

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 246

Best In The World The car gradually stopped at the door of Rosalie's house. Thinking of the boys at home, Rosalie forced her thoughts away and thanked Leon with a smile, "Thank you for everything, Leon." Leon nodded. He watched her get out of the car and said in a deep voice, "You should think about what I said."

Rosalie was stunned but nodded reluctantly.

Seeing Leon's car leave, Rosalie adjusted her mood before turning to open the door.

The moment she opened the door, she heard the sound of the children roughhousing with Mary.

Rosalie inexplicably felt her mood improve greatly just from hearing their voices, and the smile on her face became more genuine.

"Mommy!" Lucian was the first to see her and immediately got out of the scuffle. He ran over to hug her leg.

Nox and Mary were still roughhousing each other. They only noticed the person at the door when they heard Lucian's voice. They immediately stopped to welcome her. The two boys hugged her legs on each side. Rosalie smiled and caressed their heads, "Have you two been good to your godmother?"

The two boys nodded vigorously. "We have!"

Mary looked at them with fake exasperation. "They were so noisy. They were even clamoring to rob me of my mobile phone just now." The two boys looked up at their godmother angrily. "That's because Mommy wasn't back yet and we wanted to call her!"

Mary made a face at the two boys.

She knew what they were going to do when they asked her for her mobile phone just now. However, she also happened to have heard movement from outside and knew that Rosalie had returned Hence, she started playing around and teasing the boys,

Looking at the three of them bickering, Rosalie's gaze softened. "We didn't see each other for only one night and you guys already miss me?"

The two boys nodded vigorously. "Mommy wasn't here last night and we couldn't sleep!"

Mary pinched their small faces, "Didn't I coax you two to sleep?"

With his face being pinched, Lucian complained vaguely, "Godmother's voice is not lulling at all, and it made our sleepiness disappear!"

The boy said it so seriously

Mary raised her brow and could not help laughing

Rosalie was also amused by their banter, and all the depression she felt from before was forgotten.

The four began talking and laughing for a while. Rosalie looked at Mary with a smile. "These two days have been hard on you. They're so rambunctious."

Even Lucian, who had always been the more reserved one could cause quite the excitement when with Mary..

Mary glared at her angrily. "Why are you polite with me? I'm their godmother. Shouldn't I take care of my godsons? I can't wait to steal the two of them and raise them!"

The two boys solemnly replied, "If Godmother steals us, we'll run back by ourselves!" Mary flicked their foreheads and said to Rosalie, "These two are truly your sons. They're so clever."

The boys went over and grabbed Mary's hand with an obedient expression. "But we'll take good care of Godmother, who's the second best in the world!"

Even without asking, one would know who was the best in the world for them.

The smile on Rosalie's face grew.

Seeing that it was getting dark, Rosalie suggested. "Let's go out for dinner. What do you want to eat?"

Nox raised his hand. "I want to eat hot pot!"

The two boys grew up abroad. Mary had brought them to go eat surf 'n' turf several times after returning home, so they were now obsessed with it. Rosalie agreed with a smile and took the three of them out to dinner.
