

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 385

At the door of the dean's office upstairs, Leon had just come out. He saw Rosalie heading in and smiled as he greeted her, "Just arrived?"

Rosalie nodded. The thought of the mishap earlier felt funny to her, but there was no time to tell him about it.

"Young Master Xander is waiting inside. You should head in quickly. There weren't many people introduced to the family this year. It might be only the two of us," Leon added again.

Rosalie was a little confused. She had no idea what this had to do with being introduced to the Lancer family.

Without waiting for her to ask, the worker already knocked on the door. Rosalie could only fix her expression and follow behind to enter.

Upon entering, she saw a thin young man. Perhaps because of his thinness, the man's already deep facial features looked sharper.

"Young Master Xander, this is Dr. Jacobs whom the Quirke family recommended," the worker said in a low voice.

The man raised his gaze and looked at Rosalie.

As she looked into his eyes, Rosalie politely gave a self-introduction. "Nice to meet you. My name is Rosalie Jacobs. I was introduced by the Quirke family to participate in the free clinic."

The man gave her a quick scan.

Over the years, the Lancer family had accepted the participation of doctors recommended by major medical families for every free clinic. This time was no exception.

For the sake of respect, he accepted every one of them.

The families generally recommended people from their families. No matter how bad they were, they were still famous doctors who had already made a name for themselves in the field of holistic medicine.

Only this one whom the Quirke family introduced could be considered to be a nobody, she was not even someone from their family. He only knew that she treated Old Master Quirke's illness.

Only when he asked Leon earlier did he have some understanding of her. He found out that she was Quentin's student.

He did not expect her to be a woman this young and beautiful.

Aware of his scrutiny, Rosalie could not help but felt a little nervous. Even so, she still stood there unrestrained.

After a while, the man retrieved his gaze, greeted her with a smile, and extended his hand toward her. "It's been a long time since I've heard of your name. I'm Xander Lancer, the person in charge of this free clinic."

Rosalie reached out to shake his hand.

Without knowing why, Xander looked sharp when he did not speak. However, when he spoke, he seemed rather warm.

Rosalie could not help but think of the person at the reception earlier, she felt that this may be the upbringing of the Lancers.

As for the name Xander Lancer, she had heard of it to some extent.

Throughout this period, Rosalie had read a lot of information about the Lancer family to understand the matters of the family's free clinic, she knew that Xander was old Master Lancer's biological grandson. He was also the most outstanding doctor among the younger generation of the Lancer family.

It was just due to the low profile of the Lancer family in recent years that even Xander rarely appeared in the public eye, which was very mysterious.

Reading his information, Rosalie was very curious about what kind of person he was. When she saw the person in front of him, everything unexpectedly came together oddly.

"I heard you treated old Master Quirke's illness with the methods of holistic medicine." Xander's voice was a bit deep.

Rosalie nodded lightly. "According to my judgment, compared to Western medicine, holistic medicine was a better fit for Old Master's illness. The effects would be faster too."

After saying this, Rosalie looked up to see Xander's expression.

The man obviously implied that he wanted her to continue talking.

Rosalie then recounted her journey about how she treated the old master.

Xander frowned slightly. He was surprised that this young woman could explain the old master's condition in an orderly manner in front of him. He had to admit that what she said was very reasonable.
