My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1351–Mommy Is Pretty

This was the first time that she has a photo with her three children.

Especially, after knowing that Little Estie was actually the child she thought had died young.

'Thank you.'

She could not help but thank the man.

Byron saw the woman's slightly trembling hands; he reached out and pulled her into her arms. If you really want to thank me, then quickly consider my proposal. I lied to you, in fact, I can't wait anymore. It's been six years and I don't want to wait any longer.'

Rosalie lowered her eyes and remained silent without answering, her eyes were full of guilt.

Byron seemed to understand her silence, he let go of his hand helplessly, and smiled at her. "It's okay, I can wait for a while. I believe you are not willing to make me wait too long."

Rosalie lowered her eyes, not knowing how to answer him.

On the other side, the little ones finally had enough fun and ran over to find the two adults.

"Mommy, what were you looking at just now?"

Nox sensed that the atmosphere between Mommy and Daddy was not right, so he immediately helped to change the subject, grabbing Rosalie's arm to look at the phone in her hand.

Rosalie breathed a sigh of relief, lowered her body cooperatively, and showed the little boy the photos.

Nox originally wanted to help Daddy out of the siege, but he did not expect Daddy's photo was so beautiful, he was captivated by it for a while.

'Wow! Mommy! Little sister and you have the same smile!'

The little boy saw the photos of his mother and sister's smiling faces and his little face was full of surprise. "We didn't notice this before!"

Rosalie also saw that photo just now and felt a burst of emotion in her heart.

After a while, she came to a conclusion. "Mommy is pretty!"

Nox puffed his cheeks. "Of course! Because Uncle Byron took this! Since when is Mommy ever not pretty?"

After he said that, he turned around to comfort his younger sister like an old grandpa. "But it's also because you haven't grown up yet. When you grow up, you will be as pretty as Mommy!"

Hearing this, Little Estie glanced at Rosalie beside her. The thought that she would be so good-looking in the future made her smile with her eyes happily!

Rosalie smiled and patted their little heads and turned to Byron. "The kids should be hungry too, let's call it a day today, and find a place to eat."

After that, she turned her head toward the kids to ask for their opinions.

The three little ones were indeed hungry, and they nodded repeatedly when they heard this.

Byron didn't say anything more except, "I've already booked the restaurant, let's go."

They got into the car together.

The three little ones crowded in the back, and Rosalie sat in the front passenger's seat.

"What is this?"

The little ones just saw the lingerie box and looked at the adults in front of them curiously.

Rosalie suddenly remembered that after changing her underwear, she forgot to put the box away!

Faced with the little ones' questions, she was so flustered that she did not know how to answer them.

Byron's nonchalant voice sounded next to her ears. "That box's for clothes, help me toss it in the trunk please."

The little boys agreed, soon there was a movement in the back, and the box was chucked into the trunk.

Rosalie breathed a sigh of relief and raised her eyes to thank him, but she met his smiling eyes.

Looking at each other, Rosalie was slightly taken aback, her face flushed.

‘Thank you.’

She thanked vaguely, turned her head away, and tried to calm the restlessness in her heart.

The restaurant that Byron made a reservation at was not far from the beach.

In just twenty minutes, they had already arrived at the entrance of the restaurant.

Rosalie got out of the car with the three little ones, while Byron went to find a parking spot.

“Isn't that Rosalie Jacobs? How dare she come out?”

A foreign voice was heard.

Rosalie looked in the direction of the sound in puzzlement.

She saw two people who had just come out of the restaurant, pointing at her, and oddly staring at the three little ones beside her.

“That's her two children, right? The girl next to her is President Lawrence's daughter?”

The two gossiped as they walked past her, as if she did not exist.” President Lawrence actually gave the child to her, how generous.”

Rosalie heard what they said clearly and felt uneasy for no reason.

Not sure if it was her illusion, everyone who passed by them seemed to look at them with strange eyes.

Lucian and Nox naturally heard it too, and at the same time noticed the stares of others.

Nox looked anxiously at his brother, worried there would be another problem with the public opinion on the Internet.

'Otherwise, why do these people look at us like this?'

Lucian's face was tense, like a wary little beast, he took two steps forward calmly, and stood in front of Rosalie.

When Byron came over, he saw that the four people who were still smiling just now had put on expressions as if they were facing a formidable enemy.

"What's wrong?"

He frowned and asked.

