

The Yun Family's Ninth Child is an Imp! Chapter 778

Yun Chujiu was hanging on the wall of the pit, sweating profusely under the intense fire. It was all thanks to the beads from the strange grass. Otherwise, she would have been charred long ago. Damn it! Although she loved barbecued meat, she did not want to be roasted like this all the time!

Yun Chujiu thought that this was not the way to go on. Although there was light from the fire, the opening was still dark and she could not see anything. She did not know what was going on up there. No one came to save her. The rest of them were probably ejected. Before she fell, she saw that they seemed to have been ejected.

Yun Chujiu waited for almost two hours. When she saw that there were no ropes hanging down, she decided to save herself by climbing up.

Although the wall of the pit was not particularly smooth, the angle was close to vertical. It was very risky to climb up. However, Yun Chujiu had no other choice but to try.

Yun Chujiu made large balls of sticky silk on her hands, feet, elbows, and knees. She would rather move slowly than fall down.

Yun Chujiu's hobby of collecting sticky silk was a good call. If it were not for these sticky silk, she would have died long ago.

Yun Chujiu began a long climb. The sticky silk was very sticky, and every move was very strenuous. However, Yun Chujiu would rather move slowly to be safe than fall into the sea of fire.

Yun Chujiu climbed for a full five days before she reached the top. Then, she sadly discovered that the top was actually sealed!

Damn it! This place was simply not letting her live!

Yun Chujiu struck a bolt of lightning at the top of a cave in the distance. Although some gravel rolled down, there was no light penetrating through.

Yun Chujiu could only wave her hand and struck another bolt of lightning, but there was still no light. When Yun Chujiu was about to strike again, she was so scared that she did not dare to move.

This was because the wall of the cave where she was located had started to crack due to the vibrations. Fortunately, Yun Chujiu discovered it in time and used her hands and feet to cling to the newly exposed wall of the cave. Otherwise, she would have fallen down.

Yun Chujiu was in a miserable situation!

If she did not continue her attack, she would not be able to get out. She could not just hang on the wall like a gecko. There was no guarantee that the wall of the cave where she was at would not crack again. If she was not careful, she might fall into the sea of fire. She was really in a dilemma.

Just as Yun Chujiu was frowning, Little Black Rat began to squeak. Yun Chujiu's eyes lit up. She had almost forgotten that Little Black Rat was an expert in digging. Moreover, the holes it made were very small, so it should not affect the rock wall she was on.

Yun Chujiu held Little Black Rat in her hand. Then, she wrapped a rope around its tail and wrapped the other end around her arm. This way, it would not interfere Little Black Rat from digging the hole and would also act as a safety rope.

Yun Chujiu held Little Black Rat in her hand. Little Black Rat nibbled a groove on the cliff wall to give itself a place to stand. Then, it repeated the process and slowly climbed to the top of the hole.

Little Black Rat reached the top of the hole and began to dig with its teeth and claws. Yun Chujiu saw that the hard rocks were like tofu to Little Black Rat. After a few nibbles, a small hole appeared.

Little Black Rat was very smart. It dug a slanted hole so that it had a place to stand and was not afraid of falling down again.

With a place to stand, Little Black Rat's speed increased. In less than an hour, light shone in.
