

The Yun Family's Ninth Child is an Imp! Chapter 1986

Hawk-nosed was so excited that he was incoherent, "Really, really give it to me? A thousand high-grade spirit stones?"

Shopkeeper Pei said with a smile, "Our shop is honest. You won the lottery, so of course, this spirit stone is really for you!"

Hawk-nosed laughed excitedly, "I spent a total of 1,100 spirit stones to buy these things. Now, isn't it equivalent to only spending 100 spirit stones? It's really worth it!"

When the onlookers saw that some people had really won the lottery, some people were tempted. However, most of them still remained on the sidelines.

The following customers also occasionally won the lottery, but most of them were fifth-class or last-class winners. Some people began to question, could it be that there was no big prize at all?

At this moment, a fatty shouted excitedly, "Oh my god! I, I won the first-class Prize?"

Everyone's gaze was focused on the fatty. First Prize? That was 10,000 high-grade spirit stones, was that even possible?

Shopkeeper Pei still had a smile on his face, but in everyone's eyes, he seemed to be forcing a smile. Everyone couldn't help but gloat over his misfortune. He hadn't sold much of this item, and now he was going to lose 10,000 spirit stones.., this Mo's grocery store was going to pay a huge sum of money!

Shopkeeper Pei took the wooden tablet and examined it. He gritted his teeth and said, "Congratulations, sir. You have indeed won the first prize. This is 10,000 high-grade spirit stones. Please keep it well and welcome your next visit."

The fatty was so excited that his face flushed red. "Haha, Haha, I didn't expect to make a small fortune from buying this item. I want to buy some more things. Maybe I can even win the Special Prize!"

After saying this, the Fat Man couldn't wait to go shopping again.

This time, the onlookers couldn't hold back anymore. The owner of Mo's grocery store was so stupid and rich. What were they waiting for? Hurry up and buy! Otherwise, the special prize and the first prize would be gone!

boxn ov el. c o m

The crowd was about to squeeze into the store. Shopkeeper Pei wiped the sweat off his forehead and shouted, "Everyone! Everyone! Our store is small. Don't crowd around. Line up and enter the store in order!"

The crowd was about to go crazy, so they weren't willing to listen to his advice. Fortunately, Yun Chujiu was prepared for this. She borrowed a team of guards from Mo Xiaoting and managed to control the situation, allowing the shop to become orderly.

Not only that, she also asked Mo Xiaoting to transfer a few waiters and a few bookkeepers from other shops. So, even though there were more and more customers, the shop was still in good order.

As the number of people winning the lottery increased, the customers went crazy!

Right now, they weren't thinking about what they were buying. All they wanted was a lucky draw card.

"What are you buying? Don't ask! Just give me whatever you want. I just need 5,000 Spirit Stones!"

"Yes, yes, don't dawdle. Give me 10,000 spirit stones for that Rice Bowl!"

"How troublesome. Give me 20,000 spirit stones for those chopsticks! Hurry up, or else the grand prize will be taken away by others."

..

Shopkeeper Pei wiped his sweat as he thought to himself, have these people gone mad? Chopsticks Worth 20,000 Spirit Stones? Are you trying to use chopsticks to start a fire?

Looking at the bustling scene in Mo Ji's grocery store, the Luo family, Mo Peng, and the others were dumbfounded!

At first, they thought that the lottery was like throwing a stone at their own feet, but now, they realized that even if all the prizes were taken away, Mo Ji's grocery store would still make a profit in the end. In fact, it was a huge profit!

Although Mo Xiaoting did not go to the grocery store to take a look, from afar, he could see that the entire street was lined up with people waiting to enter the store to buy something. He couldn't help but feel elated. Fang Cao was a brilliant idea!