Rosalie's heart inexplicably settled down as she saw him coming. She shook her head. "It's nothing, let's go in."

Maybe it really was her illusion. After all, those people were strangers to her, so there was no need to be so aggressive toward her.

The two entered the restaurant with the kids.

Perhaps because of Byron's presence, those who looked at them strangely turned their eyes away one after another.

Rosalie also secretly heaved a sigh of relief.

In order to divert attention, she brought up Estie's arrangement instead.

"Can Estie stay with me for two more days?" Rosalie looked at the man in front of her.

Estie also stared at her Daddy eagerly. "Daddy, Estie wants to be with Mommy!"

Byron patted the little girl's head. "Yes, but you have to listen to Mommy and don't cause trouble for her."

Hearing this, Estie nodded obediently, with a smile on her little face.

Rosalie frowned helplessly. "It's not the same now, Estie is my daughter, how could there be any trouble..."

Moreover, she never regarded the little girl as trouble.

Byron knew that he had made a slip of the tongue and smiled at her apologetically. "I've mistaken."

Rosalie was only complaining at first, but when she saw that he admitted his mistake so quickly, she was taken aback for a moment, and burst out laughing as well.

However, the eyes of the man on the opposite side slowly sank.

Byron could clearly sense that from the time they sat down, people looked at them from time to time, and the gazes made him feel very disgusted.

He turned his head slightly and met the eyes of the neighboring table who had not looked back.

Their eyes met, the man trembled in panic, and wanted to look away, but it was too late.

"What are you looking at?"

Byron stood up with a cold face and walked to the man at the next table.

The man waved his hands with a guilty face. "Nothing! I didn't see anything!

I don't know anything..."

Byron narrowed his eyes dangerously and scanned around the restaurant.

Everyone saw that he actually went to settle accounts with that man, they looked away with guilt.

The man looked at the person standing in front of him and was so frightened that he held his breath.

He was not actually malicious.

He just saw the public opinion on the Internet and was curious about how they got along.

He thought, 'Since Rosalie brought two sons of unknown origin, Byron should have some grudges against her.'

But he never expected Byron seemed to love Rosalie deeply from the way they got along, which surprised him very much.

Moreover, Rosalie herself does not look as scheming as the Internet public opinion portrayed...

"I don't care what you're thinking, just watch your eyes and don't disturb our meal."

Byron suddenly remembered something, warned the man, and ordered the waiter to arrange a private room for them.

"What happened?"

Rosalie felt uneasy.

Byron smiled reassuringly. "It's nothing, you all carry on first, I need to make a phone call."

After that, he turned around, left the private room, and called Luther.

The other end quickly picked up. "Master."

Byron's face was tense, a storm cloud brewing above him. "What's the public opinion on the Internet now?"

Luther's tone was slightly ridden with guilt. "The opinion is now one-sided, and they are all attacking the Young Lady. I've already got a team to deal with it. In addition, I am also investigating the source of gossip."

The public opinion had clearly stabilized just now, but for some unknown reason, an opposing opinion suddenly appeared.

Luther was in a hurry to deal with it and knowing that his master was with the young lady, he did not dare to call to disturb him.

Instead, the young master actually called to ask.

Byron's face darkened. "How long has it been? Why didn't you tell me earlier?"

Luther lowered his head and dared not answer.

At the same time, in the private room, Rosalie also received a call from her assistant Linda.

Linda had been staying abroad, but after Yves' incident, Rosalie was afraid that she would be too busy, so she asked for Linda to come back from abroad.

During this time, the contact between the two was all research institute- related matters.

When Linda called suddenly, Rosalie thought it was about the research institute, so she picked it up without thinking.

"Dr. Jacobs, have you offended someone?"

On the other hand, Linda's words made Rosalie a little puzzled. "What happened?"

Linda briefly talked about the public opinion on the Internet, and finally made a conclusion. "I think these public opinions on the Internet are obviously targeted, and someone is doing a smear campaign behind your back."

As she listened to the assault on the Internet, Rosalie's expression gradually became serious.

She can probably guess who was behind it.

Except for Wendy Fuller, no one would use words like "mistress" to insult her.

Linda's voice continued. "I originally thought that this is your private matter, and I don't need to intervene, but this matter has affected the reputation of the institute. We know that this is someone else's smear campaign, but the public wouldn't know. Many partners have already asked to terminate the contract with us because of this matter, as they are worried that your reputation will collapse, and they will be implicated."

