

The Yun Family's Ninth Child is an Imp! Chapter 297

"Humph! You know your place!" Yun Chujiu satisfyingly put the small bead in her pocket.

After breakfast, she put out the bonfire completely and kept the simple tent in her storage ring.

She thought for a while. The desert was so cold at night that she did not know if she would be able to walk outside if she needed to. It was better for her to cut some branches and have them ready.

Therefore, Yun Chujiu picked up the large kitchen knife and started cutting.

After a while, she felt that it was too inefficient, and in the end, she simply used lightning to strike them. She was quite greedy and proceeded to keep half of the willow forest in her storage ring before continuing to walk east.

She had long forgotten about the fear from last night. She bounced forward and sang as she walked, "You're the wind, and I'm the sand. It is lingering and winding around the ends of the Earth..."

When she reached a slope, she simply curled her body into a ball and rolled down happily. She was having lots of fun.

"This so-called ancient arcane realm is still quite fun! No wonder he was unwilling to let me in! Stingy!" Yun Chujiu muttered to herself.

A certain realm spirit was mad!

Yun Chujiu, you weirdo!

He could not even kill her by throwing her into the wild desert?!

If it was not against the rules, it would have directly teleported her to the thorn of the giant cactus!

It had spent a lot of effort gathering thousands of desert scorpions to besiege her, but who would have thought that those idiots would actually kill themselves! It was simply angered to no end!

The fruit of the giant cactus was extremely poisonous and could make people or demon beasts go crazy. How could Yun Chujiu eat so much and still be completely fine?!

Furthermore, the one-horned demon lizard was a Tier 8 Demon Beast. It was actually played to death by that little weirdo!! Was that not too weird?!

What made the realm spirit the angriest was that she, she actually ate that thing!! She ate it!!

Such a heaven-defying little weirdo should not exist. This was against the law of heavens! It did not believe that it would not be able to kill her in its territory! Yun Chujiu, just you wait!

While Yun Chujiu was jumping around happily, she suddenly sneezed twice.

“Damn it! Who’s scolding me again?! Speaking of which, why is this damn desert so big? When can I walk out of it? I won’t be spending the whole month in the desert, right?!”

Yun Chujiu walked for a whole day. Other than the endless yellow sand, she did not meet a single soul.

At night, Yun Chujiu lit a bonfire.

She was extremely glad that she had cut down a bunch of dried willow branches. Otherwise, she would have been frozen at night.

When she slept until midnight, the rolling pin cried out in alarm, “Master! Master! Quickly get up! The situation isn’t good!”

Yun Chujiu jumped up and rushed outside the tent.

She saw dust clouds rolling in the distance. It seemed that a large group of demon beasts was rushing over.

Yun Chujiu put away her tent and quickly ran away. ‘My goodness, there are so many demonic beasts.’ Even if there were ten of them, they would not be enough to satisfy her!

Although Yun Chujiu’s body was light, she was in the desert after all so she could not run fast at all.

Soon, those demonic beasts caught up.

Those demonic beasts worked well together. Some of them deliberately took a long route and arrived in front of Yun Chujiu.

Yun Chujiu was trapped in the middle of these demonic beasts.

Only then did Yun Chujiu carefully examine those demonic beasts. It turned out to be dozens of silver desert wolves! They were Tier Five Demonic Beasts and were very fierce!

Yun Chujiu thought to herself, ‘This silver desert wolf is very beautiful. Did It have tall silver fur? !

Yun Chujiu was so stupid that the rolling pin was about to cry!

'Please, they want to eat you!! You actually have the time to admire their appearance. Are you stupid?!
