

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 682

That night, Melody was about to rest when she suddenly received a call from Magdalene.

She heard Magdalene's choked up voice and Henry's roar in the background the moment the call connected.

"Magdalene, what's the matter? Did you get into a fight with Henry?" Melody asked with concern.

Magdalene glanced at both father and daughter who were acting to the side, took a deep breath, and pretended to be choked up. "

Henry is mad at Wendy. Please come over, Wendy will not listen to anyone anymore, I think she'd only be able to take in your advice..."

Hearing this, Melody frowned as she listened for a moment, she really did catch Wendy's sobbing in the background.

Melody had already been very concerned about Wendy since the accident the last time. When she heard her crying, her heart immediately clenched. "Don't panic, just tell me what's going on properly. Why are you all arguing so badly?"

"Of course it's because..." Magdalene paused midway and sighed heavily, "Anyway, come over and take a look."

Melody was even more anxious, "what is there for you to hide from me? Wendy will be my daughter-in-law sooner or later. Is there anything you can't tell me?"

Hearing this, Magdalene was silent for a few more seconds before she bitterly said, "what is it if not about the marriage with Byron. Henry thinks that since Byron doesn't have that intention with Wendy, she should not hold him up and hurry up in dissolving the engagement. Wendy said she was not willing to, she also said that she will not marry anyone else in this life apart from Byron and so the two of them started arguing..."

Magdalene had given such a vivid account that Melody felt sorry when she heard it.

At the end of the day, this marriage matter was still her son's fault. He had made Wendy wait so many years, not even giving her an explanation. He had always wasted Wendy's devotion.

Hearing that Wendy had even quarreled with Henry because of this matter, Melody felt like she could not disappoint her even more.

"Wendy is right. I also don't agree to dissolve the engagement. Wendy has waited for Byron for so many years, Byron must be responsible for her."

Melody said slowly, "Try persuading the two of them first. I'll have Byron go over and take a look. If it doesn't work, I'll take Wendy away for two days and let them both calm down."

There was a muffled sound of something being smashed to the ground after she said that.

Melody's heart constricted. She was immediately worried about Wendy's situation.

On the other end, Magdalene was obviously taken aback too. she agreed in a crying voice after a moment, "I...I'll try..."

Melody hung up the phone quickly after responding and called her son.

Lawrence Manor.

Byron had just coaxed Estie to sleep and exited the little girl's bedroom when he received a call from his mother.

Seeing the caller ID, Byron thought about his mother's insistence on having him marry Wendy recently and could not help the headache he felt. He answered the call after a few seconds.

The moment the call connected, his mother's voice rang out before he could even say anything. "Wendy and Uncle Henry got into a fight and I don't know what's going on now. Go have a look."

Hearing this, Byron frowned, "This is a Fuller family matter. What's the point of me going over?"

Hearing her son's words, Melody's tone was accusatory. "Wendy fought with Uncle Fuller because of you. Should I be the one to go over in the middle of the night if not you? I think I even heard Uncle Fuller raise a hand. I'm afraid I won't be able to stop him if I were to go over. You should go over and take a look, even if it's just for Wendy's safety! Wendy just recovered from her injury; she can't get hurt again!"
