

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 965

The search went on all morning.

It was not until the afternoon that Luther came back with Kevin again, the former's face looked a little dissatisfied.

'Master, I didn't find anything.'

One must admit that this person was a very good private detective. They did not know how he had contacted his employer all these years. Not to mention the evidence that Kevin was instructed to monitor Rosalie, even the evidence that Kevin was a private detective was not found.

Kevin promptly acted pitifully. "President Lawrence, I've said it before, no one ordered me."

Byron waited for a long time, but to no avail, yet this initiator still put up an act in front of him that made his eyes red with anger.

"If no one is instructing you, why are you following her?"

Kevin blinked innocently. ' Because...Miss Jacobs is very beautiful.

Coincidentally, I wanted to change careers, so I followed her to capture some beautiful photos."

Before Luther's search, Kevin was still a little guilty. However, now that Luther had not found any evidence, Kevin felt confident.

The storm in Byron's eyes was simmering, and he stared at the man for a long time.

Kevin's arrogance gradually subsided again, and he stood quietly in the center of the room with his tail between his legs.

"Master, how about..." Luther's eyes flashed a little coldly.

There were many ways for them to interrogate a person. This person was so disrespectful to his young master that Luther can't stand it anymore!

Kevin could hear the dangerous intent in his tone, and there was a moment of panic in his eyes.

The next second, Byron spoke. "Let him go."

"Master!" Luther's face was full of disapproval.

'First, they did not get anything from the search; second, with this person's attitude, it was enough to teach him a lesson!'

Kevin was also a little surprised.

'How could Byron let me go so easily?'

'How could he believe me so much?'

Byron repeated coldly, "Let him go!"

Luther saw his boss' face, and even though he was reluctant, he could only get the men holding Kevin back down.

Kevin did not expect that the man would be fooled so easily, and for a while, he did not know whether he should go or not.

Just when he hesitated, Byron's impatient gaze swept over. "Piss off, now!"

Kevin suddenly came back to his senses, nodded quickly, and shamelessly agreed. "I'll go now, I'll get out of here."

While speaking, he walked backward and left Byron's office.

Luther's face was full of resentment as he watched the man weasel his way out.

"Master, are you really letting him go like this? He must know something!"

Byron's eyes narrowed, and after a while, he said in a deep voice, "Send someone to watch him."

Since this person was unwilling to cooperate, even if they tortured him to extort a confession and made him confess who was behind this, it would be useless.

Without evidence, even the Lawrence family could not do anything to that person.

He had to get evidence.

At his young master's order, Luther quickly understood that his boss did not want to let that person go, but just wanted him to let down his guard so that they could find evidence.

Luther's resentment faded away, and he turned around to instruct someone to follow Kevin.

At the same time, at the ground floor of the Lawrence Corporation.

Kevin walked out of the Lawrence Corporation main door, he was visibly relieved.

He had worked in this industry for so many years, he had also heard a lot about Byron Lawrence.

Everyone said that President Lawrence's joy and anger were indistinguishable, and his methods were ruthless.

He thought that he was going to be here today.

He never expected that he could come out unscathed.
