Billionaire Wants To Get Married Chapter 18

Vanessa and Aaron had lunch outside before returning to the Simmons mansion in the afternoon.

When she was changing her shoes at the entrance, Queenie's sarcastic voice rang out behind her, 'Did you take the exam today? How was it?'

Vanessa glanced at her and said indifferently, 'Not bad.'

Although there was a little accident in the middle, she did achieve her goal.

'No wonder you don't look happy,' Queenie thought Vanessa had failed the exam smile d even more smugly 'Don't be too sad, University A is the country's top academic institution, and not just anyone can get into it.'

Vanessa wanted to explain herself, but felt it unnecessary.

But Queenie was determined to embarrass Vanessa, so she called Sebastian and Elise to the living room and told them about Vanessa's failure.

Sebastian was disappointed, 'I told you not to be insolent, you are disgracing our family!'

'Dad, don't blame Vanessa, she just tried to be better.' Queenie once again played the good guy and looked like she cared about Vanessa.

Vanessa was not interested in playing along with her and was about to tell the truth when suddenly, the doorbell rang.

After the maid opened the door, a group of seven or eight people walked straight in.

Queenie quickly saw the face of the middle-aged man at the front, and it was the principal of University A! The few that followed behind were also leaders of University A!

As a student at University A, she rightly assumed that these big shots were coming for her, so she smiled and went up to say hello.

But it was funny that they simply ignored her and then walked up to Vanessa.

'Miss

Vanessa, Your performance today was simply breathtaking. It's our honor to have a student like you at University A! That's why I brought some teachers to Plaved Properly meet you in person!"

The principal and the people behind him all repeatedly praised Vanessa.

And Vanessa was not subservient, she was self-possessed, full of elegance and nobleness.

With them, it saved her from having to explain. She casually answered, 'I just played properly.'

'You're being too modest. You are definitely the first-class level, very promising to enter the Music Association.'

Queenie next to Vanessa was so angry that her eyes were red. How was this possible? Vanessa was just a bumpkin who grew up in the countryside, how on earth did she get the approval of these leaders?

Sebastian, who had just reprimanded Vanessa, also changed his face at this time, 'So, Vanessa really get an admission to University A?'

'Absolutely. Mr. Simmons is so envious to have a daughter like Vanessa.'

In the evening, several leaders, including the principal, stayed at the Simmons mansion for dinner because of Vanessa. During the dinner, everyone was talking Plaved Properly about Vanessa.

Sebastian felt a sense of honor, so he solemnly announced after the dinner party was over, 'I'm going to throw a party at home to celebrate Vanessa's admission to University A this weekend, and to announce to the world that my long-lost daughter is back!'

When these words came out, Vanessa, who was the main character, did not feel anything. But Queenie and her mother both reacted strongly.

'But she hasn't been back long enough to learn basic manners. Are we not in a hurry to do it?' Queenie hurriedly persuaded, afraid that Vanessa had stolen her thunder.

Sebastian, however, had already made up his mind, turning his head and instructing Elise, 'Get the invitations ready early and send them to all the young men and ladies in the upper class. The more people, the livelier.”
