

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 719

After he hung up the phone, Xander sent a message directly to Hector and informed him that Rosalie had agreed to meet.

Without waiting for Hector to reply, he turned off his phone and went to sleep.

The next morning, as soon as Hector woke up, he saw the message from Xander.

Seeing Rosalie's affirmative answer, the boulder that had been pressing on Hector's heart for a few days finally eased.

If he guessed correctly, Byron took action against the Hudson family because his daughter had provoked Rosalie.

As long as she got her forgiveness, the Hudson family could also get out of this crisis.

Thinking of this, Hector breathed a sigh of relief.

At breakfast, seeing that his spoiled bratty daughter was fashionably late again, Hector wanted to lecture her as usual. However, he thought about having to tell her this, so he changed his mind and held his tongue.

"I've made an appointment with the lady you provoked a few days ago through Xander. Find a time and apologize to her face-to-face," Hector said solemnly.

Hearing this, Stacy stopped in her tracks as she looked up at her father in disbelief.

She did not feel like she had done anything wrong.

The Hudson family and the Lancer family had a good relationship and had known each other for a long time, so Stacy managed to make a lot of friends with some popular young talents in the medical field.

She had not heard of Rosalie Jacobs.

Even if there was strong support for her from President Lawrence that night, Stacy still questioned her medical skills and the reason why she could cooperate with the Lancer family.

'I thought my father would understand me?

Unexpectedly, from the time she was sent home that night, she was grounded at home by her father.

These days, she had not even gone out the door of her own house.

Now that her father brought this up again, he asked her to apologize to that b*tch, Rosalie Jacobs.

'Who the hell is she?'

Stacy directly expressed her thoughts. "I don't want to. I didn't do anything wrong, why should I apologize to her?"

Hearing this, Hector was so angry that he slammed his spoon down and ordered, "I don't care if you did or did not do anything wrong. You must apologize! If you don't, you'll no longer be my daughter from now on!"

After he finished speaking, Hector glared angrily at his daughter. He then got up and went back upstairs.

Watching her father leave, Stacy's gaze showed that she was feeling both wronged and shocked.

From childhood to adulthood, this was the first time her father threw such a big temper at her, and it was because of Rosalie Jacobs!

'What's so great about that woman that everyone is on her side?!'

Thinking of how Rosalie and Xander were getting along that night, Stacy became angrier.

Now that she was reprimanded by her father as well, she lost her appetite and slammed her cutlery on the table with an ugly expression.

"Miss..." The maid called out to her worriedly when she saw that she did not move.

As soon as she opened her mouth, the person in front of her turned her head viciously. Stacy pointed at the maid's nose and screamed, "Are you going to teach me a lesson now as well? Why don't you look at yourself in the mirror?! Just shut your mouth!"

The maid's face flushed red after being scolded, and she said nothing.

It was not until Stacy stood up and headed upstairs after she had vented her anger on the poor maid that the maid dared to straighten up and clear the table with aggrieved silence.

Stacy went back to the bedroom with an ugly face. Thinking of her father's words just now, her eyes were gloomy.

'It's impossible for me to apologize to that b*tch!

'But Father has already said such things. I don't think I have a choice in this!'

Stacy thought about seeing Rosalie's face again and felt disgusted!

