

The Yun Family's Ninth Child is an Imp! Chapter 1754

Yun chujiu could not help but tremble when she heard di beiming's mushy words. Oh My God, normally, shouldn't such sweet words sound very sweet? Why did she feel so awkward when she heard the Pretty Boy's Words?

Yun chujiu listened to it again and felt that her entire person was not good. Not only was there no sweetness in her heart, but she also felt strange. It was as if di beiming had been possessed by someone.

"Ahem, my Prince Charming, it's better for you not to say these things in the future. I think it's better for you to remain as you are!" Yun Chujiu said with a stiff face.

On the other side, di beiming felt as if his heart was going to explode. If I don't say it, you will just let me say it. If I say it, you will despise me. What exactly are you trying to do?

Yun chujiu also knew that there was a limit to being a demon, so she quickly added, "My Prince Charming, from now on, let me be the one to say these sweet words. You just need to be responsible for your actions! I miss you so much! Come, give me a Kiss!"

After hearing Yun Chujiu's words, Di Beiming's disappointment was instantly swept away. The pink bubbles in his heart kept popping up, and he wished that he could immediately meet his sweetheart and have a good time.

The two of them chatted for a while more, until Yun Chujiu said that she was tired, then they each put away their voice transmission talismans.

In the blink of an eye, it was the night of the appointment. You Chi and the other five people were not on duty today, so they deliberately switched shifts with someone else. Moreover, the dark guards patrolling today were all you chi and the others' best friends, so Yun Chujiu arrived at the back garden without any obstruction.

You Chi and the other three were very puzzled. It was already midnight, so what was Miss Chuchu doing in the back garden? Did she have to admire the flowers before the battle? What the hell was wrong with her?

Yun chujiu pointed at the pavilion with the secret passage and said, "You Chi and I will go to that pavilion. The four of you are responsible for guarding and don't let anyone get close."

Although the five of them did not understand, they still nodded in agreement. Since they had already boarded the pirate ship, they could only listen to the little pervert.

Yun Chujiu brought you chi into the pavilion. Yun chujiu sat calmly on the stone bench and even took out a plate of pastries. "It's still early. Eat some!"

You Chi was dumbfounded. Are you crazy? At this time, you still want to eat?

Yun Chujiu did not bother with him. She ate very sweetly. She had to work hard later. How could she not be full? !

Finally, the sound of knocking came from under the Stone Table. You Chi was shocked. Just as he was about to speak, Yun chujiu made a gesture of silence. "Help me move this stone table away."

Although You Chi was confused, he did not dare to delay. He quickly moved the stone table away with Yun Chujiu. Then, he saw a person jump up from inside.

That person wore a black mask. Although his face could not be seen clearly, the imposing manner of the superior almost made you chi kneel on the ground.

When Yun Chujiu saw the person, she immediately threw herself into his arms. "Prince Charming, you're finally here!"

You Chi was even more confused. What the hell was a Prince Charming? Could it be an emissary from the Netherworld's spirit sect? Why did the emissary appear from underground?

You Chi felt that his brain was not enough. What he saw next was even more confusing. He saw people jumping up from below. One, two, ten, fifty..

You Chi only had one thought in his mind. Oh God, Miss Chuchu actually dug a secret tunnel. How did she do it?

In the end, there were three to four hundred people who came up through the tunnel. Although their spiritual power was not particularly high, the murderous aura from their bodies made people feel a chill down their spine.

You Chi was initially a little worried that the operation this time would not succeed. Now that he saw these people, especially that man, he instantly felt more confident. It would definitely succeed!
