

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 278

Hurry Up And Look For Her The forest was extremely dark and dense. Other than the light from the torchlights, only the faint moonlight lit up their surroundings in the darkness.

Rosalie walked through the forest cautiously.

She did not know where she was. She only knew that Estie was not in any of the places that she had walked through.

She had seen the messages in the WhatsApp group while sending the two children back just now. None of the parents had seen Estie.

The forest was the only place left.

No one had searched the forest yet.

If the little girl was really in here...

The more Rosalie thought about it, the more frightened she felt.

Even she felt terrified in such an environment. Estie was just a child. How would she feel?

If Estie did not head out to look for her, she would not have run into this place.

At this thought, Rosalie gritted her teeth and quickened her pace. She must find the little girl as soon as possible.

“Estie! Where are you?”

Rosalie called out Estie’s name loudly while walking. She hoped that she could hear a reply.

However, her surroundings remained silent even after she shouted till her throat went hoarse.

Suddenly, a patch of grass in the distance moved. Rosalie’s gaze brightened. She thought that Estie was over there, so she quickly walked over. As soon as she walked close to the patch of grass, something popped out of it.

Rosalie was shocked. She almost screamed out loud.

When she fixed her gaze on the patch of grass, she realized that it was a wild rabbit. She then let out a sigh of relief.

However, she felt even more worried when she thought about Estie. She started walking at a quicker pace.

She did not know where she was right now. She could vaguely hear the sound of intermittent crying in her surroundings.

Rosalie's chest tightened She then thought of Estie. She wondered if she was crying... With this thought in mind, Rosalie slowed down and cautiously approached the direction that the cries were coming from,

Estie was covered in mud. She sat down on the ground inside a deep pit, She cried so hard that she could not catch her breath,

She ran out of the hotel in the evening to return to the botanical garden so that she could look for the pretty aunt and the pair of brothers. However, a snake suddenly appeared by the side of the road while she was running. Estie was shocked and frightened. She did not pay attention to the direction that she was heading and ended up running into the forest within the mountain.

When she came to her senses, she was already in the depths of the forest.

She wanted to head out of the forest as soon as possible, but she could not find the way out anymore. The more she walked, the darker it got.

In a moment of carelessness, she missed a step and fell down.

Estelle tried climbing up, but there was moss all around her. It was extremely slippery. She tried climbing up a few times, but she kept slipping back down.

Estie realized that she might not be able to return on her own, but she knew that her daddy and the beautiful aunt would definitely come to look for her. She no longer felt as afraid. Hence, she just squatted in the corner and waited silently.

However, it was getting darker outside. She was immersed in pitch-black darkness within the pit.

Suddenly, something fell on her hand.

Estie screamed out loud and curled herself up in the corner. She did not dare to move at all. Tears rolled down her cheeks uncontrollably.

Besides, she had been waiting here for an entire evening. The little girl was hungry and terrified. She could not help but burst into tears. However, she did not dare to cry out loudly as she was afraid that her voice would attract other creatures.

She did not know what was the time right now.

Estie cried and hiccuped. She mumbled softly, "Daddy, Aunt, Brothers..."

She wished that someone or just anyone would come to look for her right now. She was terrified. She would not dare to roam around aimlessly ever again.

Estie felt even more upset when she thought about the pretty aunt's gentle face.

She wondered if the pretty aunt was looking for her. She missed the aunt so badly...