Hearing this, Rosalie's heart suddenly sank to the bottom, "I understand, this incident is indeed my personal reason, please negotiate with them about the termination of the contract first, I will handle things on my side as soon as possible."

Linda agreed.

Byron came in after his call, and saw Rosalie's head down, looking at something on her mobile phone.

From the awful expression on the little woman's face, Byron frowned slightly, he could probably guess what she was reading.

'You knew already?'

He stepped forward and sat down beside Rosalie.

Rosalie still lowered her eyes and saw that the posts on the interface were still being refreshed, full of insults from those people towards her.

Also, there were speculations about Lucian and Nox's true identity.

She could endure other people's abuse toward her, but Rosalie could not help feeling guilty when she saw her children being dragged down by her. 1

"Mommy, what's wrong with you?"

Estie knew nothing about the public opinion on the Internet, so she leaned over and wanted to express her concern.

Only then did Rosalie come back to her senses, put away her phone in a hurry, and smiled at the little one as if nothing had happened. "It's nothing, let's eat quickly."

After she said that, she gave Lucian and Nox an apologetic look.

The two little boys probably guessed that the public opinion on the Internet has changed again.

The look Mommy gave them, presumably because public opinion has involved them.

The little ones did not want to worry their mommy, so they also pretended to be ignorant and smiled sweetly at her.

Nox secretly clenched his small fists.

It must be that bad woman playing tricks again. When he goes back to get the computer, he must teach her a lesson!

"I'm so sorry, I didn't handle it well."

Byron looked at the little woman in front of him with deep distress.

Before he came in just now, he had also read the public opinion on the Internet, which was full of abuse and belittlement toward Rosalie.

After seeing this, she would be very sad too!

Rosalie glanced at the little ones, and said quietly, "Let's talk about it after dinner."

She really did not want the kids to know about it.

Byron knew what she was thinking, nodded with a heavy heart, and did not say anything after that.

Due to the change to a private room, their meal was exceptionally quiet.

Lucian and Nox were worried about the public opinion, so they were not in the mood to play around, and just ate quietly.

It was a dull meal.

After dinner, Byron sent them back to Rosalie's house directly.

Rosalie asked the little ones to go upstairs first, while she and Byron sat downstairs.

"Sorry, I didn't handle this matter well. I didn't expect that Wendy would dare to play tricks after being taught a lesson."

The mention of Wendy sent Byron's eyes filled with repressed anger.

That woman, he only hated himself for not dealing with it in his own way!

Rosalie lowered her eyes. "I don't care about what's been said about me on the Internet, this isn't the first time. However, I hope that this matter will not involve Lucian and Nox, they are innocent."

Byron felt a dull pain in his heart. "I know, I will settle it as soon as possible. ■

With that said, he looked at the little woman in front of him, and with a vague emotion, he asked cautiously, "It's been so long, now, can you tell me who the father of Lucian and Nox is?"

Every time he pictured this woman with other men, Byron couldn't hold back his anger.

Not to mention that she gave birth to another man's children!

However, now he just wants to keep her by his side.

Even if Byron cared about the past, he could only pretend that he did not care.

Those two children also had Rosalie's blood in them.

He would treat them as his own children.

He just could not help but wonder who that man was!

Rosalie's face was visibly flustered for a moment when she heard this question.

Lucian and Nox's father... was right in front of her, but she did not know how to tell him.

For a long while, Byron did not get an answer and understood what she meant. "It's fine if you don't want to tell me, I can find out myself, and I will always find it."

Rosalie frowned slightly, then subconsciously stopped him. "No, don't do it. IV

Hearing this, Byron's face darkened slightly.

'I can't even find out the identity of that man!'

Rosalie lowered her eyes to hide the complicated emotions in her eyes.' When the time comes, I will tell you personally, you don't need to investigate." 2

She must be the one to reveal to him the true identity of the two little boys herself.

If Byron found out, she could not imagine the man's reaction.

Byron was silent for a long time, and finally agreed looking at her anxious face. "Alright, then I will wait for you to tell me."

He had already prepared for the worst, and even wondered if this woman had been taken advantage of.

He believed in Rosalie's love for him six years ago, and he did not think she would move on so soon.

'These two children were likely to be forced upon her...'

Byron's self-blame and remorse increased at the thought of this possibility.

Rosalie did not know what was going on in his heart, so she smiled gratefully at him.

