

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball

Chapter 1341 –

Chapter 1341 Treat Differently

“Be careful!”

Rosalie thought of her last encounter here. Her face blushed slightly, and she reminded the kids.

The three little ones waved at her without turning their heads back and rushed out into the waves.

Rosalie noticed that and quickly approached them and stood by their side.

“Mommy, this place is beautiful!”

Estelle grabbed Rosalie’s hand and snuggled up to her side with a look of surprise on her face.

The last time they went on the hot spring vacation, there were fireworks and many people by the beach. The kids had no chance to feel the beauty of the sea from this perspective.

There was silence except for the sound of waves crashing on the shore.

Even at such a young age, they wanted to remain silent and enjoy the breeze without thinking about anything.

Rosalie touched the heads of the little kids with a smile. “I came here often because there are fewer people here and it’s quiet.”

Then, she looked around. Rosalie spoke to Lucian and Nox as she held Estelle’s hand, i’ll take you somewhere.”

The children snapped out of their awe and obediently followed.

Rosalie led them somewhere far, and soon the kids saw a lighthouse and an extended deck!

The blue lighthouse was on the white deck and against the blue sea. The windmill on the deck rose and fell with the tide, turning slowly in circles, just like a picture from a fairytale!

The little ones were surprised.

It was not like the beach they had seen the last time.

“Go and have fun!”

Rosalie’s heart melted upon seeing how much her little girl and boys liked this place.

They snapped out of their daze when Rosalie spoke.

Estelle ran ahead and shouted, “Lucian, Nox, come on!”

The little boys followed her and shouted back, “Estie, run. We’re catching up!”

The three kids chased each other around the deck.

Rosalie leaned against the railing, watching the delightful little ones. She could not help herself from taking out her phone to take photos.

She missed out on so many of Estelle’s growing-up moments.

Never had she seen Estelle blabbering and toddling.

However, she was glad she was there when Estelle needed her the most.

She was also glad she had helped when Estelle needed her and accepted her.

Otherwise, Rosalie would blame herself for it if Estelle did not manage to cure her speech issue!

Rosalie had all her attention on Estelle. Each of her photos was of the kids playing, but every photo had Estelle in it.

From now on, she did not want to miss a moment of Estelle growing up.

Tired from running, the little ones looked back to see their mother standing there taking photos. They ran back to her.

“Mommy, what are you looking at?”

The three kids surrounded Rosalie as they grabbed her shirt, wanting to look at the content on her phone screen.

Smiling, Rosalie crouched and showed them the photos she had taken one by one.

‘There are so many photos of Estie!’

Nox puffed his cheeks and said in displeasure. "Mommy, are you going to care more about Estie than US since you've found her? You treat US so differently!"

Those words startled Rosalie.

She had been so intent on recording their growth that she had not noticed who she was photographing.

When she scrolled through the photos, she saw that most of them were of Estelle.

Suddenly, Rosalie felt terrible and apologized, "Sorry. I didn't mean it. It's just that I..."

Just because she was thinking about Estelle, she subconsciously took more photos of her.

Nox was just joking. When he realized his mommy took it seriously, the little boy quickly explained, "Mommy, I was kidding! Please don't take it seriously..."

With that, Nox kissed Rosalie on the cheek and said, "Of course, we know you love US too! It's just that my sister has just come back and you want to give her all the love that you missed out on these years, so you care about her more. We can understand that! My brother and I will love our sister as much as you do!"

Estelle smiled sweetly and said, "Estie will also love Mommy, Lucian, and Nox more!"

Rosalie felt better when the little boy said so, but she still felt sorry for her sons.

Estelle had been away from her for so many years, and now she had finally come back to her.

To be honest, Rosalie could not deceive herself and say that she would be fair to each child.

"Mommy, we're tired. We want to sit on the beach."

Lucian noticed their mommy was still feeling remorseful and diverted the topic.

At times like this, it might be better to leave mommy alone.

Rosalie had the same thought in mind.

She wanted to be alone for a while to think about how she would deal with the three little ones. When she pondered how to tell her kids, she heard Lucian's suggestion.

Rosalie smiled gratefully at the little one. "Go ahead, but you can't go too far. Stay away from the water and keep your watches with you."

Lucian nodded and took his little brother and sister to the beach.

