

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 386

Luther only recovered from his shock after quite a long time. Then, he immediately phoned his master.

In the club's private room, Byron did not speak again after he hung up the phone. Andrius took the hint and just ate the cold food on the side.

When Byron's mobile phone lit up, Andrius immediately glanced at it.

The person beside him immediately picked it up. 1

"Sir, I've looked into it." Luther's voice sounded very cautious.

Byron hummed in affirmation with his deep voice. "Who did it?"

Luther hesitated before answering, "It's... Madam Lawrence."

Hearing his answer, Byron just closed his eyes. There was not a bit of surprise on his face.

He already had a guess in his heart from the moment Andrius told him about the matter. He asked Luther to look into it just to confirm things.

"I see." Byron hung up the call expressionlessly.

The temperature in the private room was as cold as ice.

Andrius was about to say something when Byron's deep voice sounded in his ear.

"When did you find out?"

Hearing this, Andrius was stunned. He answered truthfully, "Yesterday."

The moment he said that, the surrounding temperature seemed to drop again.

Andrius hurriedly defended himself, saying, "The Quirkes were also dragged into it yesterday and I was busy solving our problem. I also didn't know how to bring it up to you until today. Don't worry, the Quirkes' recent supply of medicinal materials is enough for Dr. Jacobs."

Byron closed his eyes slightly as he suppressed all the displeasure he felt internally.

At the end of the day, it was because of him that such a thing had happened.

He had long known that his mother could not stand Rosalie and had witnessed their last confrontation in the coffee shop. He should have realized that his mother would act against Rosalie.

He should have sent someone to keep an eye on the two of them. On the one hand, it would be to prevent his mother from doing anything. On the other hand, it was to ensure Rosalie's safety.

However, he had been busy with the company during this time, when he went home, he would keep close to Estie. He had neglected the woman's situation.

He did not expect his mother to act so quickly!

"Besides, I didn't expect you to not know anything about this," Andrius added slowly.

He had been thinking that since Melody acted on this using Lawrence Corporation's influence, Byron would thus know about it.

If Andrea had not reminded him this morning, he would not have thought of purposely informing Byron.

Hearing this, Byron's expression became even more unsightly

The woman definitely already knew that this matter was tied to the Lawrences. Perhaps she was also thinking this and thought that he might know about it.

The woman had already been avoiding him before this happened. If she were to have this thought as well, who knew how she would look at him?

"The company has been quite busy during this time," Byron replied succinctly.

Andrius nodded with understanding. Thinking of it, Aunt Melody would have also concealed from Byron when she did this.

Thinking of this, Andrius could not help but be somewhat apologetic. "I would've informed you yesterday if I knew earlier on that things were like this."

There was not the slightest turbulence on Byron's expression. He just said, "This is between you and me. My mother won't know that you were the one who told me about it."

From where Andrius was standing, he could understand the reason behind why he had delayed it until now.

The personal friendship between the two families was so good that when Andrius informed him about it, it was like he was going against his mother.

Andrius frowned slightly. "Why would I bother with this? If I hadn't personally witnessed your attitude toward Dr. Jacobs, I wouldn't have purposely made the trip here."
