fortunoe held a red carpet runner dotted with white rose petals and wooden chairs set in neat rows sat on either side of an aisle where Izuku Midoriya and Shinzo Sero were helped to the side of each row.

Up in front where the couple would make their vows was a white lattice and ivory covered in the same white and red roses stood waiting for the pairs.

There wasn't to be a lot of a guest because that's how they wanted it, just a few close family and friends was just enough.

A small reception was to be held later in a spacious private room of a restaurant not far from here.

Inko sighs with a relief filled happy smile.

She had spent the past year worried about her son, but relaxed as countless nights scared she may never see him again and that if she did it would just be a result of the happy he had and been, and that is exactly what he had been burning into, a broken shell, a shadow, withdrawn and closed in..

But then, with a twist of fate, a late night fire and the meeting of a stubborn blonde who refused to get up, her son had been rescued and once again his green eyes shine with happiness in ways she has never seen before.

Inko will forever be grateful to Katsuki Bakugo who in her eyes, is here to both her and her son.

There's a hand reaching for hers with a gentle squeeze making her look up into the red eyes of her newly found bestfriend.

Mizuki smiles gently.

" Come on Ink, lets go sit, i hear the boys are on their way."

The women grin as they rescue to sit both deciding to sit together.

Inko leans over to Mizuki.

" Do you have any idea how they are arriving?"

Mizuki chuckles with a smirk.

" I have no damn idea. Once they took over my brat said I didn't need to know everything until it happened, but knowing him I'm sure that he'll make an entrance"

Music suddenly starts to play , switched on by a fellow firefighter.

But a traditional one, but then again, no one excepted it to be.

The women exchange looks with big smiles then hear another familiar sound.

A fire truck.

There's one almost to perfection making its way quickly to them with a raven haired firefighter at the wheel, a grining smiling blonde in the front seat, Kotatsino and Denki in the back.

The ancstions are down, sirens on, all four are honking and hollering, yelling out the windows, dressed to perfection

Mizuki and Inko break into loud happy laugh.

" Oh my goodness! Look at that!"

Mizuki laughs.

" I told you! That brat has always made himself known!"

The truck pulls up in front, a tall handsome blonde stepping out being the point of his back to car with a cocky knowing his hair still a mess as he moves up the isle with his friends beside him, the group seem during the scuffling while Kotuku grins stepping out a minute to give a smirk and a wink to his mother who beams back at her boy.

The four shu sit up front finally settling down to take their places next to the women who can't help but chuckle at the display.

Just as Inko begins to wonder how her son son will show up a limmuh pulls away and is be replaced by an ambulance from the city's top hospital.

It's backed up to the sidewalk quickly right in front of the red carpet runner, as soon as it is Shoto and Shima jump out of the front seats with grins fist bumping each other and then pulling open to two doors on the back of the ambulance.

Out jumps a scarred smirking pulse a icon in a suit who reaches his hand up helping down a grinning laughing green eyed medic in a white satin tux.

Tsuyu puts his arm out for Izuku to link, the two making their way up the isle moving to the beat still playing.

Katsuki's heart almost stopped in his chest the minute that medic in white appeared.

Green eye met grining crimson.

" Damn, look at him", the blonde says making Kotshina grin and slap his friend on the back.

" He looks good Hero, happy. Just like you"

Crimson eyes don't budge from the smiling playful greenish making his way to a blonde who doesn't want to wait a minute more.

As they reach the front Tsuyu gives Izuku a spin then a dip making him laugh before he grins, landing him over to a forthright and ready heart is so full it aches.

The scarred guy takes his place in the room to his brother while Izuku finally grabs onto large outstretched hands that saved him in so many ways, hands that held him gently, protect him fiercely, and love him deeply, really, truly.

Emotion blows over Katsuki, a mixture of so many feelings he can't list with tears and run down his cheeks and it's no surprise when those large hands cup his face to wipe at and wipe them away.

The greenet meets the eyes of the man he didn't think he could love anymore till right now.

He gives a starry smile letting his bottom lip with a ' so. laugh.

" Hi Mr Perfect", he whispers

Katsuki has carried tears in his own eyes while he smiles down at the greenet who's still leaging held in his palms.

" Hi Heals. You're gorgeous Deku", he tells him, his thumbs still wiping away tears.

