

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 256

Soft-Hearted After arranging the accommodation, it was already evening. Miss Leigh Ann brought the parents to the dining hall the botanical garden had prepared for everyone.

Rosalie took the boys to go get their food.

There were a lot of the employees of the botanical garden in the restaurant, far more than when they got off the bus just now. Estie did not like it very much. She followed Rosalie all the way, and her eyes never left her.

Rosalie noticed the little girl's gaze and looked back, only to see her timid face. Heartache filled her own eyes. She simply had Lucian and Nox hold each other's hands while she held onto the little girl with one free hand.

The little girl saw her. Estie reached her hand out to hold Rosalie's, and without thinking, Rosalie stretched out her own hand to grab hold. Estie's eyes turned into crescents when she smiled. The delight on her face erased the timidness (from before)

Byron was worried about the little girl and kept following her. Seeing Rosalie holding her hand, he followed the woman with mixed feelings.

When getting their meal, Rosalie had to get food for the four of them on her own, which inevitably ended up being difficult for her to carry.

Just as she was thinking of putting them back and then coming back to line up, a big hand stretched out from behind her.

"I'll do it," Byron said in a deep voice.

Hearing this, Rosalie was stunned. She looked at the children at hand. Thinking that they must be hungry, she did not refuse. She handed the dinner plate to Byron and continued to get one more portion of food before finally even getting Byron's share.

When dining, Estie was hot on Rosalie's heels and sat close to her.

Rosalie sat at a table with the children, while Byron sat next to Estie,

Estie had her daddy on one side and the beautiful aunt on the other. She looked very happy,

The two boys sitting opposite them looked at the man beside Estie, but their hearts were filled with slight resentment

In such a situation, those who did not know better would think that they were a family!

Their bad daddy was already going to marry another woman. He did not want to be with Monny anymore.

Thinking of this, the boys were furious. They did not want to look at Byron anymore. They just bowed their heads and picked through their food

“LA, NO, cat” Estie scooped up a spoonful of food with a small spoon onto Lucian’s and Nox’s plates with a smile

The two boys were stunned for a moment They looked up and saw Estie taking her spoon Werbusly avain before scooping up some food for Byron and Rosalie from her own dinner plale she looked at both of them thaively “Daldy, eat Aunt, eat”

Seeing the little spoon stretched out in front of her, Rosalie softened.

If her little daughter had survived all those years ago, she would be as cute and sensible as this little girl.

Byron’s eyes darkened when he saw the child’s actions.

When the news came out last time, his mother had come to his house and asked if he had anything to do with Rosalie.

The little girl had looked at him expectantly back then and asked him if he was going to marry Rosalie, saying that she wanted Rosalie to be her own mommy.

He wondered if he had been disillusioned, but he always felt that every time the little girl interacted with Rosalie, she always looked at her as if she were her mother.

If the child were to find out that this Aunt Jacobs whom she liked was actually her birth mother

Thinking of this, Byron looked at the child beside him and the woman who was looking over her while she ate with a complicated expression.

Rosalie noticed the man’s complicated gaze and looked at him, puzzled.