"It's all my fault. Mommy's sad."

On the way to the beach, Nox blamed himself for it. Then, he looked at Estelle. "What I just said was really just a joke. I like you very much!"

He was afraid his sister would take it seriously.

Estelle nodded to indicate she knew.

After all, Lucian and Nox had taken care of her ever since they met!

The little girl knew when they were joking!

Nox felt better when Estelle nodded and whispered to his brother, "It would be nice if Daddy was here."

If Daddy were here, he would be able to coax their mommy!

With that in mind, the little one secretly sent their daddy the beach's location.

They thought their daddy would come for them if he saw their message.

Mommy would be in a better mood with Daddy around!

As Nox pondered, his mood brightened.

"Well, why doesn't Mommy want to accept Daddy's proposal?"

Estelle was depressed.

Although she knew what Nox had just said was unintentional, she could not help thinking about how she could enjoy the love from both her parents, yet her brothers only had their mommy's love.

Would not they have less love than she did?

If Mommy and Daddy were together, Daddy would treat them like his children!

Nox looked at Lucian cautiously when Estelle asked that question.

They would not tell their sister that Mommy did not accept Daddy's proposal because of their grandma.

They were okay with it because they knew they could do nothing.

However, if Estelle knew about it, she would throw a tantrum at their grandma.

The little ones feared she might accidentally put their mommy in trouble again.

“It's because...”

The two little boys could not ignore Estelle's pitiful look.

Nox muttered for a long time before brushing her off with a reason he made up. “Maybe it's because Mommy wants to test Mr. Byron again! After all, it seems that their divorce was unpleasant back then.”

Estelle frowned in a puzzle.

Unlike her brothers, she did not know much about her daddy and mommy. However, from what her daddy said when he proposed, it did seem like that was the reason.

What happened when they split up?

Why would Mommy leave without her?

Nox realized he had not only made his mommy sad and even made the smile on Estelle's face disappear. He panicked.

“It's... okay! Mommy will forgive Mr. Byron sooner or later if he proves himself! She'll certainly accept his proposal!”

Estelle looked worried. “What if Daddy feels hopeless after Mommy rejected him this time?”

She had been helping Daddy win Mommy's heart and knew how her daddy would let his imagination run wild.

If Mommy did the slightest thing, Daddy would get angry and stop trying to win Mommy's heart.

Thinking of how many times her daddy had been jealous of other men, Estelle's worry grew.

She used to persuade Daddy, but now Daddy had no one to convince him. If she knew this might happen, she would have stayed by her daddy's side... Nox was even more flustered to hear Estelle's words. "I don't think so?" Daddy would not give up that easily.

The little one could not help looking at his smartwatch.

He had yet to receive a reply from Byron since he sent their location to him.

It made him wonder if their daddy was giving up.

However, their daddy did teach the mean lady a lesson that morning.

'Why do you think so?'

Lucian was speechless at his brother's answer and said thoughtfully, "Mr. Byron's personality is the same as yours. His mood is always up and down. Who knows what is going on in his mind now?"

Nox's attention was instantly diverted. "I'm so lively and lovely. How could I have the same personality as Mr. Byron? It's you! You and Mr. Byron have no expressions on your faces! I'm more like Mommy!"

The topic distracted Estelle's attention, and she joined in the conversation.

"It's me who should be more like Mommy."

She was a girl, just like their mommy.

Besides, their mommy was so pretty, and she was confident she would be as stunning as her mommy when she grew up.

The little girl's words left Lucian and Nox speechless.

"I don't care. I don't want to look like Mr. Byron."

Pouting, Nox turned around and walked off.

As he walked, he thought to himself if he resembled his daddy.

They might look a little alike because they both were handsome.

However, they had different personalities.

Daddy spoke so little and never wore an expression on his face. On the contrary, he was cute and clever, and everyone liked him.

“Didn’t you say you like Mr. Byron the most?”

Lucian was only quipping, but when he lifted his head, he saw that silly brother of his walking toward the sea.

“Nox, come back!”

Lucian quickly shouted as he chased after Nox.

Nox was so immersed in pondering which part of him resembled his daddy, and the sound of waves was so strong that he did not hear Lucian’s call. All he did was walk ahead.

Estelle knew that there was nothing she could do to help. Thus, she went back to call Rosalie.

