

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 972

Rosalie had expected that attitude from Melody.

However, Rosalie was still annoyed when she saw Melody taking her for granted, but she did not show it.

“It was Byron and Estie’s decision to let Estie stay in my place. Mrs. Lawrence, you are Estie’s grandma. I have no objections if you want to take Estie back, but I think you should respect Estie’s decision too.”

Melody frowned.

She had asked Estelle just now.

However, Estelle seemed reluctant. She began to suspect Rosalie must have swayed Estelle into this.

That was why Melody chose to ask Rosalie instead.

Unexpectedly, Rosalie answered her in that way.

Melody, who was already angry, heard Estie’s cute voice.

“Grandma, Estie doesn’t want to go back. Estie wants to play with Estie’s brothers.”

The little one tried to persuade Melody with a sad look.

Melody would have given in if she had seen Estelle like this usually.

However, anger had overpowered her now, and Estelle’s act had made her anger boil more.

‘You have no choice. You are a part of the Lawrence family. How can you always stay in other people’s houses and trouble them?’

The little one winced at these words and said, “Estie isn’t trouble...”

With that, the little one looked at Rosalie, trying to get her approval.

Rosalie’s heart melted when she saw Estelle looking at her. She smiled and nodded. “Estie isn’t trouble.”

The little one turned around and looked at her grandma again, hoping her grandma could understand she was not a trouble to Rosalie.

Melody’s anger flared when she saw Rosalie backing up for Melody.

She could not scold her granddaughter, so she could only glare at Rosalie.

‘You’d better take more care of your two children if you have the time. Estie is ours. You don’t have to pretend to be kind!’

With that, Melody glanced at the two little boys coldly.

Lucian and Nox had been staring at Melody longingly since just now.

Estelle's grandma was naturally their grandma.

Although the little ones had many people loving them since they were kids, they still longed for grandmotherly love from Melody when they saw her.

However, the little ones felt their feelings for Melody fading after seeing how she had treated their Mommy.

The little ones felt disappointed when they saw that look from Melody on them.

So, they stopped staring at Melody.

Rosalie stepped forward in time to protect the two little ones behind her.

"I have only done my duty as a doctor, and you may rest assured that I have no interest in the position, Mrs. Lawrence."

The little ones did not know what she meant by that position, but Melody knew it.

'You better be!' Melody got up from the sofa, carrying Estelle.

The little one knew her grandmother would take her away, and tears filled her eyes as she whimpered.

"Lucian, Nox..."

Melody felt sorry for Estelle when she heard Estelle's voice, but she remained firm in her decision and said, "They are not your brothers. We only have you in the Lawrence family. You have no brothers."

Estelle cried even more.

Rosalie could not stand seeing Estelle crying. She wanted to appease Estelle, but the stare from Melody made her freeze.

The two little ones could only see that Estelle was crying so much that they rushed at her anxiously.

"Grandma, please let Estie stay for another two days. We'll take good care of her."
