

The Yun Family's Ninth Child is an Imp! Chapter 1373

Yun Chujiu didn't know the news of di Beiming's arrival. Although Feng Ming and the other two knew, no one told her. It had to be said that di Beiming was very prescient in this aspect. Before he took Yun Chujiu down, he had already taken down everyone around her. If there was any news, it would reach di Beiming's ears.

At this moment, Yun Chujiu was drinking tea with Lan Luochen in the courtyard. There were two plates of pastries on the stone table. They were sent over by Lan Ruochen from the far north.

Lan Ruochen frowned slightly. Someone was here?

After a while, Yun Chujiu also noticed it. She was very puzzled. Why did she feel that there were many people coming over? She hadn't done anything bad recently. Would anyone come to settle the score with her?

"Yun Chujiu, come out and welcome me. Your Majesty Is Here!" A teacher's voice sounded from outside the courtyard.

Yun Chujiu's eyes lit up and she ran towards the courtyard entrance. When she opened the courtyard door, she saw di Beiming staring at her with his dead fish eyes. This fellow suddenly felt a little guilty.

Pui! What am I guilty of? I haven't done anything wrong to the gigolo. HMPH!

After this fellow finished his mental preparation, he said with a smile, "Brother Beiming, did my aunt ask you to send me something again?"

Di beiming nodded, then he said with a straight face, "That's right, my mother also wants me to tell you a few words. She wants you to study at the Tian Yuan Academy so that you can cultivate properly, not come to drink tea and chat. If you don't cultivate properly, then drop out!"

No one had expected di beiming to say such a thing. Furthermore, when they saw Lan Luochen and the teapot and pastries on the stone table in the courtyard, they immediately understood what di beiming meant.

It must be that the palace mistress knew that Yun chujiu and Lan Luochen had a close relationship, so she could not stop them openly. She must have asked the honored guest to pass on the message. However, why would the palace mistress not want Yun chujiu to have a relationship with Lan Luochen?

Although Lan Luochen's family background was not comparable to the longevity palace, but it was a thousand times stronger than Yun Chujiu's. Moreover, Lan Luochen's appearance and spiritual power were both outstanding among people. The palace master's wife's objection was too unreasonable!

Yun chujiu never thought that di beiming would say this. Of course, she understood that this was not the palace master's wife's intention. It must be the damn gigolo who was jealous. Damn it, aren't you being too jealous? You came all the way here just to make me lose face?

Yun Chujiu's little face sank. "Brother Beiming, please tell my aunt that my tea and chatting did not delay my cultivation. Moreover, it's up to me whether I quit school or not. Even my aunt can't interfere with me!"

When di beiming saw that Yun Chujiu actually contradicted him in front of everyone, his aura became even colder. The people around di beiming could not help but shiver. Yun Chujiu was in trouble. His Majesty was about to get angry!

"Yun Chujiu, since you are so stubborn, then I can only follow my mother's orders and take you back to the Temple of Immortals!" Di beiming stared at Yun Chujiu and said.

Yun chujiu was so angry that her face was red. "If you dare to take me away, I will hang myself in your temple of Immortals!"

When di beiming heard Yun Chujiu's words, he was even more furious. The black thing must have a good impression of that Lan Luochen. Otherwise, she would not treat him like this. She must have mistaken LAN Luochen for that mermaid! Thinking back to the time when she drew the portrait of that mermaid, she even talked about some hehehe issues. It was simply infuriating!