

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 635

Several people expressed their kinship to Rosalie and Leon one after another.

After a few words, the atmosphere at the banquet gradually became harmonious.

Xander waited for a while. He saw Rosalie and Leon take their seats and then began to introduce the other doctors to the crowd one by one.

Everyone here had some qualifications in the medical field. Basically, as soon as he said their names, everyone would know each other's details.

After some introductions, everyone present was convinced of each other's caliber and looked forward to future cooperation.

After talking about business, everyone's topics of conversation gradually became more casual. They chatted with people they knew well.

As the host, although Xander did not like to entertain, he still walked among the crowd with a glass of wine. Rosalie and Leon also politely held their wine glasses and toasted with their seniors one by one before returning to their seats.

"It seems that the future cooperation should be very smooth." Leon sighed with a smile.

Rosalie nodded in agreement as her eyes swept away from Xander in the crowd.

Speaking of which, it was all Xander's contribution that this banquet could have such an atmosphere.

Originally, she only knew that Xander was skilled in medicine, but she did not expect that he had such a strong commanding ability as well.

After thinking about it, it was not surprising. After all, as the heir of such a big family, if he could not even control this scene, he would not be favored by Old Master Lancer.

Just when the atmosphere was in full swing, the door of the banquet hall was suddenly pushed open.

Everyone looked at the door subconsciously.

They only saw a line of women who looked like young ladies from important families strutting in from the outside.

The woman in the lead was tall and wore a plain white off-the-shoulder dress with an exaggerated fishtail design. At first glance, one would not know whether she was elegant or high-profile.

"Xander, what a coincidence?" The woman walked straight to Xander and greeted him softly.

Xander smiled politely. "It is quite a coincidence, Miss Stacy."

The Hudson family had some friendship with the Lancer family. As the eldest daughter of the Hudson family, Stacy Hudson was two years older than Xander and they got along fairly decently over the past few years.

Even so, Xander was still a little dissatisfied with Stacy's sudden barging into the banquet.

After all, this banquet was filled with the Lancer family's future partners. This banquet could also be considered to be held for official business.

Stacy's actions were completely out of line.

Even though he thought so in his heart, Xander did not show it on his face after all.

"Who is this?" someone asked in confusion.

Xander came back to his senses and introduced to the crowd casually, "This is Stacy Hudson, the young lady of the Hudson family."

Stacy greeted everyone with a smile. "It just so happened that I'm having a party with my girls next door. When I heard that Xander was next to US, I thought of coming over to say hello. I hope I'm not disturbing everyone?"

Seeing that she knew Xander, everyone was friendly to her. The guests had learned their lesson from Rosalie and Leon just now. They did not dare to underestimate anyone who knew Xander.

Behind Stacy, someone gently touched her arm, motioning her to look in the direction of Rosalie.

Following her girlfriend's line of sight, Stacy noticed that there was such a beautiful woman in this group. Furthermore, it seemed that this woman was sitting by Xander's side!

Realizing this, Stacy's face sank slightly.
