

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 269

I Want To Go Back To The Room “Aunt...”

Rosalie’s figure disappeared from their sight. Estie’s head lowered in grievance as she spoke in a tearful voice, “Want Aunt...”

Byron was unhappy because of what Rosalie said earlier. When he heard the little kid continuing to express her wish to be with that woman, he frowned slightly. “Aunt has her own children, Estie. You cant always disturb her.”

Estie angrily looked up at her daddy.

Byron frowned while looking at the little kid.

The father and daughter had the same look of insistence on their faces. After staring at him for a while, Estie still could not beat her Daddy, so she lowered her head angrily.

Fine. After all, they were staying in the same room. Aunt still had to go back and pack her stuff!

At the thought of that, the little kid stopped crying and said to Daddy, “I want to go room.”

Byron did not know the kid’s intention. He thought it might be because Rosalie was not there and the kid was not used to places with many people that she wanted to return to the room. He did not think much and agreed.

On the side, Wendy started plotting. She leaned over to touch Estie’s head before Byron could say anything. “Are you not feeling well, Estie? Why do you suddenly want to go back to the room?”

Estie kept her mouth shut and did not want to talk to her.

Wendy treated that as a tacit agreement of what she just said. She stood up to tell Byron, “Since Estie’s not feeling well, I shouldn’t just leave like that. How about I go with you guys and take care of her for a bit?”

Byron glanced at her. The thought of Rosalie alienating him whenever this woman was mentioned made his expression freeze. “It’s fine. I can take care of her myself. It’s getting quite late. You should go back early.”

Wendy already knew he was going to reject her, so she prepared an answer beforehand. She smiled and said, “Estie’s not well. Aunt Melody will surely be worried too if she knows about this. If she finds out that I left Estie just like that, she’ll blame me. Besides, I feel very sorry for hitting her the last time I never got the chance to see her after that or give her a proper apology. Please take this as compensation for Estie!”

Byron frowned in silence.

"I can't forgive myself if I can't make it up to her." Wendy lowered her head in self-reproach as guilt filled her tone of speech,

Estie only wanted to return to the hotel to wait for the pretty aunt. When she saw that Daddy still did not budge, she hurried to him and said, "Daddy, go back!"

Byron thought that the little kid was seriously not feeling well, so he did not argue with her.

He leaned over to carry her and walked toward the exit of the botanical garden.

Wendy was not bothered that he did not answer her. Seeing him carrying Estie and heading toward the exit, she immediately followed behind.

Byron informed Miss Leigh Ann and proceeded to bring Estie back to the hotel.

Wendy followed behind them the whole time. Byron was even lazy to pay attention.

Back at the hotel, Byron put Estie on the bed and decided to give Lucas a call to ask how he should handle the situation.

Little did he know that as soon as he took out his phone, the little kid jumped out of the bed and trotted onto Rosalie's bed.

Seeing this, Byron could not help but be stunned. He then eventually realized what the little kid's intention was.

He thought she was not well, but it turned out that she just wanted to come back here and wait for Rosalie and the two little guys.

As she sat on the beautiful aunt's bed, Estie felt much more at peace. Her eyes were sparkling. She was anticipating the return of the beautiful aunt with Lu and No.
