

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 416

Seeing the child so eager, Rosalie's heart softened and agreed.

"I'm done hiding!"

Although the little girl had played hide-and-seek with Lucian and Nox so many times, she still did not change her habit of shouting out after hiding.

Hearing the girl's childish voice, Rosalie could not help but laugh.

The two other children's snickering laughter also sounded from the corner.

Rosalie shook her head with amusement and reminded the children softly, "All hidden? Then here

I come!"

After saying that, she immediately walked in the direction where Lucian and Nox were hiding.

The two boys were still complacent, thinking that the corner they found was secluded enough that it would be impossible to find them.

They even thought about challenging the difficulty by changing their hiding location when Rosalie was looking for them.

What they did not expect was that they would be caught by Rosalie the moment they came out of the corner.

Met with Rosalie's amused gaze, the two boys stood up in a dejected manner. "Mommy, give US another chance..."

Rosalie raised her brow and refused them without hesitation. "No, you have to come with me to look for Estie."

Hearing this, the two boys could only obey obediently. They walked toward where Estie's voice came from based on memory.

Estie had gotten a lot smarter this time, she would keep an eye out to see what's going on outside from time to time.

Seeing Rosalie and the two brothers walking toward this side, the little girl sneaked out of the corner, wanting to hide in another place.

Alas, her movements had been rather slow and just as she came out, Lucian and Nox saw her.

"Mommy! Found her!" The children said to Rosalie excitedly and then rushed toward the little girl.

For a moment, the children ran around the room in a pile.

Rosalie could not help but be a little worried and hurriedly rushed to Estie's side.

As if drunk on fun, she was out of breath with laughter as she ran to the sofa in a frenzy.

The two boys were chasing after her.

"Slow down!" Rosalie reminded the children worriedly.

Lucian and Nox immediately slowed down obediently.

Estie, on the other hand, did not really slow down. Who knew if she even heard Rosalie's voice when she rushed toward the sofa.

They watched the little girl run too fast and trip over the legs of the sofa. The little girl fell forward and her face was about to hit the corner of the coffee table.

Rosalie's heart abruptly constricted. "Estelle! Be careful!"

Saying that, she quickly ran to the little guy, trying to block her.

The little girl's face was also filled with fear.

A large hand suddenly reached out from the other side, shielding the corner of the table in time.

Rosalie covered the little guy's forehead.

The little girl could not halt her inertia and crashed head on, but she did not feel any pain.

She was stunned for a few seconds before raising her eyes to take a look.

Only to see her forehead protected by auntie and folded on top of her hand, was daddy's own large hand. Daddy's hand was close to the coffee table and his brows were slightly raised.

"Are you alright?" Byron frowned and looked at the little girl worriedly.

He was finishing his work just now when he heard Rosalie's exclamation. He looked up to see Estie falling over here and quickly stretched out his hand.

The little girl was in slight shock and after a few seconds of reacting, she only then shook her head slowly. "I'm okay."

Byron heaved a sigh of relief. "If you're fine, then get up from down there."

Hearing this, the two boys saw their mommy and daddy's hands were occupied and hurried over to help Estie up.