Rosalie snapped out of her thoughts and looked at the beach. She saw her two little boys walking toward the sea, one behind another.

The one in front seemed to be in a daze and had a frown on his usually cheerful face.

“Lucian! Nox!”

Rosalie’s heart skipped a beat, and she quickly approached them.

They could swim, and she would not rush to them in a hurry if they were somewhere else.

However, she had fallen there two days ago and was worried. She knew that there was a reef down there.

Estelle was running behind her with her short legs.

A big wave shot on the beach, and Rosalie panicked. She quickly ran toward her kids and grabbed onto each of them with one arm.

All three were wet due to the wave.

Estelle was way behind them and managed to avoid the wave.

Nox snapped out of his thoughts and realized what had happened. He lowered his head guiltily, not daring to look at his mommy.

Rosalie threw the two little ones onto the sand.

Nox sat on the beach limply and looked at Rosalie with a flattering smile.

Those who did not know what was happening would think they were playing.

“Mommy, I’m sorry I didn’t look after Nox well.”

Lucian immediately admitted his mistake.

Rosalie looked at her sensible eldest son and her younger son, who was trying to muddle through with his cute smile. She was angry, yet she could not bear to scold them.

“You two! I told you to keep out of the water.”

After a while, she sighed helplessly. “What should we do now? I didn’t bring any clothes.”

She had meant to take the kids to stand on deck without touching the water. Who knew this would happen?

If her clothes were not wet, she might buy one for them.

However, she could not do anything now.

When Rosalie pondered what to do, Estelle suddenly said, “Daddy.”

Rosalie thought the little girl was asking her to ask Byron for help. She subconsciously refused. “Daddy has to work. He must be busy.”

Besides, she did not want Byron to know that she brought the kids to the beach after he brought her here.

“Daddy!”

Estelle suddenly ran away from her.

Only then did Rosalie realize Byron was already there with them.

Lucian and Nox also looked at where Estelle was heading.

“Why did you only bring the kids?”

Byron stroked Estelle’s head and carried her. Then, he approached Rosalie as he sounded aggrieved.

Rosalie felt guilty when he looked at her like that. “I thought you were busy working today...”

Having rejected his proposal yesterday, Rosalie wanted to cool off for a while.

However, Byron did not give her any chance to breathe. “No matter how busy my work is, I have all the time in the world for you.”

Then, he looked at the three of them drenched in seawater and said, “Besides, I’m worried about letting you come to the beach alone with the children.”

Rosalie recalled the kiss after she fell that day. Her cheeks and ears flushed red before the kids.

“Mommy is a good swimmer!”

Nox defended his mommy.

Mommy went scuba diving on their last vacation!

Then, he heard his daddy chuckling and saying nothing.

Their mommy’s face blushed more.

The three little ones understood when they saw that expression on their mommy’s face.

Something must have happened that they did not know!

Daddy must have ‘bullied’ Mommy again.

“Daddy, why are you here?”

Estelle looked at her daddy curiously.

To her surprise, they just talked about Daddy and Daddy was already before them.

She thought Daddy was going to be mad at Mommy again.

The little girl’s question reminded Rosalie of her doubt.

Rosalie suppressed her bashful emotion and looked at Lucian and Nox seriously. She questioned them with her gaze about which one of them told Byron about their location.

Estelle would not have done it. Thus, the only two suspects were Lucian and Nox.

“We didn’t!”

Nox decided and quickly put on an act. He looked at his mommy innocently and said, “Ask Mr. Byron if you don’t believe me!”

With that, the little boy turned around and looked at Byron.

In response to Nox’s gaze, Byron nodded seriously. “I came here myself.”

Rosalie frowned, still suspecting something fishy behind this.

The father and son, who did not even know each other’s origin, were already helping each other.

If they knew, she wondered how it would...

Nox knew his mommy suspected him and put on an innocent smile as he diverted the topic. “Mommy, it’s cold!”

Rosalie could do nothing about it and looked at Byron.

He was the only one who could buy clothes for the kids right now.

Before she could speak, Byron said, "I brought you clothes on the way here. They're in the car. You can get in and change."

Rosalie was again suspicious.

How could this happen?

