

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 303

“Auntie...”

Seeing the beautiful aunt lying weak on the bed, the tears that Estie had just managed to hold back welled up again.

Rosalie’s heart became a mush when she heard the little one calling her. As the little girl ran to her bedside, she forced a smile at her. “Auntie is fine, don’t worry, Estie.”

Estie crouched by her bedside, her big twinkling eyes that are brimming with tears staring at Rosalie, like a poor kitten.

The little one’s gaze made Rosalie’s heart soften even more as she spoke softly to the child, “Why are you here alone?”

Estie’s voice trembled from crying. “Teacher said, you are sick.”

Rosalie nodded, stretched out her arm, and touched the little girl’s head, “Thank you for caring about Auntie so much, Estie.”

Estie stretched out her arm, wanting to touch Rosalie’s forehead.

When Auntie had a fever last time, that was how they checked the temperature, she remembered that Auntie’s forehead felt very hot last time.

Rosalie sensed the little one’s intentions and wanted to put her forehead close to the little girl’s hand.

However, her arms could not muster enough strength to get up from bed.

Estie’s outstretched hand came to nothing, and her little face was full of worry.

Rosalie smiled apologetically at the little girl. “Darling, if you are worried, why don’t you come up here?”

Estie took off her shoes without hesitation, climbed to Rosalie’s side, stretched out her little hand, and touched her forehead.

After touching Rosalie’s forehead, her eyes were full of panic.

‘The last time Auntie had a fever; Daddy took Auntie to the hospital for a night to get better.’

‘This time, Auntie’s forehead felt even hotter than last time.’

‘Auntie doesn’t like Daddy, and doesn’t want Daddy to come over...’

Meanwhile, Byron was holding a morning meeting in the company when he suddenly received a call from Miss Leigh Ann.

Seeing the caller ID, Byron frowned, asked his deputy to preside over the meeting, got up and walked out.

“President Lawrence, Estie went alone...” Miss Leigh Ann reported to Byron nervously.

Hearing this, his stern face suddenly sank, “What’s going on?”

The teacher said worriedly, “she got into the Lawrence Family car, I think she was going to see Miss Jacobs. She even asked me why Lucian and Nox are not in school. I told her that Miss Jacobs was sick, and Estie turned around and got in the car. She has always liked Miss Jacobs...”

This is only Miss Leigh Ann’s guess, so she dared not say too much, she was also worried because of the little one’s whereabouts.

Byron was not so worried when he heard that the little one got into the driver’s car, and then heard Miss Leigh Ann say that Rosalie was sick and frowned. “What’s wrong with Miss Jacobs?”

Miss Leigh Ann said, “It seems that she has a fever. Lucian and Nox are taking care of her at home.”

Byron replied in a deep voice, “I see, please help me to take a leave for Estie, if that is not too much trouble.”

Miss Leigh Ann agreed. Byron had a deep expression on his face. He hung up the phone and called for Luther. “I’m going to Rosalie’s house. Get me Dr.

Miller.”

Dr. Thomas Miller is the Lawrence Family’s doctor. He has great medical skills and only serves the Lawrence family.

Luther listened to his Master’s phone call and knew that Doctor Zhang was meant to treat Rosalie. He became more confused about his Master’s feelings for Rosalie, but he agreed immediately.

Dr. Miller came quickly, and Byron waited until he came before entering Rosalie’s house.

He knew very well, that with Rosalie’s attitude towards him now, she would definitely not let him in if he went alone.

Therefore, bringing a doctor is the best option.