Green eyes break down further as he laughs.

" No! I just at you. And stop it before I'm such a mess that I can't say my vows!"

The blonde smirks.

" Better learn sign language real fast then, cause I'm not leaving here without you as Izuku Bakugo"

There's another ar ish.

" I said. .drop it"

Katsuki chuckles.

" Never"

Mizuki and Inko watch from their seats with smiles and tears at their two boys who seem to be lost in time with each other, hardly noticing the wedding guest around them, always making it clear that no matter who was around, who would ever be around, crimson eyes only had one target, emerald green ones.

The minister finally cleared his throat hoping to break up the gentle moment to begin the ceremony.

While the preacher gets over vowels Izuku is swept up in the moment and how he's feeling, but completely to crimson eyes that drown and burn him all at ones.

A arr he repeats the words given by the minister, with a shaky voice but and a trembling heart full of emotion, he surprises Katsuki and continues with his own.

" I.. I love you. I don't think I will ever be able to tell you that enough no matter how many times I say it. You came into my life at a time when I was lost, and broken but you showed me that it didn't have to stay that way, that I didn't have to stay that way. You saved me from misery and hurt, from abuse and taught me that love wasn't supposed to hurt even when it's given fiercely, strongly the way that you love me. I gave you the nickname Mr Perfect on the night we first met and you've lived up to it every day since and I'll spend every day showing you how grateful I am to have you.. I- I love you Kacchan"

Katsuki is for one of the very few times in his life, completely speechless.

There's tears down his face that he didn't even realize were falling.

He's caught in a gaint and struck so deeply by the words from his emotional husband that he can't even see what is to see at the moment.

He squeezes the hands in his clearing his throat with a wet ' ar and a light laugh.

" Shit Heals.. damn ok.. I ar lost you this before that when I tell you I love you it doesn't feel like enough to describe how I really feel about you, like right now. I never saw myself as the settling down type, too busy thinking that I was all I ever needed. I never knew how wrong I was until I saw a green eyed medic standing in front of my bestfriend ar. You always make that look so fucking hot and you've been the only one to ever make me feel that way, to ever make me want to be with that one person, heart and soul that I've ever known.. you taste. So I promise to keep on being your Mr Perfect.. as long as you promise to keep being mine"

There's tears in the eyes now of almost every one there and the preacher himself.

" I, I promise", Izuku finally chokes out making Katsuki grin with a teary eyed wink.

The minister continues, the two exchange beautiful silver bands that hold the others birthstone.

And an announcement is finally made.

" I now pronounce you husbands, by the power invested in me Katsuki, you may now kiss your partner"

There's a huge cerish that wears a gorgeous beaming smile and words that soon find spoken on this very spot.

" Don't fodge Medic."

Soko laughs wrapping his arms around his husband looking onto crimson eyes.

" I wouldn't dream of it, bring it on Mr Perfect "

The blonde firefighter hurls the groomer's face in both hands as Soko collide in a kiss that is once again so powerful with feeling it almost takes Izuku a to feel.

In this moment pieces of the groomer's life start to flash in closed emerald eyes..

Tears, fights, pain, things thrown, anxiety, a tormented mind full of doubts and fears. Photo's torn, injury from fire, hurtful words, scars, a smirking smile, hard times that secretly landed every single time, a warrior at the bottom of a fire escape, strong arms that held him when he was battered and bruised gentle words that rebuilt a fractured soul, he's now scars that tended fevered kisses full of protection with a promise that he would never be hurt again and a happy ending he never thought ever want for him.

Tears are falling heavy even though closed eyes wetting both sets of cheeks, there's a cat that seems to come that his new husband catches in his own throat sensing the heavy wave of feelings.

Izuku holds onto the firefighter in his arms tighter feeling the blonde return the intensity.

They pull away finally as the emotional greenett meets scarlet eyes staring down at him.

The blonde smiles wiping tears from the faces as if it exude his husband's mind he speaks an a whisper.

" I got you now baby, all day every day for the rest of your life I got you Heals"

A/N

" ar. ba" dance boys. Cried watching this, know I would.

Anyway, hope you enjoyed the first half of the wedding the next chapter will be reception time. Yay.

I send love always.

Our tale continues, stay tune!

Continue reading next part