

Chapter 1:

When the nursery rhyme opened WeChat, she saw the message sent by her friend Jinyang. She first stunned for three seconds, then touched the biscuit on the table and stuffed it into her mouth. She thought about it and wanted to reply: Break up for it.

The four words slammed into the face, and the nursery rhymes stared at them for a long time. They screamed for a while, then reacted again. How many times did she “snap” the people on the phone?

Today’s boyfriend Ai Jia is a League of Legends professional player, which is the “e-sports player” in the mouth. After the e-sports were officially recognized as sports in the early years, these e-sports players are treated or exposed. They all pulled up a grade.

Although in essence, most of the professions are Internet addiction juveniles, simple thoughts, as long as there is a computer to survive happily -

But if you fall in love with them, it’s probably not much different from falling in love with a star.

“I have said that I should not promise the internet addiction teenager.”

The nursery rhyme grabbed a piece of biscuit and stuffed it into her mouth. For the time being, she didn’t know how to reply to her friend who was still on the head, so she simply opened the game icon of the League of Legends on the computer desktop.

The interface is all Korean, she has been playing hanbok recently, because the development of Korea’s e-sports industry is more mature, so in comparison, the hanbok masters are more, so the world’s professional players are rushing to Korea

Tong Tong has also met several times.

Logging in to the game, I haven’t officially started queuing to match the opponent. At this time, a dialog box pops up in the lower left corner. It is an English id. The nursery rhyme squints and wants to see what the person said, and finds that the other person is very straight to the point -

Silence on the opposite side for three seconds.

Then send a bunch of “hahahahahahah” -

The nursery rhymes stared at the four letters on the screen for a long time. After a while, they screamed. The mother-in-law who killed the fish in the kitchen was shocked and rushed in with a kitchen knife: “What are you doing! What are you?!” “Mom, someone is looking for me to play a professional!” said Tong Yu, pointing to the computer screen. “It is a very famous team. It is sponsored by China Telecom and is headquartered in Shanghai.”

The mother-in-law “snapped” without showing any fluctuations: “I also received a phone call last week saying that I had a Rolls-Royce in the order when I bought fish at the supermarket.”

Nursery rhymes: “...”

Mother: “How are you so deceived? You still play professional, don’t you play with a broken computer, and you have finished your summer homework?”

“Which big summer vacation is there...” Tong Yu said as he screwed his head and looked at the screen. He said, “They said that the annual salary is 600,000 yuan. The game is close to another. If you are not satisfied, you can talk.”

“.....” Tongmu said, “You give him contact information.”

“Don’t you say a liar?”

“The liar will say six million.”

“Maybe this is a less ridiculous liar.”

“Your phone number will not be a piece of meat for the liar.”

“...Is it not good to read?”

“After school, earn 600,000 and go back to read,” the mother waved with a kitchen knife. “Give him a call.”

As if the nursery rhyme dare to say “no” the next second the kitchen knife will be inserted in her head, the nursery rhyme shook his head, turned his head and thought about it, so he put a line on the computer -

Lpl is the abbreviation of China League of League of Legends Professional League. The whole team has 12 teams. The zgdx team belongs to the upstream team. There are many star players. There are a lot of votes for domestic and foreign fans. Compared with today’s boyfriend...I am not an ex-boyfriend. Aijia’s yqcb team is even more powerful.

Tong Tong also likes this team very much, and she will pay attention to their games.

I was really happy to see the people at the beginning of the team to contact her. But at the moment it seems that nothing else is a problem. The problem is -

She is a woman.

In addition to accepting a female professional player in the North American Division last year, looking at the major competitions around the world, it seems that there is no second girl standing on the dazzling stage of the game - the North American Division did this out, in the circle It also caused a small earthquake.

The nursery rhyme wiped her face and looked at the dialog box and found that she did not reply to her. She also knew that there was no such thing as the following. She couldn't say that she was disappointed or something else, and she didn't feel the game. She is preparing to close the dialog box, and then she sees the opposite side again -

“ ... ”

Now suddenly I feel that Sanmao English is quite cute.

In the optimism of “even if you are a liar, let the old lady happy, I also recognize it”, the nursery rhyme sent his mobile phone number to the opposite side, and then played the game. At this time, she found that her WeChat information had been smashed by her friends.

.....

The nursery rhyme looked all the way and laughed.

At the end of the laugh, she was embarrassed. She was lazy to type “to be optimistic, come out and ask for a big meal” in the input box. At this time, the opposite side suddenly jumped out again -

The nursery rhymes stopped half of the words on their hands and thought about it and deleted them all. Then she was silent, and for a moment she thought of something, the smile on her lips converges, and she lowered her eyes and seriously made a line of words -