

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 422

After they confirmed the afternoon itinerary, Byron arranged for the yacht to be prepared, then headed out with Rosalie and the three little ones.

When they got to the beach, the staff members were ready and already waiting for them.

“President Lawrence, the yacht and people are all ready. This is our largest and best-performing yacht, and there are two diving instructors on board. If you’re interested, you can also try diving. This sea area is very safe,” the staff members greeted them enthusiastically as soon as they saw them and gave the party of five a brief introduction as well.

Byron nodded slightly coldly.

Rosalie felt a little inexplicably odd.

The staff members here seemed to have a lot of respect for Byron.

They even recognized Byron.

Then again, she thought of the Lawrence family’s status in Coast city, and Byron had mentioned before that it was not his first time at this resort. Rosalie eventually let go of the doubts in her heart.

The group of people boarded the yacht under the guidance of the staff.

Rosalie was worried that the little ones would wander around and fall. She saw the man fasten the safety buckles with familiarity for the little ones.

For a while, the kids were all strapped to their seats and could only look around. They were unable to make any big moves or wander as they pleased.

The two staff members were staring at the three little ones, ready to protect them at any time.

Seeing how well Byron’s preparations were, Rosalie felt relieved.

“The weather is great today, and it’s very suitable for going out to sea.” The staff member in front who was sailing the yacht chatted with them with a smile.

Rosalie glanced at Byron beside her, and when she saw that he did not intend to reply, she politely responded in acknowledgment.

Seeing her response, the staff member became more and more interested in keeping up with the conversation and introduced them to the tourist attractions here.

Before arriving at the dolphin viewing area, the little one’s attention was attracted by the staff member’s explanation. They listened intently, and their faces were full of anticipation.

Rosalie also responded with acknowledgment from time to time.

“According to President Lawrence, you’re going to see the dolphins. To be honest, the most interesting thing in this area isn’t dolphins, what I recommend most is diving. The underwater environmental protection here is very good, and the scenery is very beautiful. You must go down and have a look when you have the chance.”

The staff member strongly promoted his recommendations.

Hearing that, Rosalie was a little convinced.

She had always wanted to travel around and see different landscapes.

However, because she had two little boys to take care of, coupled with her busy work, Rosalie never had such an opportunity.

Now that there was a chance to see the underwater scenery, Rosalie did not want to miss it.

However, if she wanted to go into the water, the three little ones could only be taken care of by Byron.

Byron was still injured.

Rosalie could not help but hesitate as she thought of his condition.

The man opposite seemed to know what she was thinking and said in a deep voice, “If you want to experience it, you might as well go down and have a look.”

Rosalie was stunned for a few seconds before realizing that the man was talking to her.

The little children also echoed, “We’ll take care of ourselves. You can do whatever you want!”

Estie took a waterproof camera out of nowhere and handed it to her solemnly. “Auntie, remember to take a picture for me to see.”

Hearing this, Rosalie felt a warm feeling in her heart and nodded to the little children with relief. “Thank you, my babies. Then...”

Having said that, Rosalie raised her eyes and looked in Byron’s direction. “Then I’ll need to trouble you with the kids, President Lawrence. I do want to experience it.”

Byron simply agreed.