However, Byron could not bear to look at her like this anymore, so he stood up and said goodbye, "You take good care of the kids, I will take care of the public opinion, don't worry."

During these six years, he had no chance to protect her.

Now that they are finally together, Byron will never allow anyone to hurt her again!

After speaking, he turned around and strode away.

Rosalie watched him leave, then turned and walked upstairs.

The little ones are in Lucian and Nox's bedroom.

Estie was distracted by the two little boys and was playing with toys beside them.

Lucian and Nox huddled together next to the computer, reading the salty public opinion on the Internet.

"Mommy is not like that!"

Nox clenched his fists angrily. "It must be that bad woman; I will teach her a lesson!"

As he said that, the little boy pulled the laptop onto his lap, and was about to fight back when suddenly there was a knock on the door.

The little ones looked at each other, quickly closed the computer, and opened the door with cute smiles on their faces.

Rosalie stood at the door, "There is something wrong with the computer in the study room, can Mommy use your laptop?"

These two little boys were highly intelligent. As long as they look at the computer, they will definitely find the chaos on the Internet.

Rosalie really did not want them to be involved.

The only way she could come up with was to confiscate their laptop for the time being.

The little ones also guessed what their mommy was thinking, and they were very reluctant.

'That bad woman bullied Mommy so much, they haven't had the chance to teach her a lesson!'

However, they recalled what Daddy said in the restaurant. The little ones felt relieved again.

‘Daddy will never let that bad woman off easily!’

Thinking of this, the little ones finally let go.

“Okay, but I was watching the stock market just now, Mommy, wait a moment.”

Lucian said as if nothing had happened, went back and turned on the laptop, cleared all their browsing traces, and then handed the laptop to Rosalie.

Rosalie breathed a sigh of relief when she got the computer. “Then Mommy’s going to get some work done. Take good care of your sister.”

The little ones obediently agreed.

As they watched mommy carry the computer into the study, the faces of the little ones gradually collapsed again.

‘Hopefully, Daddy can teach that bad woman a lesson for us...’

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1356–Spit It All Out

Wendy’s glee was short lived. In the evening of that day, the public opinion on the Internet reversed again.

The Lawrence Corporation issued an announcement again, clearly stating the reasons for the dissolution of engagement between the Lawrence and Fuller families. The corporation also issued a warning to those who posted public opinions on the Internet.

[The annulment of the engagement was mainly due to Miss Wendy’s personal character, which makes it difficult for her to be the young lady of the Lawrence family.]

The statement caused an uproar on the Internet.

[For a family as big as the Lawrence family, they sure are generous with their words. Wendy may have done something terrible behind the scenes. The Lawrence family’s announcement only said that it was a matter of character, just to save her the embarrassment!]

[So who is the problem between Wendy and Rosalie?]

[Do you even need to ask? Wasn't Lawrence's announcement clear as day? Wendy's the problem! That wave of public opinion may be directed and orchestrated by her!]

For a time, there was an uproar on the Internet.

Everyone was still curious about Lucian and Nox's identity, but because of the warning issued by Lawrence Corporation, no one dared to speak of it again.

Once the turmoil on the Internet subsided, Rosalie secretly breathed a sigh of relief. Although Byron had promised to solve this matter before leaving, she did not expect him to deal with it so quickly.

Moreover, Byron actually filed a lawsuit in the name of Lawrence Corporation against those who slander against her...

'This is almost equivalent to announcing their relationship publicly.'

Rosalie felt strange thinking of this.

Since the matter had been resolved, she had no reason to hold on to the little ones' laptop, so she returned them.

When they got the computer back, their first reaction was to check the Internet.

Those abusive posts towards Rosalie have been deleted completely under Byron's warning.

The latest announcement of the Lawrence Corporation appeared at the top of the entry. Everyone who clicked in can see it.

The little ones naturally did not miss it either.

First, they saw their father turn the narrative and implicitly scolded Wendy for her poor character, so they could not help but applaud their Daddy.

Sure enough, this matter still needed to be handed over to Daddy. If it was left to their devices, how could they have such a big influence over this matter?

Immediately afterwards, the little ones saw that their father wanted to collect evidence and file a lawsuit against those people. 1

Seeing this, the little ones naturally took on the task of collecting evidence.

Barely half an hour, the boys collected the evidence in a compressed zip file, packaged it and sent it anonymously to the Lawrence Corporation.

Those who have verbally attacked Mommy, they will not let go!