Byron seemed to see through her mind. He lifted his eyebrows and said, "Don't forget, I brought you here first after you returned to the country. In the past six years, this place has been my territory. I came to my territory to take a look. Is there anything wrong with that?"

Rosalie was speechless by what he said.

He had said so much that she might seem unreasonable if she took it seriously and asked further.

"Maybe it's fate."

With a smirk, he approached and nudged Lucian and Nox a little on their shoulders. "Come on. Let's go and get your clothes changed."

The two little ones nodded and followed their daddy to the car.

"Mr. Byron, why are you here?"

Nox asked him in surprise as he changed his clothes.

They were wet, and it was inconvenient for them to put on their clothes and trousers.

When Byron came, he thought only of getting them clothes to change into and was not careful enough to think of buying towels.

After looking around in the car, Byron reached out for his jacket in the back seat and wiped the little ones.

The material was expensive and did not absorb well, but it was better than nothing.

The man was a little amused to hear Nox's question. "Didn't you send me the location?"

Nox grinned guiltily. "You didn't reply to me, so I thought..."

He thought Daddy was mad at Mommy for real.

"Did you think I was mad at your mommy for rejecting me?"

Nox still smiled guiltily.

Meanwhile, Lucian asked calmly, "Are you angry?"

Byron did not expect the little boy would be so direct. He was stunned for a few seconds and said, "No. There was a misunderstanding between US before, and it's my fault. All I want is to get your mommy back."

He smiled gently at the little ones. "You'll help me, won't you?"

Nox naturally nodded without hesitating and confessed what he had done.

"It's my fault for upsetting Mommy..." Nox admitted his mistake.

Byron understood the purpose of the little boy calling him over, and he was satisfied with the boy's idea of asking for his help.

"I know. Leave it to me. I'll help you make Mommy happy."

Chapter 1346 This Really Isn't A Dream?

Rosalie waited for a while on the beach with Estie, only to see Byron get out of the car with the boys.

She could not help being a little surprised when she saw rainbow-colored T-shirts on the little boys.

Byron had always dressed in plain colors, so she thought that Byron would buy black or white clothes for the boys, or at least solid colors.

She never expected him to buy such bright colors.

Moreover, she did not know when he bought them for the little boys, but the clothes fit them very well.

"When did you buy them?"

Rosalie could not help but asked as she saw them approaching.

Byron recalled Nox mentioning just now that Mommy was in a bad mood. He looked at her face briefly and said without changing his expression, "I originally wanted to bring you all here some other day, so I prepared them in advance. I didn't expect them to come in handy."

Rosalie became even more suspicious.

She could forgo Byron's sudden appearance here, but he even bought clothes for the little ones...

She lowered her eyes and looked carefully at Lucian and Nox.

The two little ones smiled innocently. Mommy, Mr. Byron also bought clothes for you. Go and change!"

When they changed their clothes just now, they saw a beautiful dress in the backseat. Daddy must have bought it for Mommy!

Hearing this, Rosalie could not help but be startled.

'He actually bought a dress for me?'

She raised her eyes to ask Byron for confirmation.

The man felt a little helpless because the little boys had leaked his surprise in advance, but he still nodded casually. "Go in and change. Don't catch a cold." 1

There was still some hesitation in Rosalie's eyes.

Byron raised his eyebrows teasingly. ' Don't worry, I won't peek. Take your time. I'll take them there to play for a while."

After he finished, he led the little ones to a distance without waiting for Rosalie to answer.

The little ones also wanted their mommy to change quickly and cooperatively followed Byron.

Looking at the backs of the four of them, Rosalie hesitated for a few seconds before finally walking toward the car.

Indeed, as Nox said, there was a sea blue sundress in the back seat of the car. The dress had some pleats on the neckline with a slight tapering at the waist.

After she had Lucian and Nox, she rarely wore this casual style of dress.

'But I have to say, this is indeed a style that I like.'

Six years ago, when she married Byron, she would always wear such dresses to the beach.

'He even figured out the style I like. It seems that Byron has really put in some effort...'

At the same time, because of his thoughtfulness, the rift in Rosalie's heart caused by their previous marriage was slowly being healed.

She raised her hand to pick up the dress and was about to take off her clothes and put them on when she suddenly remembered that her underwear was already soaked.

Rosalie looked at the expensive dress in her hand.

'If it gets wet, the dress will probably be ruined.'

