

The Yun Family's Ninth Child is an Imp! Chapter 1786

The village chief's wife was just a village woman with limited knowledge. Her legs went weak after being frightened by Yun Chujiu.

Yun chujiu continued, "Have you heard of a term called bewitching the masses? The two of you did all those dirty things and put them on my head. Then, you said that I was a jinx or something. This is bewitching the masses!

"The current emperor is so wise. How can there be a Jinx in the world? "This is a great crime to kill nine families. If it was your idea, then kill nine families of your own family! "If it was the village chief's idea, then kill nine families of his!"

Kill nine families? The village chief's wife was so scared that she collapsed on the ground. She howled, "This was all that damned idea. He took a fancy to your three tile-roofed houses and said that he could get the house if he killed you. I was forced by him!"

The village chief's head buzzed when he heard his wife's words, but his mouth was gagged and he could not speak.

"According to what you said, this was all the village chief's idea? Then tell me what happened. With so many people to prove it to you, you can get rid of the main culprit."

The village chief's wife was so scared by Yun Chujiu's words that she almost fainted. She immediately told him what happened.

In fact, it was very simple. When Li Zhuzi was repairing the wall of the village chief's house, the village chief took advantage of his carelessness and bumped into him. Li Zhuzi's leg was broken. The reason why the iron chain fell into the well was because.., the village chief's wife had smeared some tung oil on the side of the well. After the iron chain fell in, the village chief covered the tung oil on the ground with soil. The fire at Aunt Liu's house was also set by the village chief.

As for carpenter Liu's son, the village chief coveted the silver collar and wanted to make the matter bigger so that he could compel the villagers to burn Yun Chujiu to death. Therefore, he put the poison in the soup and fed it to carpenter Sun's son, the poison would not immediately kill people, so carpenter Liu did not suspect the village chief.

After the villagers heard what the village chief's wife said, a few of the victims immediately rushed to the village chief and his wife, beating and scolding them. The scene was very chaotic for a moment.

Yun chujiu watched the farce with a smile. People really had to have brains. Otherwise, they wouldn't even know that they were being played, let alone using their brains to save themselves.

After a while, yun chujiu said, "Alright, stop beating them. If they really die, it won't be good if the officials know about it. Just send them to the officials tomorrow."

When the villagers heard what Yun Chujiu said, they all stopped. Although the villagers didn't care about Burning Yun Chujiu, an orphan, to death, the village chief was still registered by the higher-ups. If he really died, there would be trouble.

Now that the truth was out, the villagers were a little embarrassed. Carpenter Liu took the lead and said, "Eldest niece, it's all thanks to you this time. We were bewitched before. I'm really sorry!"

With someone taking the lead, the other villagers also said, "Yes, we wronged you. I didn't expect Liu Wangcai to be such a heartless person. As the village chief, he actually did so many wicked things."

Yun chujiu thought to herself, calling me my niece isn't enough. I have to call her a fairy. What should I do?

Yun chujiu rolled her eyes and came up with an idea. This guy started to tremble violently and began to sing the divine song again.

Although it was in broad daylight, the villagers were still scared stiff. Just when they were at a loss, they heard Yun chujiu say in an ethereal voice, "In order to help you punish the wicked, I leaked the secrets of Heaven. The Heavenly Court is about to send down the heavenly punishment. This heavenly punishment is even more severe than last night. Hurry up and pray for me so that I can avoid this heavenly punishment."