The compressed package sent by the little boys also contained evidence of Wendy's bribe to the media company.

There was only 50 million, and the final payment of 10 million has not yet been paid.

On the other side, after Luther received the compressed package, he immediately reported it to Byron.

Byron was furious when he saw the evidence that Wendy bribed the media company!

He long thought that Wendy must have bribed some media company, which is being investigated thoroughly.

However, he never expected that someone could check it faster than them!

"Master, look..." Luther said cautiously when he saw his young master getting angry.

Byron said coldly, "This company likes money so much that they will not hesitate to go against the Lawrence Corporation for money, so let them spit out all the money they ate!"

Luther complied awe-inspiringly.

He knew that the so-called money from what his young master mentioned was not only the 50 million that Wendy sent, but also every penny that the company had earned since its establishment!

Since this company even dared to bully the young lady, they are completely toast in the future!

Luther was about to turn around to work, but his young master's voice sounded again.

“Where did this compressed package come from?”

Byron looked at the computer screen.

Piles and piles of evidence inside were far more detailed than those sorted out by the Corporation’s technicians.

In fact, those with the most vicious comments on the Internet, their real personal information was even sorted out in the zip file.

As long as Lawrence Corporation filed the lawsuits, every lawsuit will be accepted!

Reminiscent of this person’s previous two strikes, Byron’s heart was doubtful.

Not sure if this person was just targeting Wendy, or because he wants to protect Rosalie.

‘If it’s the latter, it’s really necessary for me to find out!’

Hearing his master’s question, Luther’s face was flustered. “The technicians are still checking...”

Come to think of it, this should be the same person who spread the counter public opinion in the morning.

He did not know who this was.

The Corporation’s technical staff was already one of the best in the country, especially the department head, who ranked third on the hacker list.

However, even he could not find him.

While curious about that person’s identity, Luther was stressed out for his young master.

His young lady disappeared for six years, and after she came back, there were many outstanding men around her.

This time, it was unclear what relationship this mysterious master hacker has with his young lady.

‘Please don’t let it be another love rival...’

Byron’s expression became darker, and he ordered coldly. “According to the list in this compressed package, file a lawsuit against these people. In addition, find this person for me at all costs!”

Even if Byron does not consider the relationship between Rosalie and this person, because of his hacking skills, Byron must find out his reasons!

To let such an elusive hacker, wander outside, who knows that one day he will attack Lawrence Corporation!

Luther quickly agreed. "Yes, I'll deal with it now!"

After that, he quickly turned and left.

That night, Thalassa Media Company declared bankruptcy.

At the same time, Henry Fuller received a call from Byron.

He thought that Melody had pleaded with Byron for them after returning home and answered the phone expectantly. "Hello Byron, what's the matter?"

On the other end, Byron's voice was simmering with hidden anger." Director Fuller, watch your daughter, don't let her do more stupid things to challenge my limit! Otherwise, Fuller Industries' final fate will definitely not be good!"

Hearing this, Henry's confident expectation was extinguished abruptly. The older man asked anxiously. "What's wrong with Wendy? Please make it clear, I will discipline her properly!"

Byron retorted coldly, "You don't even know what she did. I think your apology that day was just empty words to me! Then don't blame me for not giving you any remaining mercy!"

Henry was full of anxiety and was about to ask for clarification, but the other end had already hung up the phone!

From Byron's words just now, Henry's panic had nowhere to go, and finally turned into anger.

'Wendy Fuller!

'She just ran out this morning and did something stupid!

'To actually provoked Byron like this!

After hanging up the phone, Henry angrily walked upstairs.

At the same time. Wendy sat in the bedroom with a long face.

After she contacted the media company, she came back home and watched the show unfold all day, feeling very refreshed.

She never expected that public opinion would reverse again at night!

Wendy's face twisted in anger upon seeing Lawrence Corporation's new announcement at the top of the news feed.

The statement which explained her character was the reason they broke off the engagement.

'How could Byron have the heart to do this to me!'

[I've met Wendy Fuller, she's really not a good character, she always judges people, as if we are all inferior to her!]

[I've even heard her verbally abuse the daughter of the Lawrence family! Calling the child dumb! At that time, they hadn't broken off their engagement, so I thought I had mistaken the wrong person. Looks like it really was Wendy Fuller! No wonder President Lawrence wants to dump her!]

[]

Wendy scrolled down the feed, the more she looked, the uglier his face became.

