

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 594

Lucian and Nox looked at each other, and for a moment, they did not dare answer.

They did not like Uncle Byron but Daddy. They wanted Daddy to take care of Mommy.

However, Mommy did not seem to like Daddy.

Thinking of this, the children were filled with hesitation.

Rosalie felt a little uneasy deep down.

The changes in the children's attitude toward Byron during this period of time had been obvious.

If things went on like this and if they really liked Byron and wanted to have more contact with him, Rosalie would not be able to find an excuse to refuse them.

After all, they should be growing up by Byron's side, she was the one who deprived them of the right to live with their father.

Thinking of this, Rosalie looked at the children apologetically. "I...

I don't know either, but if you guys want to do that, I won't refuse. II

The implication was that she would not take the initiative to invite them, nor was she happy about Byron visiting, she was just making it up to them.

The boys had always been smart, so they naturally understood what Rosalie meant and knew that their mommy still did not like their daddy being a guest.

"We just feel sorry for Estie." The boys silently distanced themselves from Byron.

Hearing this, Rosalie breathed a sigh of relief, and when they mentioned Estie, she felt a burst of guilt in her heart. "I also love Estie, but..."

Rosalie did not know what to say after that. 2

Fortunately, the boys did not ask any further questions but quickly changed the subject. "Don't be sad, Mommy. We'll take good care of Estie! Just take care of yourself, Mommy!"

When they said that, it was like Rosalie was just a child.

Rosalie felt relieved. She smiled and patted the boys' heads. "

Thank you, babies."

The boys remained downstairs with her for a while before heading upstairs obediently.

Rosalie was helped into her room by Lisa. After a brief wash-up, she lay on the bed, but she was unable to fall asleep.

She really could not figure out what Byron was thinking.

That man was obviously with Wendy just as he had wished, she also said that she would not pester him as she did six years ago.

However, it seemed that both of their positions had switched now. Byron kept appearing within her line of sight.

It stood to reason that there was no relationship between them anymore, and the distance between them should be as she had said. They should be back to being just strangers now.

However, Byron's various actions kept giving her the illusion that he really wished to maintain a close relationship like this with her and her children.

Realizing what she was thinking, Rosalie's thoughts abruptly came to a halt. She felt that she was being ridiculous.

No one knew better than her why she left six years ago.

It was because she came to full recognition of Wendy's position in Byron's heart and knew that no matter how hard she tried, that man would not possibly look back at her.

Six years later, the woman beside Byron was still Wendy.

One could see that he still loved her, and Wendy obviously also loved Byron. The two of them love each other, so how could Byron have other thoughts about her?

Thinking of this, Rosalie smiled mockingly.

At the end of the day, she was just being selfish.

Byron only took care of her like this for Estie's sake.

Rosalie silently persuaded herself to stop thinking about it.

She would not be troubled like this as long as she kept her distance from Byron in the future.
