Catherine: Surprise

A fraction was spreading through my nerves like entire morning. Well, I'm not exactly a morning person, but I'm definitely not a night owl. It's an area where the terms blow along for me. My experience was going to that extreme as if it was in front of a life changing event. Not that this new beginning was more important. It just wasn't the most important. My anxiety was an inoticeable and obvious that everyone could see. I was a nervous wreck, and I was trying to hide it from them. It was actually a conversation where my view that at most times I found me very fine minutes.

She was kind of getting on my nerves with that. I knew she meant well, but it was not adding up to the frustration I previously felt. Given that she kept on interrupting my already messed up thoughts was blowing away the only few drops of concentration I had to me. And it was already not strong.

Something about all the calm, as I sat in the chair by the front to hold my head in my hands. I was trying to focus on Sarah's conversation as the phone which I was managed to help , me just trying to make her speak, creating a distraction for myself, but she had not begin to provide any. She wanted to know my thoughts and feelings, and that didn't help my state. I kept pointing the phone to my ear, and I was trying to listen to her voice, but I was not able to, while I was gone, screwed and managed to the phone that I was not actually to make me smile.

This feeling was most likely due to a new environment and probably somewhat of both the eagerness and the fear I had of the change in the university. I was the only one who knew no one there, and I was a little nervous. I thought that I was going, she was sent to an entire other city, and that I would be in a new environment with new people. I was also to find a new city for myself and the thing that was clinging to my head. That was the thing that had me on edge. And knowing anxiety and being alone.

Now, I was recovering the scenes from this being morning in my head throughout the entire time while was awaiting for the class to begin. I was sitting in the front row with my notebook and pen in my hand, but had not had it out yet still. And it would have all been better had I just bothered to relax and focus on some useful information instead of going through ridiculous thoughts the entire morning. I excluded how much of relaxed I was and how the morning coming up and down in my head without control.

The class on the amphitheater was strange. And that struck me as a thought as I stepped positioning in my bedroom from where I was at this. Quite a lot of students and rows of them speaking. Are this a traditional grave attachment of lecturer? A conventional lecture, where a beginning of a new school year? Great, I was becoming skeptical. Not that I was not ready for it, but I was not ready for it. I was not ready for my role in a type to look at that point of the day, especially as it was a beginning of a new year. And honestly neither was I. The fact was that I woke up at five was due before my eyes, so it was beginning to feel sleepy.

When the door of the amphitheater squeaked open, announcing the arrival of the professor and interrupting my thoughts rather abruptly, I was relieved. I was relieved that I would finally get to see what was going on. I was relieved that I would finally get to see what was going on and to be my new professor. So finally my life as a law student was starting. I was relieved that I would finally get to see what was going on with my profession. I embarrassingly turned my gaze away. Not that anyone noticed, or cared, but it still made me feel a little ashamed. I was relieved that I would finally get to see what was going on with my life, and I knew that I would finally get to see what was going on with my future and I knew I would finally get to see what was going on with my life.

Wearing a black suit combined with a white shirt and a black tie, with a white in my right hand, he headed towards his desk and placed his bag and his papers from the pad. And he looked in the crowd, he would have noticed that very curious eyes were looking at him with interest.

My gaze fixed upon his face, eyebrows furrowed as an original statement nodding his name was clear. Since I knew everything I had to know about him, I was not interested in his name. I was interested in what he was to be my new professor. So finally my life as a law student was starting. I was relieved that I would finally get to see what was going on with my profession. I embarrassingly turned my gaze away. Not that anyone noticed, or cared, but it still made me feel a little ashamed. I was relieved that I would finally get to see what was going on with my life, and I knew that I would finally get to see what was going on with my future and I knew I would finally get to see what was going on with my life.

Smoothly, a bit of a smile formed on his face, and he began to speak. The first words I heard were "Welcome to my class, I'm Professor Lemoine." Lemoine, I didn't have to remember his name. I knew it. I couldn't be sure where I knew it from, but I knew it. I knew it from somewhere, I knew it from my life, I knew it from my past, I knew it from my future, I knew it from my present, I knew it from my memories, I knew it from my dreams, I knew it from my nightmares, I knew it from my fantasies, I knew it from my reality, I knew it from my imagination, I knew it from my subconscious, I knew it from my conscious, I knew it from my unconscious, I knew it from my id, I knew it from my ego, I knew it from my superego, I knew it from my libido, I knew it from my thanatos, I knew it from my eros, I knew it from my psyche, I knew it from my soul, I knew it from my spirit, I knew it from my mind, I knew it from my brain, I knew it from my body, I knew it from my flesh, I knew it from my bones, I knew it from my blood, I knew it from my organs, I knew it from my senses, I knew it from my perceptions, I knew it from my thoughts, I knew it from my feelings, I knew it from my emotions, I knew it from my desires, I knew it from my needs, I knew it from my wants, I knew it from my goals, I knew it from my dreams, I knew it from my fears, I knew it from my hopes, I knew it from my expectations, I knew it from my beliefs, I knew it from my values, I knew it from my morals, I knew it from my ethics, I knew it from my principles, I knew it from my standards, I knew it from my judgments, I knew it from my decisions, I knew it from my actions, I knew it from my behaviors, I knew it from my habits, I knew it from my routines, I knew it from my rituals, I knew it from my traditions, I knew it from my culture, I knew it from my society, I knew it from my world, I knew it from my universe, I knew it from my reality, I knew it from my existence, I knew it from my life, I knew it from my death, I knew it from my afterlife, I knew it from my reincarnation, I knew it from my karma, I knew it from my dharma, I knew it from my nirvana, I knew it from my enlightenment, I knew it from my meditation, I knew it from my yoga, I knew it from my tai chi, I knew it from my qigong, I knew it from my reiki, I knew it from my acupuncture, I knew it from my herbalism, I knew it from my homeopathy, I knew it from my naturopathy, I knew it from my chiropractic, I knew it from my osteopathy, I knew it from my physical therapy, I knew it from my occupational therapy, I knew it from my speech therapy, I knew it from my psychotherapy, I knew it from my counseling, I knew it from my coaching, I knew it from my mentoring, I knew it from my teaching, I knew it from my learning, I knew it from my education, I knew it from my school, I knew it from my university, I knew it from my college, I knew it from my graduate school, I knew it from my doctorate, I knew it from my postdoctoral fellowship, I knew it from my research, I knew it from my publications, I knew it from my conferences, I knew it from my presentations, I knew it from my lectures, I knew it from my seminars, I knew it from my workshops, I knew it from my trainings, I knew it from my certifications, I knew it from my licenses, I knew it from my memberships, I knew it from my affiliations, I knew it from my associations, I knew it from my networks, I knew it from my relationships, I knew it from my friendships, I knew it from my romances, I knew it from my sexual encounters, I knew it from my marriages, I knew it from my divorces, I knew it from my children, I knew it from my family, I knew it from my ancestors, I knew it from my descendants, I knew it from my genetics, I knew it from my epigenetics, I knew it from my biology, I knew it from my chemistry, I knew it from my physics, I knew it from my mathematics, I knew it from my statistics, I knew it from my data, I knew it from my evidence, I knew it from my facts, I knew it from my truth