'Everyone cast stones on the downtrodden, and now even random nobodies have come to stomp on me!

'What do they know!

'This is all the work of that b*tch! Who knows what she said to Byron again!

'It's obviously that b*tch's fault, so why scold me?!'

Wendy was going crazy!

Just when she was about to contact the media company to attack Rosalie in return, the person in charge of the company called first.

“Hey, you called right on time, send me the draft in the morning...”

Before Wendy finished speaking, she was rudely interrupted from the other end.

“Miss Fuller, didn’t you say you won’t implicate our company? What’s going on now?”

Wendy’s voice stopped abruptly, she was stunned for a few seconds before she frowned and asked, “What’s wrong? What happened?”

The voice of the person in charge sounded like he was hiding somewhere, a low whisper, but not any less annoyed.

“President Lawrence’s assistant personally brought people to our company and brought evidence of our company’s previous legal misdemeanors!

They want to send us all to jail and seal up our company!”

Wendy suddenly felt a chill in her heart.

On the other end, the person in charge continued. “Now our company is bankrupt, and I have no money! What about the 10 million balance payment you agreed on? Transfer it to me immediately! I need money to run...”

Before he finished speaking, Wendy hung up the phone directly.

Wendy belatedly remembered, ‘If Luther actually led someone to the Thalassa media company, does that mean that Byron has already discovered that I did this?’

This possibility made Wendy break out in a cold sweat.

Byron just said that he would send her to jail because of what she did to Rosalie.

‘If he knew that I did this again, Byron would not let me go!’

Just when she was terrified, the broken bedroom door pushed open.

Wendy quickly put away her phone and looked toward the door.

Her father strode in from the outside with a gloomy expression.

“Dad “

Wendy was already guilty; her tone was even more erratic seeing her father like this.

Henry stared at her sullenly. “What did you do again?!”

Wendy shivered, subconsciously trying to hide it. "I don't understand what you are talking about..."

Before she even finished, Henry grabbed her by the neck and picked her up from the bed!

"You didn't do anything? Then why did Byron suddenly tell me to watch over you? If you didn't do anything, then why Byron suddenly told me that Fuller Industries' final fate ending will not be good? You really think everyone is a fool, don't you!"

Henry's eyes were red, and his whole body was shrouded in anger.

Wendy could hardly breathe. "Dad, let me go, please... I know I'm wrong..."

Henry was so angry that he lost his mind.

"You rebellious child! What did I tell you?! I told you not to provoke Rosalie Jacobs! Why didn't you listen?! You want the whole family to be buried with you, don't you?!"

While speaking, Henry tightened his grip more and more.

Wendy felt that she was about to suffocate, and her hands fluttered wildly.

With a bang, she swiped something that fell on the ground.

Magdalene overheard the ruckus and thought that her daughter was losing her temper again, so she hurried over to try to appease her.

Just as she walked to the door, she saw her husband almost strangling their daughter to death!

"Henry, what are you doing?!"

Magdalene felt her legs go weak and rushed to free Wendy out of Henry's shackles.

Wendy fell to the ground, panting heavily while holding her neck.

“What happened? Wasn’t everything fine this afternoon? Melody also promised to help us plead with Byron. What kind of temper are you throwing?”

Magdalene comforted her daughter distressingly and complained to Henry in dissatisfaction.

Henry shouted angrily. “Why did I lose my temper?! Why don’t you ask this rebellious child of yours, what did she do to incur Byron’s wrath again! Forget Melody, even if Director Lawrence personally came forward, he can’t help us either!”

Hearing this, Magdalene’s hand on Wendy’s back suddenly stopped, and she looked at her daughter in disbelief. “What did you do again?”

Wendy’s face was full of madness. “I did nothing wrong! That b*tch asked for it! She provoked me first!”

Immediately after, Henry slapped her to the ground. “You still don’t know how to repent! From now on, you just stay at home! Don’t even think about going out!”

Wendy fell to the ground covering her face, her eyes were filled with gloom.

‘Rosalie Jacobs, it’s all because of that b*tch!

‘I will never let that b*tch go!’

Byron did what he said and did not give Fuller Industries any time to breathe.

In just a few hours, almost all of the Fuller Industries’ business partners proposed to terminate their contract on the grounds that the Fuller family might damage their reputation.

Fuller Industries could not even obtain a single liquidated damages and might even face a huge compensation!

