

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 713

The kids could not be of much help in the kitchen, but with them, Rosalie's tumultuous mood slowly calmed down.

After getting ready for dinner, Rosalie saw Byron sitting on the sofa at a glance.

He seemed a little tired, and after a while, the man had already fallen asleep. His head was slightly tilted sideways, and he was leaning on the back of the sofa. Even when he fell asleep, he still maintained his posture.

Seeing this scene, Rosalie subconsciously relaxed her movements, then made a gesture to the little kids to be quiet.

The little guys followed her line of sight, and when they saw Daddy who was sleeping, a trace of confusion crossed the faces of Lucian and Nox.

The daddy they knew before would always be dealing with work during his spare time, but he fell asleep today.

Had Daddy been overworking during this period?

The two little boys looked at Estie in confusion.

When Estie saw the person on the sofa, the smile on her face gradually disappeared, and her eyes were full of worry.

Looking at the eyes of the two brothers, the little girl explained, "Daddy hasn't been sleeping well lately. He always has insomnia, and he works very hard during the day, so..."

Although Byron has never told the little girl about this, she overheard his conversation with Mrs. Zora. She knew that her Daddy could not sleep well. That made her very worried.

After speaking, the little girl remembered something and turned around to look at Rosalie eagerly.

Rosalie was a little puzzled as she looked at Estie.

"Auntie, aren't you a very good doctor? Can you help Daddy?" The little girl carefully grabbed the hem of Rosalie's clothes.

Seeing the worried look on the child's face, Rosalie felt distressed.

If the man's insomnia was due to physical reasons, then it was really not difficult for her to cure it.

However, if she wanted to treat him, she must have physical contact with him.

Rosalie was still a little embarrassed when she thought of them playing games in the afternoon.

“Daddy has been like this for several days...” Estie tugged on Rosalie’s clothes again, she begged with her eyes.

Rosalie could never refuse the little one. After hesitating for a moment, she agreed with a smile, “okay, let’s eat first. Let your dad sleep for a while, and after dinner, I’ll check on him.”

Hearing her promise, the little girl nodded obediently. “Thank you, Auntie.”

Rosalie smiled and patted her head, she took the three little kids to eat dinner while it was hot.

Knowing that Byron was catching up on sleep, the kids were very sensible. They were careful when eating and made almost no sound.

After dinner, the kids stared at Rosalie expectantly, wanting her to give Byron a quick diagnosis and treatment.

Rosalie just felt helpless for a while. “You guys go out to play first. With you staring like this, I won’t be able to concentrate.”

Although the little ones were reluctant, they thought it was not good for them to disturb Rosalie while she was giving diagnosis and treatment. In the end, they obediently went to the backyard.

Seeing the backs of the little kids leaving, Rosalie breathed a sigh of relief.

At her level, she would not need much effort and concentration to treat insomnia.

She just did not want the kids to see her having any physical contact with Byron.

With the little kids watching, she could not help but think of the previous ambiguities.

When the little kids had gone completely out of sight that Rosalie could no longer hear them, she picked up her feet and walked to the sofa, she looked down at the man who was still fast asleep.

