

The Yun Family's Ninth Child is an Imp! Chapter 3330

"Four high-grade and two middle-grade. Not only did he complete six phantom talismans in such a short time, but the quality is also so high. I think he will definitely be number one today," a judge from the Southern Dragon Kingdom praised.

Although the judges from the other three countries were not very comfortable, they had to admit that Lu Chengfei's results were really good.

Another referee from the southern dragon kingdom echoed, "Not bad. There's basically no need to continue reading. It's impossible for there to be another contestant with better results than him."

A referee from the eastern Phoenix Kingdom really could not stand their arrogance. He said coldly, "That might not be the case. There are still ten contestants left. Perhaps there will be someone with better results than him."

"TSK tsk, even if someone's result is better than number two's, it won't be your eastern Phoenix Country's contestant! which year's Talisman Competition doesn't your eastern Phoenix Country get the last place?!"

"That's right. This year, they even sent Yi Ding to win. This is really hilarious! I really want to see how she will definitely win!"

The two southern dragon country's judges echoed each other. Their sarcastic words made the two eastern Phoenix country's judges both embarrassed and angry. However, the eastern Phoenix country's talisman-making level was indeed the lowest among the four countries. They actually did not know how to refute.

At this moment, the host said, "Let's continue reading. Who knows if there will be a surprise!"

The two referees of the South Dragon Kingdom glared at the host fiercely, thinking to themselves, “Is there something wrong with this host’s head?”? He actually openly spoke up for the people of the East Phoenix Kingdom.

The two referees of the East Phoenix Kingdom nodded their heads gratefully at the host, and the crowd continued reading.

The results of the next nine contestants were not as good as Lu Chengfei’s. The two referees of the South Dragon Kingdom looked even more proud.

One of them said, “How is it? I told you that the first place would belong to our South Dragon Kingdom. What else do you have to say now?”

The faces of the two referees of the East Phoenix Kingdom turned red, and they were speechless. What else could they say? Contestant No. 10 and contestant No. 11 belonged to the eastern Phoenix Country. Each of them had only completed five talismans, and only one of them was a high-grade talisman. The rest were all middle-grade talismans. They could not be compared to that Lu Chengfei at all.

One of the Southern Dragon Country referees looked at the host and said, “Announce the results! Contestant No. 2, Lu Chengfei, is in first place. The combined points of the three contestants from our southern dragon country will definitely be in first place.”

The expression on the host’s face was very subtle. She pointed at Yi dingying and said, “Judges, there’s still one more contestant! It’s not too late to announce her results after you’ve evaluated her results.”

The southern dragon country’s judge snorted in disdain. “It doesn’t matter whether she looks at her results or not! She doesn’t know how to draw Phantom Talismans at all.

“Even if she does know how to draw Phantom Talismans, she could at most finish two or three talismans after her console was struck by lightning. The East Phoenix Kingdom’s points will definitely be last.”

The expression on the host's face was even more subtle. She said indifferently, "Whether it is meaningful or not, she is a contestant. All the referees, please take a look!"

The judge from the Southern Dragon Kingdom looked at the host with dissatisfaction. Then, he walked to Yun Chujiu's operating table and saw a few talismans placed on the side, he said disdainfully, "Tsk! There are quite a lot of them, but what's the use? ! I think they are all random drawings."

Yi Dingying did not say a word from beginning to end because he was afraid that there would be another heavenly lightning strike. He guarded the operating table with full vigilance.