'But...'

Just when she was troubled, the phone on the seat suddenly turned on.

Rosalie glanced down.

It was a message from Byron.

[The undergarments are in the trunk. I bought them based on your previous style. I don't know if you'll like them or not.]

After she read the text content clearly, Rosalie's cheeks suddenly turned red!

'Byron actually bought me undergarments...'

'This really isn't a dream?'

Forget six years ago, even after Byron proposed, Rosalie never imagined that he would do such a thing for her...

Chapter 1347 I Haven't Worn A Dress For A Long Time

Rosalie crouched in the backseat and peeked at the trunk.

There was an exquisitely packaged black box placed in the most conspicuous place.

It was the brand of undergarments she had been wearing before.

This brand was only available locally and was only sold in stores. After Rosalie went abroad, there was no opportunity to buy it.

After she came back, she never had the time to visit the store.

At the thought of Byron visiting a lingerie store with his poker face, Rosalie was intrigued.

She really could not imagine such a scene...

As the box was in the trunk, Rosalie was inexplicably relieved.

Fortunately, he did not bring it to the backseat. If those two little boys saw it, it was uncertain how Byron would explain the box.

If he told the little ones exactly what was inside, Rosalie would not know how to face those two boys...

She just hesitated for a while, then raised her hand and brought the box over.

Byron had already bought the undergarments, and the dress could not get wet. Although she felt a little embarrassed, she had to put them on.

When she tried on the undergarments, Rosalie blushed again.

She tried several times and barely managed to put them on. However, they were still very tight...

She never expected that Byron not only bought the brand she liked six years ago but also bought her size from six years ago!

After giving birth, her body changed a lot. Her size from six years ago was too small now...

However, she could only make do with it.

Rosalie simply put on the new dress and put away the clothes that she and the two boys had changed out of. She only opened the door to get out of the car when the embarrassment in her heart almost faded.

“Mommy is so beautiful!”

The little ones were being led by Byron to tread water on the nearby beach.

When Rosalie got out of the car, the little ones immediately noticed her clothes, and their eyes lit up.

Rosalie's skin was already as fair as milk, and she was dressed in sea blue, which made her glow.

Her seaweed-like long hair scattered behind her head. A gust of sea breeze blew, and her long hair fluttered with the hem of the dress.

There was a light smile on Rosalie's face, and her pretty figure was clearly outlined by the skirt.

Looking at the little woman in front of him, Byron's eyes darkened slightly.

'This woman is so alluring in this style of dress!

'Six years ago, she came to this beach wearing a sundress so many times. I don't know how many people have seen her like this!

'And I'm only noticing it now!'

'Mr. Byron!'

Nox wanted to make up for his previous mistakes and create opportunities for the two adults. "The dress you picked is really suitable for Mommy!"

Byron came back to his senses and smiled at the little boy absently, his eyes always on Rosalie.

Rosalie's shyness, which had been suppressed with great difficulty, was brought forth by Nox's words.

Rosalie's eyes flashed as she realized that the man was staring at her nonstop. She turned her head in embarrassment and thanked him softly. "Thank you, isn't the dress expensive? How much is it? I'll transfer it to you later."

Byron asked instead, "Do you like it?"

Rosalie felt a little emotional. "It's been a long time since I wore such dresses."

She raised her hand to straighten her hair that was blown by the wind, then turned her head to look at the seashore. She fell into a trance and felt as if she had returned to six years ago.

Only, this time she was not alone.

She had Byron and the children around her.

Byron looked at the way she looked at the sea. His eyes darkened, and he felt a bit of self-blame in his heart.

'Six years ago, this woman was like this, standing here alone.

'What was she thinking at that time?

'Was she blaming me?'

He raised his feet and walked to Rosalie. Looking at the woman in front of him, his eyes were filled with six years worth of distress and guilt.

When Rosalie turned her head, she saw the man in front of her. For a moment, she really felt like she had gone back in time, and the empty spot beside her was filled by him...

"What are you thinking?"

Byron saw the odd expression on her face and could not help asking.

Rosalie came back to her senses, froze for a few seconds, then smiled nonchalantly. 'It's nothing. I just feel that the ocean today seems very different.'

Otherwise, how could she have such a different state of mind?

