

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 470

Miss Leigh Ann knew nothing about their family, but Lucian and Nox did.

Daddy wanted to transfer Estelle to another school because he was quarreling with Mommy!

Therefore, Daddy would not let Estelle play with them.

The little ones lowered their heads, and their eyes shifted when they realized this.

They were always adorable and behaved much better in class than their peers.

Miss Leigh Ann had seen all the children in the class cry except these two.

She felt a little empathy looking at the two little ones' expressions.

"It doesn't matter. You and Estie are close friends. I'm sure you can still see and play with her."

Miss Leigh Ann crouched down and said softly, "Besides, Estie certainly doesn't want to see you cry."

The little ones were still upset but did not want to cause their teacher any trouble.

Lucian nodded obediently at Miss Leigh Ann and held Nox, who was still sad. "Teacher, let's go in!"

Seeing the little ones suppressing their urge to cry, Miss Leigh Ann felt relieved, but on the other hand, she felt sorry for the little ones.

These two little guys were just too sensible.

All day long, the little ones were much quieter than before.

It was only at the end of the school day that the little ones' eyes turned a little red.

Miss Leigh Ann looked at the little ones. She opened her mouth but did not know how to comfort them. At last, she could only silently hold the hands of the little ones.

Lisa came to pick the little ones up. She was puzzled when she saw them.

"What's the matter? Did you quarrel with other kids?"

The two little ones shook their heads sullenly. "Nanny Lisa, Estie is going to transfer to another school."

Hearing this, Lisa was startled, and she looked around at the kids in the kindergarten.

There was no sign of Estie.

She thought that Byron had already picked up the little girl.

However, she had not expected this to be the reason...

‘That’s all right. Mommy can take you to meet Estie if you want.’

Lisa sounded like she lacked confidence when she promised them that.

During this time, Byron had almost cut off contact with Rosalie. Lisa had no idea why, and she was not sure if Rosalie would take the little ones to meet Estelle.

However, she could only think of saying this to comfort the little ones.

The little ones pursed their lips and shook their heads.

Mommy was not going to take them to see Little Estie when she was still fighting with Daddy!

With this thought, the two little ones sniffed in frustration, trying to hold back the tears rolling in their eyes.

Lisa had no other way to comfort the kids and could only sigh.

At the villa, Lisa quickly took the little ones into the house.

Rosalie was already waiting at home.

Almost as soon as they entered the house, Rosalie noticed the little ones were in a bad mood.

‘What’s the matter?’

Seeing the little ones’ teary eyes, Rodale felt shocked and sorry for them at the same time.

At the sound of their mother’s voice, the two little ones immediately ran into their mother’s arms.

Rosalie immediately opened her arms and hugged the little ones tightly, comforting them. “What happened? Tell me.”

“Mommy.”

Nox muttered, “Estie is transferring schools.”

The expression on Rosalie’s face and her arms froze.
