

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 791

After the two little boys went upstairs, they quickened their pace and went back to the room.

“Brother, Mommy is going to meet Uncle Xander tomorrow. Should we tell Daddy?” Nox asked hesitantly.

Lucian pondered for a moment with a sullen face. “I think we have to.”

Before, they chose to hide the matter because they wanted to use the relationship between Uncle Xander and Mommy to put some pressure on Daddy.

However, Mommy’s attitude now made them a little scared.

‘What if Mommy really chooses to be with Uncle Xander?’

The thought of this made the little boys dare not hide this from Daddy anymore.

Nox frowned. “But, how are we going to tell Daddy?”

They did not have a mobile phone to reach Daddy.

Mommy was going out tomorrow night, and they were not sure if Daddy would come tomorrow.

Speaking of this question, the two little boys were a little solemn.

After a while, Lucian frowned and whispered something in his brother’s ear.

Nox nodded vigorously.

The two little boys went in and briefly washed up. They then turned into bed early.

Before Rosalie went to bed, she went to the little boys’ rooms to take a look, only to see that they were fast asleep.

‘It looked like they really didn’t rest well last night.’ With that, the doubts in her heart gradually dissipated.

The two little boys closed their eyes and pretended to be asleep, but they were secretly listening to the movement at the door.

When they heard their mommy’s footsteps go away, the little boys secretly got up from the bed and stared at the clock while listening to the movement outside.

After waiting until almost 12 o’clock, the little boys guessed that Rosalie should have fallen asleep, so they sneaked out of the room and walked downstairs lightly.

Walking to the landline, the little boys carefully raised their eyes and glanced in the direction of Rosalie’s room.

Seeing that the light in Mommy's room was out, they felt relieved and lowered their eyes to give Uncle Byron a call.

Although they did not have mobile phones, the little boys had excellent memories. They memorized Daddy's mobile phone number early on.

Before dialing the number, the little boys were a little worried about whether Daddy would answer their call so late at night.

Unexpectedly, almost as soon as the call was made, the other end was picked up immediately.

"What's wrong?" Byron was dealing with work in the study when he suddenly saw Rosalie's call. His heart sank because he thought that the woman was in some trouble.

He did not expect to hear the secretive voices of the little boys on the other end of the line. "Uncle Byron, we need to tell you a secret."

Byron frowned. "What secret?"

The boys did not want to delay any further and told him bluntly, "Mommy said that she'll be going to a signing ceremony with Uncle Xander tomorrow night."

Hearing this, Byron's face sank sharply.

'Although the woman has explained to me many times about her relationship with Xander, I'm still concerned. 'What's more, almost every time that woman goes out with Xander, bad things happened!

'First, she was harassed by Stacy Hudson, and then there was such a big public scandal.'

"Uncle, did you hear that?" The little boys hurriedly urged without waiting for Daddy's response.

Byron came back to his senses, knowing that the little boys must be secretly tipping him off about this news. He replied solemnly, "Alright, I got it. Thank you, boys."

The little boys did not dare to say anything more and hurriedly hung up the phone.

Nox deftly erased the call log as well.

The two of them then crept back to their room again.
