

The Yun Family's Ninth Child is an Imp! Chapter 295

Yun Chujiu felt that the strange grass was just trying to torture her!

The single-horned demon lizard was so huge and it had been drinking the spring water for hundreds of years. How could a small body like hers finish all the spring water?

In actual fact, Yun Chujiu had misunderstood!

The single-horned demon lizard occupied the area because the spring water was very cool. Although the spring water was so clear that one could see the bottom, the single-horned demon lizard did not dare to drink it because the spring water contained a lethal poison!

The concept of poison did not exist in Yun Chujiu's mind as of then because no matter what strange poison she encountered, it would become the nourishment for the strange grass.

Just when Yun Chujiu felt that she was about to freeze to death, the water level in the pool started visibly dropping.

Yun Chujiu was amazed. 'Did I really drink the spring dry?'

The water level gradually dropped, before finally revealing the pebble-filled bottom!

Yun Chujiu thought, 'If only these pebbles were all Spirit Stones! Then, it wouldn't be such a waste for me to drink a bellyful of water.'

'Green foxtail, the water is all gone. You can let me off already, right?' Yun Chujiu was already exasperated by the strange grass.

Unexpectedly, it instructed Yun Chujiu's hand to start rummaging through the rocks at the bottom of the pool.

"F*ck! Green foxtail! You're just making fun of me, aren't you? Do you have a lover under these broken rocks? It's the middle of the night, and you're not letting me sleep. Are you crazy?!" Yun Chujiu was about to go mad.

The strange grass quickly formed the leaves into a heart shape and started acting cute.

"Get lost!" Yun Chujiu felt like she was about to break down!

She searched through all the rocks at the bottom of the pond but did not find anything special. She did not even find the spring! It was really strange. Since there was no spring, where did the water come from?

Finally, Yun Chujiu found a plant that looked like an aquatic plant under a rock in the corner. It was so bright that if one did not look carefully, they would not have found it.

After Yun Chujiu grabbed the plant, it kept struggling, trying to escape.

Before she could react, the strange grass ordered Yun Chujiu to swallow the plant.

Then, it grabbed the plant and began to nibble on it.

Yun Chujiu finally regained control of her body.

'Damn it! Did you torture me for so long just for a piece of broken waterweed? Green foxtail, just you wait, I must think of a way to kill you!'

The strange grass in her Dantian was eating happily and turned a deaf ear to Yun Chujiu's curses and threats.

Yun Chujiu did not have the time to keep cursing it because it was too cold!

Yun Chujiu quickly took out a quilt from her storage ring and wrapped herself up.

"It's too cold! I have to build a fire! Unfortunately, these willows aren't dead, or else..." Yun Chujiu stopped abruptly, it was only now that she realized that the willow forest, which was full of vitality before, had become dry with withered branches.

What was going on?

Yun Chujiu inexplicably thought of the aquatic plant that was eaten by the strange grass!

Could it be that the water in the pond was the willow's fluids? Were the aquatic plants supposed by the willows?

Or were the willows the aquatic plant's food?

Yun Chujiu shivered. Why did she feel like she was in the same situation as the willows? Would she end up like them if the strange grass in her Dantian was taken away?
