

The Yun Family's Ninth Child is an Imp! Chapter 1782

After Yun Chujiu bragged about herself, she began to look at the furnishings in the room.

Although the furniture in the room was not considered expensive, it was considered outstanding in this mountain village. Yun chujiu thought of the three tile-roofed houses and could not help but have a vague guess in her heart.

The three tile-roofed houses and the furnishings in the room would definitely attract the attention of some people. As long as the orphan girl died, these things would probably fall into the hands of someone with good intentions. Therefore, there must be a conspiracy behind this.

Aiya, what I like the most is to expose a conspiracy. Thinking about it, it's really wonderful!

This fellow is really generous. After thinking for a while, he went to bed and fell asleep soundly.

On the other side, the Qi ling was hopping with anger.

F * ck!

That damned brat, she actually made up some dragon girl!

Those stupid humans actually believed it. It was just a rainstorm. This was purely a coincidence!

Qi Ling would never admit that it was the energy change it caused. If that was the case, wouldn't it be a slap in the face?

Although Qi Ling wanted nothing more than to stop the rain, Yun Chujiu's guess was right. Qi Ling did not have the right to change the rules of this small world. It could only watch Yun Chujiu's performance as a bystander.

The rainstorm lasted for less than four hours before it stopped. The full moon hung in the sky again as if nothing had happened.

boxn ov el. c o m

The villagers were worried. Yun Chujiu said that it would rain, and it did. She said that there would be strong wind and lightning, and there was indeed strong wind and lightning. Was she really the Dragon Lady? Wouldn't they be punished for treating her like that?

So, early in the morning, the villagers gathered outside the village chief's courtyard.

When the village chief showed up., the few villagers who were on duty last night quickly said, "Village Chief, yesterday was really too scary. After the Dragon Lady chanted the spell, the sky started to thunder and lightning. "We tried our best to persuade her, but after the Dragon Lady agreed to go home, she had the people above her put away her magical powers, so we sent her home. As expected, in less than four hours, the wind and rain stopped."

When the village chief heard that., san Jiaoyan immediately glared. "What? You actually dared to let that Jinx go? ! You guys are really stupid to the extreme ! What's so strange about this god raining ? It's just a coincidence ! It's over, she must have taken the opportunity to escape ! The people of our village will continue to be unlucky!"

When the villagers heard that and recalled the strange things that had happened recently, their hearts began to waver again. Was this Yun chujiu the Dragon Lady or the Jinx?

"What are you waiting for? That Jinx won't be able to run far. Hurry up and chase after her!"The village chief shouted in exasperation.

Just as the villagers were about to chase after her, they heard someone say lazily, “Who are you chasing after?”

“Yun Chujiu? You Jinx, how Dare You Come Here! Tie her up!”The village chief was stunned for a moment before he shouted loudly.

“Wait, I’ve already proven that I’m the reincarnation of the Dragon Lady. How Dare You Catch Me? Do you all want to die?”Yun Chujiu said indifferently.

The village chief rolled his triangular eyes. “What Bullsh * t Dragon Lady! If you were the Dragon Lady, why didn’t you say it before?”

The villagers also looked at Yun chujiu with puzzlement. Yes, why didn’t you say it before?

“Sigh, your question is really stupid. Which immortal didn’t have a seal placed on them when they descended to the mortal world? “I’m naturally no exception. It’s just that yesterday, at the critical moment, an old friend opened my seal, and I only remembered it now.”Yun chujiu curled her lips, she spoke in a high and mighty tone.

The villagers looked at Yun Chujiu, who had a completely different temperament from before. When they recalled the storm last night, they were 70% convinced.