

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 848

At the same time, Xander thought about Heronial Corporation's sudden scandal for a night. In the end, he decided that since he had paid so much more, he could not make things easy for Byron.

Early in the morning, Xander drove to Rosalie's house.

Rosalie and the little boys were eating in the dining room when she suddenly heard the doorbell and looked over in confusion.

Rosalie was a little surprised when she saw the person at the door.

"Young Master Xander, why did you come so early? Did something happen to Heronial Corporation?"

Rosalie opened the door, looked at the person in front of him in confusion, and turned to let him in.

Xander nodded noncommittally, with a solemn expression on his face. "Yesterday I spent a lot of money to help them stabilize their stock price. This morning, however, Heronial Corporation was suddenly ordered by higher authorities to suspend their business and all subsequent work was temporarily put on hold."

This also meant that if their project was going to go ahead, Heronial Corporation may not be able to supply them with materials on time.

The money Xander spent was almost gone.

Rosalie could not help but feel a little worried as she realized this. "Then our project..."

"It will also be put on hold for the time being. I don't know who Heronial had greatly offended." Xander pressed his temple with a headache, and started the topic inconspicuously.

With that said, Rosalie almost immediately thought of her speculation from yesterday. As she watched Xander being stressed out, she felt a guilty conscience for no reason...

She tried to change the subject. "Hmm... If that's the case, isn't all Lancer Corporation's previous efforts in vain? The loss should be huge, right?"

Xander frowned deeply. "The thing is, that amount of money is considered huge, I originally wanted to borrow that money to temporarily help and stabilize Heronial, but I didn't expect the other party to move even quicker."

Rosalie's eyes gradually darted around. "The investigation will end today. If Heronial's situation is not that serious, it should return to normal, right? However, in the eyes of the public, it may take some time for Heronial Corporation's image to recover."

When Xander heard that, he sneered helplessly. "How can it be so simple?"

Rosalie frowned in confusion and met his gaze.

Xander shrugged, “since the person behind this was able to smear Heronial Corporation’s reputation in just a day, and made the higher authorities attach so much importance to this matter, it can only mean that that person has a great background. There will be no good results from today’s investigation.”

In short, the fate of Heronial Corporation was not in their own hands, but in the hands of the person behind it.

Even if Heronial Corporation was truly innocent, as long as that person dictated there was a problem with Heronial Corporation, then Heronial Corporation will have a problem.

Although Rosalie only thought that the person behind this might be Byron, it did not occur to her on this level.

With Xander’s reminder, Rosalie could not help but doubt the news she saw yesterday.

‘Is the evidence in the news was truly Heronial’s doing, or is it just because Byron wants them to be implicated this way?’

‘What is Byron’s purpose for doing this?’

The two walked into the living room and sat down on the sofa as they chatted.

Rosalie’s mind was full of speculations about Byron, and it took a while before she realized it, and apologetically got up to give Xander a cup of tea.
