

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 268

Better Not Trouble Me “Hmmp!”

Nox also heard the praises for Wendy and snorted angrily.

Rosalie snapped back into reality and asked the little guy with some confusion, “What’s wrong?” Nox poked the food on his plate and answered sullenly, “I don’t like that aunt.” Rosalie could not help but be stunned for a moment when she heard this. “Why?” The little guy had only met Wendy twice. Where did such a big prejudice come from?

Nox looked up to see his Mommy and wanted to say it was because that woman wanted to marry Daddy and it was because of her that his dad left them behind.

However, he remembered that Mommy did not know that he and Lucian knew about this. He puffed his mouth, swallowed the words he was about to say, and answered, “Because she’s mean to Estie and Estie doesn’t like her.”

The mention of the kid made Rosalie’s heart ache a little, but she could not say anything. All she could do was placate them with a smile. “How could that be? She’s going to be Estie’s mother in the future. How could she be mean to Estie? Don’t overthink, you guys. Eat up.”

Nox lowered his head reluctantly and complained about Daddy in his heart. In what way was that aunt any better than Mommy that Daddy would even want to marry her? After lunch, Miss Leigh Ann organized for everyone to have a stroll nearby. Rosalie brought the kids out of the restaurant. Seeing how they were still moody, she thought of taking them somewhere to relax and suggested, “Can you bring me to see the place where you guys hid last night? I don’t even know how you both found the place.”

At the mention of yesterday’s hide-and-seek incident, the little guys only then barely pumped up their spirits and were ready to take Rosalie there.

Two steps into the walk and they heard Estie’s baby voice.

“Aunt...”

Without the company of the beautiful aunt and being around the mean aunt instead, Estie was in a bad mood while eating and did not eat much. When she saw Rosalie, her face lit up a little. Rosalie stopped in her tracks. She looked back and saw Byron and Wendy standing side by side behind the little kid.

Seeing how both of them complemented each other, Rosalie immediately retrieved her sight. Lucian and Nox also saw the couple. With a sullen face, they tugged on Rosalie’s hand. “Mommy, let’s go!”

They despised the sight of Daddy sticking together with that woman!

Rosalie nodded at the two little guys and looked down at Estie. “I’m bringing Lu and No for a walk. Be a good girl and go with Daddy.”

After speaking, she leaned over and patted her head. She then proceeded to walk away with the two little guys.

Estie looked at their backs eagerly. When she saw that the beautiful aunt did not intend on looking back, she turned around and tugged on Daddy's sleeve. Byron frowned a little and sternly called out to Rosalie, "Miss Jacobs, if you don't mind, shall we go together?"

Rosalie stopped in her tracks and turned to look back at the man, looking distant. "I don't mind taking a stroll with you and Miss Fuller, but I don't really feel like being a third wheeler. It's better that you don't trouble me, President Lawrence."

Without even giving him the chance to say a thing, Rosalie took the two little guys and strode away.

The sight of Rosalie and the two little guys turning their backs to leave made Byron's expression turn cold.

Fiancee, third-wheeler...

This lady always knew what to say to irritate him!

Estie could not comprehend why the beautiful aunt left just like that. On top of that, she absolutely disliked the bad aunt beside her too. She pouted her mouth as her eyes reddened. It seemed like she would burst into tears in the next second. 1
