

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 385

After a moment, Andrius bit the bullet and asked, " So, what's going on between you two now? If you don't plan to get involved with her, I'll only treat her like any normal doctor when she comes to check on the old master the next time. There won't be a need for me to be so courteous."

Byron responded in a deep voice after a few seconds of contemplation. "Just remain like how you were before."

The woman would be going abroad soon, after all. She would not be giving the old master that many more physical examinations.

Hearing this, Andrius breathed a sigh of relief after knowing that Byron was still interested in Rosalie.

Aware of this, Andrius tried to lead the topic to the difficulties that Rosalie had been facing the past two days.

"Also, when Dr. Jacobs came to examine the old master yesterday, she mentioned to me that her research institute has been encountering some problems recently," Andrius said as naturally as possible.

After he said that, Byron frowned and looked over, " What's the matter?"

Andrius replied, "Dr. Jacobs came to treat the old master back then because none of the medicinal materials businesses in Coast city would work with her research institute. Her original purpose for seeking out the Quirke family had been to sign a contract for the half-priced medicinal materials that the Quirke family had announced. She cured the old master after that and I signed the contract with her as per my word. With the Quirke family taking the lead, many of the medicinal materials business came around and began working with Dr. Jacobs' research institute, but in the past two days..."

Arriving at this point, Andrius dragged his words. He glanced at the expression of his friend who was beside him, only to see Byron's brows tightly knitted together with a chilly expression.

Andrius paused for a bit before continuing, "The same thing happened again the past two days. All the medicinal materials businesses in Coast City have been warned not to cooperate with Dr. Jacobs' research institute. Now, only the Quirkes are Dr. Jacobs' partner."

There was a thin layer of anger on Byron's face. " Who's behind this?"

Andrius pondered for a moment but still did not mention it outright in the end. He patted his shoulder unfathomably. "Buddy, this is as far as I can say. I don't believe that it'll be difficult for you to check in on this matter. The rest is for you to investigate yourself."

Melody was also his elder anyway. Besides, at the end of the day, this was a family affair. If he were to reveal any more, he would look to be somewhat overstepping.

He thought that Byron would wait until work tomorrow morning to start looking into it, or at most, he would wait until they were done in a moment before going back to check in on it himself.

He did not think that right after he said what he said, the man beside him would ignore that he was still sitting beside him and immediately fish out his mobile phone to make a call.

At the same time, Luther had just finished cleaning himself up and was laying in bed when he heard his mobile phone ring. It was the special ringtone that he had set for his master. He was startled and sat up from the bed before answering the phone, "sir, what's your order?"

Byron said in a deep voice, "Find out who among the Lawrences recently contacted the major medicinal materials businesses in Coast City and forbade them from cooperating with Virus Research Institute."

Luther complied quickly.

After hanging up, he felt somewhat at a loss.

Although Lawrence Corporation was involved in many industries, they were not very deep within the medical field, why would his master suddenly ask him to investigate this? Moreover, why would any members of Lawrence Corporation come in contact with medicinal materials suppliers?

Although Luther found it strange, he immediately started his investigation considering his master's instructions.

In the end, it was still something related to Lawrence Corporation, and he was also Byron's assistant. It did not take much for him to find out about it.

Not long after, he got results.

Luther was once again stunned.

Was Virus Research Institute not the young madam's?

Also, the person his master had asked him to look for was actually Madam Lawrence?
