

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 757

Rosalie thought carefully about what she wanted to add. Unexpectedly, before she could speak, the man coldly interjected.

“Don’t worry, Miss Jacobs. This matter has nothing to do with you. I’ll handle it myself.”

Rosalie was stunned for a moment at his cold tone. She looked up at the person in front of her in confusion. “I don’t mean anything else. I’m just worried about Estie’s condition. As for whatever treatment you give others, it has nothing to do with me.”

She thought Byron was just annoyed by her random interference in his affairs with Wendy.

Thinking of the man’s possible thoughts, Rosalie felt a burst of irony in her heart.

Byron heard that she just wanted to distance himself from him, and his anger finally erupted. “Of course, my affairs have nothing to do with you, Miss Jacobs! You only care about Young Master Xander’s affairs now!

“What do you mean?” The topic shifted from Wendy to herself, and Rosalie could not help but have a headache.

She thought that the man should have seen it clearly, but she did not expect that he was still hung up over that issue.

Byron pursed his lips. “You’re so happy to work in the Lancer family’s research institute, right? I can see how much you’ve done in order to be able to join this project. If it’s just for the Lancer family’s medical skills, is it necessary for you to work so hard, Miss Jacobs?”

When he spoke, his eyes darkened as if he really saw through something.

Rosalie’s brows furrowed as she felt that what he said came out of nowhere. “Apart from medical skills, what else is there for the Lancer family to be worth my efforts?”

‘The Lancer family had hidden away from the public eye for a long time. The only thing they’re known for by the public was their medical skills.

‘Even before I knew about the free clinic, I didn’t even know about the existence of Xander Lancer.

‘At this moment, this man clearly means to say that I’m desperate to get close to Xander!’

Thinking of what he meant, Rosalie felt a headache and a little annoyed.

‘This speculation is simply questioning my respect for medical skills!’

However, when Byron saw her annoyed and angry with what he said, he only felt that he was right about what she thought. His expression was tense. “Even the blind can see the relationship between you two. Presumably, I don’t need to say more about what’s worth your efforts.”

After speaking, Byron raised his eyes and glanced at the room, wanting to leave with Estie again.

Rosalie was determined to clear the air. Although she did not intend to accept Byron, she really did not want this man questioning her for this reason again.

“Young Master Xander and I are just ordinary friends. The few meetings seen in public were all for work. Young Master Long and Leon Martin are both very good doctors. Please, President Lawrence, stop making such random speculations! It’s impossible for me to cut ties with them because of your baseless accusations!”

As long as this project existed, she would inevitably need to contact Xander, and Leon was her friend for many years.

It was impossible for Rosalie to sever ties with them in order to eliminate Byron’s doubts, but the man’s doubts made it difficult for her.

Her explanation reached Byron’s ears, but he only remembered the last sentence, which was that it was impossible for her to sever ties with them.

Byron’s inner storm was at its highest point, and he frowned for a long while without speaking.

Rosalie stubbornly looked at the man with no sign of backing down on her face.
