

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 893

“Mr. Byron.”

Thinking that they had almost exposed Daddy’s lies, Lucian and Nox greeted Byron while feeling guilty.

Byron nodded and glanced at the little ones.

The little ones felt Byron was warning them from a distance, and they tried to put on their best attitude.

They could see that their daddy wanted them to stop saying anything they should not say.

Noticing the little ones understood what he meant, Byron nodded slightly and put the snacks on the table for them.

“Call Mrs. Zora if you need anything. I have something to deal with at the moment.”

The three kids nodded all at once.

Byron said nothing and left the room.

He had been so preoccupied with Rosalie that he had forgotten to remind the little ones.

Therefore, Byron came to give them the snacks instead of letting Mrs. Zora do it.

Looking at the closed bedroom door, Lucian and Nox heaved a sigh of relief.

Their daddy’s gaze was scary.

Estelle had forgotten what she had asked because Byron interrupted. She handed the snacks to Lucian and Nox.

Soon, the little ones were having fun while eating snacks.

Estelle had also gradually forgotten about Rosalie.

Meanwhile, Rosalie was so immersed in her work that she had forgotten to look at the time.

It was already dark when she came out of the study.

Thinking about her burned lunch, Rosalie decided to make dinner early for the little ones to compensate them for the lunch she ruined.

The little ones were supposed to be playing downstairs, but there was no sign of them in the living room.

“Lucian? Nox?” Rosalie did not think much about it and called out their names.

She got no response from them even after a while.

Worried, Rosalie walked upstairs, looked into the little ones' bedroom, and found no one. They were not in the backyard either.

Rosalie then realized the little ones might have gone out by themselves.

Panic surged within Rosalie.

The little ones had only been back to their hometown for some time, so she could not figure out where they would go.

She could only think they might be in her best friend's house.

"Rosalie, what's the matter? Are you calling me to have dinner with you? I'm not having dinner. I want to sleep."

Mary planned to close the door and shut Rosalie outside.

Rosalie frowned and asked, "Did Lucian and Nox come looking for you?"

Mary froze and was fully awake. "No. Aren't they at home?"

Rosalie had known the answer the moment she saw her best friend.

However, she still tried her luck asking.

Rosalie was worried sick after hearing Mary's answer.

Mary realized something might have happened and quickly put on her jacket, "I'll look for them with you."

The two little ones were not familiar with the environment. She was worried the little ones might lose their way.

Rosalie was at a loss. Hence, she accepted Mary's offer.

First, they looked around the villa and found no sign of the little ones. Then, they decided to get to the car and look for the kids somewhere else.

However, after getting in the car, Rosalie and Mary froze.

They had no idea where to look for the little ones.
