Billionaire Wants To Get Married Chapter 14

‘What are you chatting about?’

Felton, who’s at the entrance, asked. He had just returned from work when he saw this scene.

Sebastian pointed at Vanessa and scolded, ‘It’s your sister! She has picked up all the bad habits in the countryside and has no good manners at all!’

After getting the whole thing straight, Felton pursed his lips, ‘Dad, Vanessa has the right to socialize with people, not to mention that they were just having a meal together. It was not something of a taboo, you don’t have to be like this.”

‘Felton, why are you defending her?’ Queenie was upset. Her big brother used to love her the most, but now he defended Vanessa so much.

‘I’m just telling the truth.’ Felton loosened his tie, looking a little tired, ‘Vanessa grew up alone in the countryside for so many years and didn’t feel much warmth of family. It’s too much when you said she was lack good manners.”

Lack of Good Manners Sebastian was at a disadvantage, plus he valued Felton, so he did not speak again for a while.

Felton then turned to Vanessa again and said, ‘Anyway, you’re not a homeless country girl anymore. You should tell us your whereabouts in the future so that we won’t be worried about you.”

Vanessa stared at him quietly for a while, and there was no emotion in her black eyes, ‘I see.”

She knew that Felton was not a bad guy.

‘Alright, go upstairs and get some rest.”

Felton stretched out his hand and wanted to stroke her head, but eventually stopped and just smiled faintly.

After Vanessa left, he looked sternly at the others, ‘Dad, Mom, Vanessa has suffered so much, and she has to marry a disabled man as soon as getting back, we owe her in the first place. How could you be so harsh on her?’

Sebastian had always valued his reputation and did not want to end up with a reputation for selling his daughter for glory, so he impatiently waved his hand, 'Fine, we didn't mean that. It's just she's so tough.'

'I will talk to her, and I believe she is not unreasonable.'

Felton turned around and went upstairs, not seeing Queenie's face, which was full of hatred.

She bit her lip and complained to Elise, 'Mom, why does brother defend her so much?'

Obviously, they were siblings who grew up together, and Vanessa was just a country girl who had just returned a few days ago. Felton cared that damn girl so much!

Queenie was full of resentment and wanted to question Felton, but was stopped by Elise.

'You don't understand. They are, after all, blood siblings. Your brother has always been nice, of course, he will take care of her more. However...'

ver...'

Elise sneered. However, after Vanessa got married, how was he going to take care of her?

The mother and daughter glanced at each other, both with evilness in their eyes.

Especially Queenie. She had always been the most dazzling princess in this family and would never allow anyone to threaten her position.

Didn't Vanessa want to get into University A?

She would definitely not let that happen!

At the same time, Felton stood at the door of Vanessa's bedroom and knocked on the door.

'Vanessa, it's me.'

The door to the room opened, revealing Vanessa's delicate face.

'You need anything?' She was always frank and honest, and with her expressionless look, people were easy to feel offended. But Felton didn't feel that way. He said sincerely, "There are some things I want to talk to you about."