Byron looked at her deeply. He suddenly stretched out his hand to pull her into his arms.

Behind him, the three little ones were taken aback for a moment.

Then they remembered how they had disrupted the adults when Daddy was hugging Mommy last time.

The little ones stretched out their little hands to cover their eyes, but their lips were all curved upward.

Nox could not help but peek through his fingers.

He saw Mommy seemingly stunned for a few seconds before reacting. She blushed and tried to shove Daddy's waist. "The kids are all here. Don't do this."

Byron buried his head in her neck and whispered, "They won't peek."

Rosalie frowned and wanted to say something, only to hear the kids' childish little voices.

"Mommy, we didn't see anything!"

Rosalie looked in the direction of the voices.

She saw three little ones standing opposite her in a row. They were covering their eyes with their hands very cooperatively at the moment, their little faces were full of smiles.

Obviously, although they were not seeing anything now, they saw everything they should have seen just now...

"They're not seeing anything." Byron also comforted her as if nothing had happened, and the strength in his arms tightened again.

Rosalie had no choice but to relax and let herself be held in his arms. "Okay then, what is it? Tell me quickly. The children are still waiting."

The emotion in Byron's eyes shifted and changed.

He did not know what he was feeling while he held this woman in his arms.

Maybe it was self-blame and guilt, or maybe he was just losing his self-control for her.

After a long time, he whispered into Rosalie's ear, "In the future, can you just wear this kind of dress only for me?"

This woman had a different kind of charm when she wore this kind of dress.

Moreover, Byron also wanted to make up for the things she could not express at the beach six years ago.

Rosalie's heart moved slightly.

She naturally understood the double meaning in Byron's words.

However, for a while, she still felt a little distorted.

“If you want to come to the beach again in the future, I’ll accompany you so that you won’t be alone.”

His big hands caressed her waist.

Rosalie only felt numbness in her waist. She suddenly came to her senses and finally dared to believe that this was reality.

She clenched her fingers tightly, lowered her eyes, and nodded with complicated emotions.

Upon receiving her response, Byron’s arms loosened slightly.

Rosalie thought that he was finally going to let go of her, but she never expected the man would close in for a kiss.

Seeing this, Rosalie looked at the little kids behind him in a panic and then avoided the man’s kiss without thinking.

Byron’s kiss failed, and he was a little dissatisfied.

Rosalie could only bite the bullet and clear her throat. ‘Okay, since you’re here too, let’s take the kids to have fun at the beach.’

Byron saw that the woman was only concerned about the kids, so he stopped pushing. “Let’s go.”

Hearing Daddy’s voice, the little ones slowly put down their hands and looked at Rosalie with a snickering smile.

Although they covered their eyes just now, they could hear them clearly with their ears!

‘Mommy promised to only wear this kind of dress in front of Daddy. Does that also mean that Mommy has Daddy in her heart?’

'No, Mommy already has Daddy in her heart, but because of Grandma, she refuses to agree to Daddy's marriage proposal...'

This thought made the smiles on Lucian and Nox's faces collapse.

In the next second, Daddy carried them into his arms and lifted them high.

The little boys were taken aback for a moment, and then they saw the sea in the distance. Their little faces were filled with smiles again!

Rosalie held Estie's hand.

The five of them took a leisurely walk by the beach.

After a while, the three little ones became restless. After being carried for a while, the boys felt bored and wanted to get out of Byron's arms.

Byron followed their wishes and put them down on the beach.

The three little kids chased each other and ran into the distance.

Rosalie was a little worried and followed quickly.

Byron chased two steps forward, then a thought came to him. He slowed down again and slowly followed behind them.

Seeing Rosalie playing with the little ones, a smile gradually appeared in Byron's eyes. He took out his mobile phone to take photos of them.

The woman always liked to take photos of the little ones when she was on vacation last time.

In hindsight, she must have wanted to record the little ones' growth.

Although she never mentioned it, Byron could also understand that this woman must also want to be involved in the children's growth.

However, no one could replace her position behind the camera, so she never had a chance to appear in the photos.

Rosalie only played with the little ones for a while and then retreated out of the fun.

She also wanted to continue playing with them, but in that case, she would have to bend over, and the tight undergarments would become even tighter.

Rosalie was afraid that if she forced herself for a long time, her bra straps would snap...