That night, many relatives of the Fuller family gathered in the living room of Henry’s house.

“Henry, what did Wendy do that the Lawrence family is targeting us heavily now?”

Some of them were quite calm, asking Henry for clarification to see if matters could be remedied.

However, Henry could not guarantee.

The engagement between Wendy and Byron was not very supported by the family members.

Initially, everyone was very willing for the two families to be bound by marriage in order to gain the long-term support of the Lawrence family.

But after seeing Byron's attitude in the past few years, they all proposed to the Fuller family to dissolve the engagement. At that time, on behalf of the old man's past kindness, Byron will definitely continue to support the Fuller family. However, the engagement became a long-drawn affair that has completely drained Byron's patience.

Alas, Henry's family did not believe in superstitions, and always took chances.

Unexpectedly, the prophecy came true in the end, the Lawrence family turned against the Fuller family and suppressed them by any means!

"No matter what the reason is, our Fuller family has come to this now! The Lawrence family is not planning to stop! If they continue to target us like this, the Fuller family will be the next Hudson family!"

Someone roared furiously. "Your family caused this! Tell me, what are you going to do now?!"

Henry tried to appease him with a smiling face. "Yes, I will get Wendy to come down and apologize to everyone."

After saying that, he asked Magdalene to call his daughter downstairs.

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1360—A Bunch Of Blood-sucking Leeches

Wendy came down from upstairs, and saw her father surrounded by a group of relatives, pointing fingers and questioning him.

"What are you doing?!"

Wendy could not help but shot back.

In the past, their family was superior to others in the whole family. When did they suffer such grievances!

Hearing her voice, everyone turned their heads and turned their attention to her.

“You still have the cheeks to ask? If you hadn’t offended Byron, how could the Fuller family have fallen to where it is today? The Fuller family was founded by the old man alone, not your family’s monopoly! Your family caused trouble, why should we suffer along with your misdeeds?”

Wendy’s face was still red and swollen, the finger marks on her neck had not dissipated yet. She looked downright disheveled and embarrassed.

Upon the relative’s questioning, Wendy felt her hands trembling with anger. “What are you talking about now? Didn’t you ride along our coattails when the Fuller family was prosperous in the past?”

If it were not for her engagement with Byron, where would the Fuller family’s glory come from?

These people are so shameless to stand here and bite the hand that feeds them!

Everyone looked at each other, not knowing how to refute.

Henry finally heaved a sigh of relief, but he still felt apologetic, and stood in the middle of the crowd miserably. “Wendy, apologize to all the uncles!” Wendy’s voice became hoarse with anger. “Why should I apologize? I didn’t do anything wrong! Did they thank us when they took advantage of us?!”

‘These bloodsuckers! One more disgusting than the other!’

Every word Wendy spoke hit a raw nerve with all the relatives. Each of them just looked at each other.

Finally, someone was willing to slow down his tone. “The most important thing now is to find a way to solve Fuller family’s crisis. It will be useless to continue arguing like this.”

Someone immediately echoed. “Yes, we are not here to quarrel today, we want everyone to find a way to solve the crisis!”

Henry sat down on the sofa wearily. “What do you suggest?”

As long as the Fuller family still exists, Byron will not let them go!

Henry had dealt with it all day and had no energy left.

The living room fell into silence again at the talk of a solution.

After a while, someone suddenly said, “The Lawrence family is targeting your family specifically, and the rest of us have not offended them. If you are willing to give up the management rights of the group and withdraw from the authoritative center, the Lawrence family will be more or less lenient to us!”

When that suggestion dropped, it immediately aroused everyone’s approval.

“We have absolutely no objection to your management of the Fuller Industries in the past, but what everyone said today is the truth. If you are unwilling to give up power, then we will all end up ruined along with your family!”

“As long as Fuller Industries is still here, there will always be a mouthful of food for you!”

Everyone echoed their words like stones, as if Henry’s family were sinners through the ages.

Henry bowed his head in silence, unable to refute.

Wendy yelled angrily seeing everyone forcing them like this. “Shut up, all of you! What are you! A bunch of blood-sucking leeches! How dare you point fingers at me!”

Everyone just looked at her and stopped talking, but they had already made up their minds, knowing that Henry would definitely do what they said.

Wendy looked at her father again, just about to persuade him to refuse.

“I see, just do as you say, I am willing to give up half of the shares in my hand.”

Before she could speak, Henry looked up at the crowd and made a compromise.
