

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 698

Rosalie still could not believe her ears, she was stunned for a few seconds before smiling gratefully. "Then it's better to accept deferentially than to decline courteously. I'll do my best for this cooperation."

Xander raised the teacup in front of him. "Then I'll drink tea in place of wine now. Thank you on behalf of all the partners, cheers."

Rosalie smiled and clinked her cup with his, thinking of how Xander had helped her during this period. She was overwhelmed with a burst of gratitude in her heart.

She must say that every time she met with Xander and Leon, they always had endless topics to talk about.

Perhaps this was the advantage of being in the same industry!

Thinking of this, Rosalie could not help but think of another man.

Every time she was with Byron, their conversations always ended unpleasantly...

Thinking of Byron, the smile on Rosalie's face also faded.

Xander was paying attention to the person in front of him and saw the change in her expression. Although he did not know what she was thinking, he subconsciously changed the subject, hoping that the atmosphere would ease a little more. "Oh right, what are the names of the two kids this morning?"

The smile on Rosalie's face became real again at the mention of the two little boys. "Lucian and Nox."

Xander nodded. "I always knew that you had children, but today was the first time I met them. The two little ones look a lot like you and are so adorable."

Hearing this, Rosalie could not help but be stunned for a moment. A strange feeling crossed her heart.

Xander's words were too easily misunderstood.

For a while, she almost thought that Xander was calling her adorable.

Realizing what she was thinking, Rosalie pinched her palm secretly to snap back to her senses.

'I don't know what's going on, but I've not been thinking straight lately.'

Xander was just praising the children, not her.

It was all because of Byron's inexplicable words, which had caused her to be unnecessarily on guard all the time.

"It's the first time we met, so it stands to reason that I should bring them some gifts. I wonder what they like?" Xander said again.

Rosalie came back to her senses and smiled absently while refusing. "No, it's alright. Lucian and Nox won't care about this. They don't lack anything."

Xander frowned. "I'm an uncle wanting to give gifts to the children. Why are you in a hurry to refuse? Plus, due to our future cooperation, I'll definitely see them from time to time. I don't want to be hated by the little ones because I didn't give them gifts."

Hearing him say so, Rosalie could not help but laugh, she was caught off guard, and there was no reason to refuse, so she responded with a smile. "Alright, Young Master Xander. Since it's your sincerity, then I won't say no. If you want to give them gifts... ll

Rosalie really could not think of what to give the kids at such a short moment.

The little boys had been very sensible since they were young, and they would not take the initiative to ask her for something.

Basically, whatever they wanted, they would buy it themselves from Lucian's piggy bank.

As for gifts, the boys just always seemed to like whatever she bought them.

It seemed that as long as it was given by her, the little ones would like it.

When thinking about it, Rosalie unconsciously thought of the several gifts that Byron gave them before. The little ones seemed to like them very much.

"If you want to give them gifts, maybe give them some Lego sets or mechanical models of some sort." Rosalie was uncertain herself.

Xander raised his brows slightly and said with a smile, "okay, I'll get them prepared. Remember to help me keep it a secret." Rosalie agreed with a smile.

