

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball

Chapter 1011

Chapter 1011 Not That Kind Of Relationship

Meanwhile, Xander had just walked into his house and run into his parents.

“Mom, Dad, why are you back?”

From the moment he showed that he could take over the company, his parents started traveling the world, giving free clinic sessions.

Xander did not know why they came back without even letting him know in advance.

Paige frowned and glanced at Xander in displeasure. “I heard you have been mixing around with Byron’s ex-wife?”

Some time ago, public opinion was all over the internet. Xander’s parents caught wind of it too.

Thus, they investigated Rosalie and discovered she was a mother of two.

To their surprise, she was even Byron’s ex-wife.

The thought of her son getting so close to a woman who was divorced with two children made Paige feel uncomfortable.

Xander looked at his mother, surprised. “How did you know that?”

Xander had admitted it since he had not denied it at once.

Paige’s expression turned gloomier. “We saw the public opinion online some time ago, and our relatives kept asking US about it.”

It surprised Xander more. “How did they know Rosalie is Byron’s...?”

Before he could ask, Paige interrupted him in displeasure. “We investigated her. Do you wish others to know you’re dating a divorced woman?”

Looking at his son’s reaction, Paige could no longer suppress her anger. “I raised you until what you are now and have never interfered in your personal life. I’d never interfere in your decision on who you want to date.”

Then, she glared at her son. “However, why aren’t you dating someone better than a divorced woman? Her ex-husband is that Lawrence brat!”

You'll be a laughingstock if they know this."

Xander listened to his mother's words. Instead of feeling remorse, a faint smile appeared on his face.

Paige felt even more displeased when she saw this. She glared at Tucker.

Aware of his wife's glare, Tucker felt helpless.

However, he had no choice but to clear his throat and speak, "What your mother means is, why do you have to date a woman in our social circle instead of someone else?"

The Lancer and Lawrence families were the most famous families in Coast City.

If their son married Byron's ex-wife, their relationship with the Lawrence family would be awkward.

Tucker thought he had stated the matter clearly, yet his wife still glared at him.

When he looked at Xander, he noticed that the smile on Xander's face was broader. He did not look like he regretted what he had done. 1

Tucker frowned. "Why are you grinning? We're talking to you about a serious matter."

Xander smiled and approached his parents. He sat on the single-seater sofa.

He looked as if he wanted to say something.

Paige and Tucker looked at each other. Then, they focused their gaze on Xander.

Xander explained slowly, "You've misunderstood everything."

His parents were confused.

It was all over the internet, and Xander told them they had misunderstood the situation. Would even the netizens on the internet mistake this?

"Are those photos fake, then?" Paige could not help herself from asking.

Xander shook his head. "Of course, they're real, but Miss Jacobs and I are not in that kind of relationship like the netizens are saying on the internet."

Tucker looked at his son suspiciously.

Paige and Tucker had watched their son grow up.

They had never seen their son so close to a woman in all these years.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-