

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 409

Rosalie pursed her lips angrily and struggled for a bit. She could not break free from his shackles, however.

Sensing her struggle, Byron's face darkened slightly. "Are you going to take a taxi from the road dressed like this? What kind of weather do you think it is now?"

"I don't need President Lawrence worrying. I can take care of myself," Rosalie responded coldly.

Byron was then aware that the concern in his words just now had been too obvious. He frowned and said, "It won't be easy to hail a taxi on this road. I'm afraid the dinner party would have long started by the time you get there."

Rosalie turned and glanced at the road.

Arachne was indeed in a very remote location. There were very few cars on the road and no sign of a taxi.

She likely would have to trek quite a distance before she could get one.

Even so, she did not want Byron to give her a ride.

Rosalie turned around and was about to say something when suddenly, the mobile phone in her bag rang.

Rosalie frowned slightly. She looked up and glanced at the person opposite her.

The shackles on her wrists slowly released.

Rosalie took out her mobile phone and glanced at it. It was a call from President Snyder.

"Dr. Jacobs, where are you? Several of the other partners have already arrived. Senior Lewis is already here, and he said he wanted to see you!"

President Snyder's voice sounded over the phone with a smile the moment the call connected.

Rosalie glanced at the time. There was some time left before the dinner part started but President Snyder said that Senior Lewis was already there...

Of course, she could not leave Senior Lewis waiting long.

After hesitating for a bit, Rosalie reluctantly revealed a slight smile and said, "Help me inform Senior Lewis that I'll be there soon."

From the other end, President Snyder complied with a laugh and hung up the phone.

Looking at the darkened screen of the mobile phone, Rosalie looked perplexed.

She had encountered too many of incidents coming to S City this time.

She thought it was just a dinner party, but she did not expect to meet Byron here, let alone find out that Senior Lewis was also attending this dinner party.

She had already rejected Senior Lewis's proposal to take her as his student the last time. It would be rude of her to keep Senior Lewis waiting for her this time.

Thinking of this, Rosalie stubbornly looked at the person in front of her and bluntly said, "I'll be troubling you, President Lawrence, if it's convenient."

Byron thought of how the woman had a sudden change of attitude from trying to avoid him just now and his lower lip tugged vaguely. He replied in a deep voice, "Since it was hard for Miss Jiang to change her attitude, I am naturally very happy to oblige." 1

He turned around and led her in the direction of the car after saying that

After getting into the car, Rosalie informed the driver of her destination, "Please head to Yinghui."

The driver had been specially arranged for Byron by his partner and was unaware of their relationship.

When he saw the two of them getting in the car, he thought it was the female companion that Byron had found. He sighed internally, thinking that the two of them were a perfect match.

Hearing Rosalie's words, the driver could not help but be stunned for a while. He did not think too much, just subconsciously said, "We're heading there too."

The temperature in the car seemed to plummet sharply after he said that for some reason.

The driver shivered unconsciously and started the car slowly.

The two individuals in the back seat wore different expressions.

Rosalie frowned and glanced at the person beside him, feeling suspicious for a while.

How could such a coincidence happen? President Snyder clearly invited notable figures within the medical field. Lawrence Corporation did not dabble much in the medical field, so why was he attending?

Byron naturally noticed her gaze and met it without batting an eye. "We seem to be destined for one another."
