

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 464

Andrea froze suddenly.

Although she disliked Rosalie Jacobs and her sons, she never thought about attacking Little Estie.

After all, if Estie is affected, she will become Byron's enemy...

Throughout the entire Coast City, who would dare to offend the Lawrence family?

Unexpectedly, without her knowing, Wendy had already dragged her into the mud!!

"What? Are you scared?" Wendy looked at her coldly.

Andrea suddenly came back to her senses and looked at the person in front of her.

'Whether I was willing or not, the facts were true as Wendy said, we were already in the same boat.'

'I can't escape.'

'Currently, the only way possible to hide what they have done was to help Wendy become the young wife of the Lawrence family!'

Thinking of this, Andrea smiled nonchalantly, expressing her stance on this. "When have I ever been scared? This is what those little s*ts deserved. It's their fault for not knowing their place!" 1

Wendy stared at her carefully for a few seconds.

Andrea's smile never faded.

After a while, Wendy nodded with satisfaction. "Yes, that's more like it."

Andrea turned to mention the message from Kevin.

'Then what are we going to do with the ten million? Do we really give it to him?'

When mentioning this matter, Wendy's face gradually became cold again, and she frowned in thought.

Andrea didn't wait for her answer, she pondered. "He dared to threaten you, we mustn't let this matter slide! He wants 10 million, I think he is dreaming!"

Wendy felt this was ridiculous. 'So, what do you have in mind?'

Andrea said matter-of-factly, "This ten million must not be given to him. If he can threaten US like this, who knows if he will bite back after we give the money?"

Wendy's face turned ugly again.

'There was a possibility in Andrea's words.'

'I was tricked by Kevin once, and there is no guarantee that it won't happen again.'

'It's just...I don't dare to gamble this.'

"Give it to him." Wendy gritted her teeth.

Andrea was surprised. "Sis!"

Wendy's face was ugly. "If you don't give it, these photos will appear on Byron's phone tomorrow!"

Andrea's heart trembled at that possibility, and she quickly agreed. "Okay."

After that, she asked cautiously again. "But what if he bites US back?"

The nature of this kind of private detective was often unreliable.

Wendy's eyes were cold. "Give him the money, and on top of that, send someone to find him! The photos in his hands must be destroyed!"

Andrea had no opinion, she just followed her every word and quickly agreed. "Okay, I'll find someone to settle this!"

Wendy felt a sting in his heart, but she held Andrea's hand, with a fake gentleness in her expression.

Andrea was puzzled but followed along and placed her hand on her knee.

"Andrea, don't worry, if you help me like this now when I become a part of the Lawrence family in the future, I'll make it worth your while!"

Wendy's face was full of sincerity.

Seeing her expression, Andrea's flustered heart gradually stabilized, and her eyes were full of determination. "Sis, you have done so much, it was all for Byron after all. One fine day, he will change his mind."

These words hit Wendy's sore spot again.

A burst of impatience surged in Wendy's heart, but only slight bitterness appeared on her face. "I hope so too."

The two chatted briefly. To prevent Kevin from running loose, Andrea dared not stay any longer. Once she got the instructions from Wendy, she immediately got up and left.
