

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 871

Byron agreed and took Estie back to Lawrence Manor.

Soon, the black Bentley turned around and left.

In the bushes opposite Rosalie's house, there was a flash of shutter lights.

After a while, a man came out of the bushes.

While processing the freshly taken photos, the man quickly got into the car, and chased after Xander's car to the research institute.

On the way to the research institute, Rosalie suppressed her worries about Estie and asked about the Heronial Corporation.

"I was in a hurry to leave just now. Could you fill me in on what happened to the Heronial Corporation?"

She wanted to know whether the Heronial Corporation really did those things.

In other words, Byron's ruthless business methods were so terrifying, that he could turn the fake into reality.

Speaking of the Heronial Corporation, Xander's eyes flashed a bit of displeasure, but his tone was calm when he spoke to Rosalie. "I'm afraid it's not optimistic."

Hearing this, Rosalie frowned slightly, and there was a faint speculation in her heart..

"There are too many things behind the Heronial Corporation. The ones that broke out on the Internet are probably just the tip of the iceberg. Now they are involved with relevant authorities. I don't know how much trouble this will cause."

Xander sighed with a headache.

Rosalie frowned, "But, didn't you already investigate it at that time?"

With the strength of the Lancer family, it is unlikely that they were unable to find out the details of the matter.

Speaking of this matter, Xander gave another wry smile. "We are about to get to the bottom of this Heronial investigation, but if someone wants to help Heronial Corporation conceal their crimes, we may not be able to find out."

end, Xander added another sentence in a vague way, "Especially, if that person is on a par with the Lancer family, and even better than the Lancer Corporation in terms of business. After all, the Long family is nothing more than a medical family."

The implication meant that someone was trying to set up the Lancer family by using the Heronial Corporation.

And that person can only be Byron Lawrence.

Rosalie understood what he meant, and for a while, she did not know how to answer.

After a long while, Rosalie couldn't help but asked, "If that's the case, why did they do this? This seemed a bit of an overkill."

Then her eyes met with Xander's intense gaze.

"Perhaps, it's because I touched something that I shouldn't have." Xander pulled his lower lip mockingly.

Rosalie's eyes trembled slightly, and there was a strange feeling in her heart, and she lowered her eyes without saying a word.

The hints in Xander's jargon were too obvious for her to ignore.

Seeing her evasion, Xander added more fuel to the fire.

"This time, I realized that this so-called business genius has a well-deserved reputation. I was convinced that I lost to him. The only regret is that the price paid this time exceeded my expectations."

It was almost clear that the person behind the scenes was Byron.

And the only connection between him and Byron, apart from Heronial Corporation, was Rosalie.

Rosalie's hand tightened slightly on her lap, as she suppressed the uneasiness in her heart, and changed the subject casually. "I just hope this incident will not affect our project."

Xander added fuel to the fire. "Me too. I hope that the person behind this will have mercy on our project." 4

Hearing what he said, Rosalie's heart tightened again, but she still tried to convince herself that the battle between Xander and Byron was only limited to Heronial Corporation.
