

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 943

As Rosalie tried to reverse her car quickly, she heard the moans of the little ones from the back seat.

Rosalie was anxious and failed to control her limbs. They shuddered.

The next thing she knew, the car dashed straight into a big tree opposite.

Rosalie's mind went blank for a moment.

Noticing the car was about to crash into it, Rosalie snapped out of her daze and lifted her leg from the accelerator.

However, it was too late! The car crashed into a tree trunk.

The car shook violently before the engine extinguished.

The little ones in the back seat had severe stomachaches. The shake caused them more pain, and they could not hold back their tears.

"Mommy, are you alright?"

Lucian witnessed the whole process. The first thing he did was comfort the two little ones and ask about his mommy's condition.

Rosalie's hands were still shaking.

She heard the cries of the little ones and Lucian's concerned question.

However, all she could focus on was the shaking tree before her.

They had almost...

The worst thing would have happened if she had not reacted in time just now.

She took the little ones out for a camping trip but did not take good care of them.

She could not even take them out of this place when they were already in so much pain. She even put them in such a dangerous situation.

The feeling of remorse overtook Rosalie.

"Mommy!"

After a while, Lucian raised his voice anxiously when he got no response from Rosalie. "Let's go back quickly!"

Snapping out her regretful thoughts, Rosalie took a deep breath and forced herself to calm down. "I'm fine. Take good care of Nox and Estie."

Then, Rosalie tried to start the car engine.

Unexpectedly, the engine only roared twice and did not start up.

Rosalie's heart sank, and she tried to start the car again.

However, the same thing happened.

After several attempts, Rosalie still failed to start the car.

She had to accept her fate. The crash just now had ruined her engine.

In the backseat, the little ones continued to sob.

It sounded like the little ones were shaking as they sobbed.

Rosalie felt sorry for them. "I'll go down and check the car."

She got out of the car and tried to see if she could fix it.

However, she did not know much about cars. After searching the internet and doing some research, she still could not figure out how to fix the situation.

As the minutes ticked by, Rosalie closed her front boot in frustration. Then, she headed to the backseat.

Lucian saw that his Mommy was depressed, and his mood sank too. However, he remained calm and opened the back door.

"Mommy, how's everything going?"

Rosalie heard the little ones' sobs when Lucian opened the door.

She was worried.

The little ones were already suffering. It would make them afraid if she showed her panic.

With this in mind, Rosalie took a deep breath and comforted the little ones with a smile.

"There's something wrong with the car. It might not start up. I'll call someone."

Lucian nodded and agreed obediently. "I'll take good care of Estie and Nox."

Seeing the little one being so sensible, Rosalie felt touched. "Thank you, sweetheart."

If it were not for Lucian, Rosalie had no idea if she would still be so calm.

She had experienced countless incidents in her life.

However, this time was different. Estelle and Nox were suffering in pain now. She could not calm herself down that quickly.