She blushed and called out to the little ones. "I'm a little tired. You go ahead and have fun."

Fortunately, the little ones did not ask too much.

They just want to let Daddy and Mommy have more time to be alone!

"What's wrong? Are you not feeling well?"

As she walked toward him with a strange expression, Byron put away his mobile phone and worriedly looked at the woman in front of him.

When he took the photos just now, he barely took his eyes off her. He also noticed that she would behave strangely from time to time. After she bent down, she would always stand up for a while. That kept happening on a high frequency.

'I wonder if she isn't feeling too well.'

Hearing the man's voice, Rosalie's face turned redder. "It's nothing..."

'I can't just tell Byron that the undergarments he bought are a little too small...'

Just thinking about it, Rosalie felt embarrassed.

Byron frowned deeply and raised his hand to check the temperature of her forehead, thinking she had caught a cold.

However, he felt nothing unusual.

"There's no fever, so what's wrong?"

Rosalie bit her lip, ashamed to speak.

Byron was really worried. "Why don't we just call it a day? Let's go back first and I'll take you to the hospital for a check-up."

Hearing this, Rosalie looked up at the little ones who were having fun in the distance.

'I'm not sure if it's Byron's arrival that gave them a sense of security, but the little ones look much happier than before.

'The little ones finally came out to play this time, and I really can't bear to spoil their moods.'

Thinking of this, Rosalie bit the bullet and rejected Byron's suggestion. "I'm not sick. It's just that the clothes don't fit well, and it's inconvenient for me to move around..."

Byron looked at her deeply with scrutiny in his eyes.

His eyes almost scanned through her whole body. "Where do the clothes not fit well? Are they too loose?"

Rosalie nodded indiscriminately.

After a while, the man's slightly displeased voice sounded in her ears. "If the dress is loose, it shouldn't be inconvenient for you to play with them. When I hugged you just now, the clothes fit you well."

Rosalie's cheek became more and more flushed. She raised her eyes and stared at him helplessly.

She had made her words so clear, but this man was still suspicious of her.

'Do I have to be literal about this?'

Byron looked into her annoyed gaze with a somewhat ambiguous smile on his face. He approached Rosalie step by step.

Before Rosalie had time to retreat, the man had already stood in front of her and asked her in a low voice, "Is it because the undergarments don't fit?"

As he spoke, his eyes wandered around her chest.

Rosalie subconsciously raised her hand to protect that area.

The next second, she heard the man's teasing chuckle again.

"I bought them according to your order receipt six years ago, but I forgot that you've had babies. Sorry, I was negligent."

Rosalie felt that the tips of her ears become hot. She turned her head to the side discreetly, trying to keep her ears away from his hot breath.

Yet Byron's voice pursued her ears. "But I can't be blamed for all of it. After all, you didn't give me a chance to take your measurements. If I had done it, I'd definitely remember and wouldn't buy the wrong size next time."

Rosalie's knees jerked at his bold and shameless words.

'I haven't seen you for six years. Why are you getting even more shameless?

'Is this still the Byron Lawrence I know?'

In addition to being flustered, her heart beat faster and faster. She was panicking to the point that she dared not look up at Byron's face.

Fortunately, Byron did not intend to push so hard.

Seeing her flustered, he smiled and looked away. He took out his phone from his pocket. "Since it's inconvenient for you to move around, would you like to look at the photos I just took?"

Like a frightened rabbit, Rosalie just wanted a hole to burrow herself in. She could not hear a word he said.

Byron frowned slightly, but he was not bothered by it. "The children are always very happy when they play with you."

Rosalie's eyes flickered at the mention of the kids.

"This photo, Estie's smile looks just like yours."

Byron flipped through the photos one by one, talking and commenting unhurriedly. His peripheral vision was tightly locked on Rosalie's face.

Everytime he mentioned the little ones, the woman's eyes shifted a little closer to his side.

"Let me see..."

Finally, Rosalie could not help but want very much to see the photo of herself and Estie smiling. She cautiously approached Byron.

To Byron, it felt like he had caught his target. Byron enjoyed the sense of accomplishment of attracting his target. He did not make things difficult for her anymore and handed the phone directly to her.

Rosalie eagerly took it and looked at the photo of herself and the little girl without blinking, her heart deeply touched.
